CHICAGO HEROES 'HOLD THAT HILL' FOR A COMRADE

Chief Hails Bravery at Guadalcanal.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUADALCANAL, Solomon Islands, Jan. 29 [by air mail].—The last words of Corp. Ervin M. Bickwermert of Ferdinand, Ind., have given a new meaning to the "semper paratus" motto of the Chicago regiment which early this month stormed and captured strategic Mount Austen overlooking Henderson air field. Instead of the literal meaning "always ready," it has been henceforth ordered translated by the commanding officer as "hold that hill."

Bickwermert led a squad up the steep slope in the face of enemy mortars and machine guns, according to eye-witnesses, "firing his rifle incessantly and killing and wounding many Japanese." Finally, near the summit, he fell with a bullet in his chest. As he was being evacuated, his dying words to his litter bearers were: "Hold that hill."

[Bickwermert, who would have been 24 years old Feb. 11, was working on a farm at Saunemin, Ill., when he was inducted April 28, 1941. He left the country Jan. 18, 1942. His mother, Afra, a widow, received word two weeks ago that he had been killed in action.]

Recommended for D. S. C.

For his heroic action and because his coolness and bravery were an inspiration to his men Bickwermert has been recommended for a posthumous distinguished service cross. He was only one of the many men in this outfit singled out for recommendations and commendations by Col. Alexander George, regimental commander. Among the others—and the list still is not complete—were these Chicago men:

Sergt. Nathan Greese, 1300 South Lawndale avenue, who when his unit was pinned to the ground by enemy machine guns, voluntarily left his platoon, despite sniper fire, and crawled forward far enough to throw grenades into the objective, destroying it. En route he killed five enemy snipers with his automatic rifle.

[Greese, 23 years old, the son of Mrs. Tillie Greese, was a salesman before going into service in May, 1941.]

Second Lt. Raymond K. Johnson, 4725 McLean avenue, who advanced far beyond our lines, throwing thermite bombs and firing rifle grenades, and finally destroyed an enemy fortification with two hand grenades.

Kills 17 Japs.

Pvt. Stanley B. Kras, 3211 South 49th street, Cicero, who killed 13 Japs on one patrol with an automatic rifle on the evening of Jan. 2 and then four more the following morning, afterward withdrawing to his own unit from a no man's land where he had spent the night.

Staff Sergt. James O. Fornelli, 610 Oakley avenue, who showed great courage and skill in hand to hand combat and displayed "exceptional courage and coolness" in leading his platoon to various objectives. He is credited with killing 13 Jap snipers. Once while tracking a sniper he had the bayonet shot from his rifle.

[Fornelli, 22 years old, has an infant son, Allon James, 5½ months old, whom he has not seen, but his wife, Margaret, said last night that "the baby looks just like his daddy." The couple's home now is at 4830 Altgeld street, and Fornelli's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fornelli, live at 934 Claremont avenue. A graduate of Crane Tech High school in 1940, where he played football, Fornelli was a Montgomery-Ward clerk when his National Guard outfit was called up in March, 1941. He sailed for Australia in January, 1942.]

Pvt. Roland J. Wolke, 3942 Sheffield avenue, who was wounded in the leg while advancing under fire to aid his comrades. Corp. William S. Taylor, 6548 South Hoyne avenue, also was recommended for an award in the same action at the same time.

Sergt. Bernard A. Jezercak, 4515 South Albany avenue, and Sergt. James J. Moore, 4310 North Winchester avenue, both of whom crawled thru

DOCTOR CLAIMS ONLY A MIRACLE CAN SAVE GANDHI

POONA, India, Feb. 19 (AP).—Mohandas K. Gandhi grew steadily weaker today, the 10th of his 21 day fast against detention in the palace of the Aga Khan and an attending physician declared it would "be a miracle" if the Indian leader survived.

As Gandhi continued to take only citrus juices and water, his doctors issued a statement asking his friends not to see him.

"It will be a miracle if Gandhi survives the three weeks fast at his age," said Dr. B. C. Roy, one of India's best known physicians, when he emerged from the palace late today. Gandhi is 74 years old.

Gandhi's fast began Feb. 10 in protest over the refusal of Viceroy Linlithgow to give him his unconditional release. He was detained last Aug. 9, when his All-India Congress party began its civil disobedience campaign, and has been held since within the guarded walls of the ornate palace.

THE NEW BOSS OF THE TREASURY

LOSES APPENDIX IN U-BOAT CHASE

Operate Aboard Warship Off Guadalcanal.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AT A SOUTH PACIFIC BASE, Feb. 15 [Delayed].—The destroyer was racing southwest in the blackness thru sub infested Indispensable strait, only a few hours out of Guadalcanal, when the surgeon came up on the bridge. He reported that a crewman had acute appendicitis and that an immediate operation was necessary.

Preparations were begun. The officers' wardroom was swabbed down and the mess table cleared away. A home made steel and aluminum operating table was set up and a sterilizer already built in the wall of the wardroom was set going. Finally the patient, John Vernell White, 22 years old, of Merced Falls, Cal., a soundman, third class, was brought in.

Operates as Ship Rolls.

We all helped. I undressed White, lit a cigaret for him. We talked about his home. Dr. William Dougherty of Beverly Farms, Mass., studied the arrangements and then went out to scrub down and don a sterile gown. The instruments were set out by two hospital corps men, Chief Pharmacist Harry Lowe of New York City and Pharmacist's Mate John Barnett of Detroit.

A few minutes after midnight White was lifted onto the operating table and a spinal anesthetic administered. Then, with the destroyer rolling heavily in the sea, Dougherty began the incision.

Lt. Albert Carlson of San Francisco, executive officer of the ship, witnessing his first operation, acted as assistant surgeon. Ensign George Spehn of Chicago went from Dougherty to Carlson, wiping the sweat from their faces in the blazing hot wardroom.

Chases After Subs.

Twice during the 90 minute operation the destroyer made contacts with enemy submarines and scurried after them. Both times, however, the subs managed to slip away before depth charges could be dropped. Thru it all the operation continued without a lost minute.

Two days later when we dropped anchor at this advanced base, White was sitting up in a chair, proudly writing letters home telling how he lost his appendix in the battle ravaged waters off Guadalcanal.

OWI Red Tape at New Low: 3c; Slaps Gag on News in California

Paper Seller's Ordeal

New York, Feb. 19 [Special].—The business office of one of New York's largest newspapers issued a plea to the United States government today to slice thru its red tape questionnaires and accept without payment one 3 cent copy of the newspaper, but the government refused.

Yesterday a messenger bearing "requisition 11964" on the letter head of "The United States of America Office of War Information," requesting a copy of the final edition of Feb. 9, appeared at the World-Telegram offices. The requisition was duly filled out and signed. It promised "a confirming purchase order will follow in a few days."

4 Forms to Fill Out.

The messenger was given a copy of the paper and departed.

Today the promise of a confirming order was kept with a vengeance. The confirming order itself arrived, filled out in 14 different places, along with an "important notice" letter giving instructions on how to fill out four attached forms.

Among the instructions were:

"Do not write in the spaces intended for government employés," and "the name of the vendor ['payee'] and the signature and title [president, partner, proprietor, owner] must appear under the certificate at the left center of the voucher."

Refuse Paper as Gift.

As it would have taken considerable time to fill out all the forms and answer the government's letter, the newspaper clerk called the office of war information and said, please, wouldn't the government accept the paper for nothing. The office of war information said it wouldn't.

After struggling with the forms for a time, the clerk called another government official, who agreed to accept the paper conditionally.

Agencies Silenced

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 19 [Special].—While public interest in rationing, food shortages, and violations of price ceilings reached new highs today, Howard Langley, southern California director of the office of war information, clamped a gag on independent news gathering from war agencies.

Samuel Leask Jr., southern California director of the office of price administration, was directed to cancel his regular 11 a. m. press conference.

All war agencies were notified they must channel their new information thru the OWI. These include the OPA, war man power commission, office of defense transportation, many other alphabetical agencies, and even the army and navy.

Says It's Not Censorship.

Directors of all agencies must telephone the OWI before speaking to any reporter and must then clear all news thru the OWI.

"This is not censorship in any sense of the word," said Langley.

[OWI letter tells of rush for "advertising" in its Victory magazine. Details on page 3.]

A labor-management committee, appointed by OPA Director Leask to study the meat shortage here, met today. Reporters asked Leask if he would object if they "covered" the meeting in view of the tremendous public interest.

"Activating" Too Thoroly.

Leask said he had no objection but Langley summarily ordered the doors closed and reporters barred. Langley then cautioned reporters that they have "activated" the news front too thoroly recently.

The order throttling communication between government executives and newspaper men followed. Reporters got the impression that Langley prefers to be sole judge of what the newspapers shall print.

Tell Foods' Point Value Monday

With sales of canned and processed fruits and vegetables to be stopped at midnight tonight until March 1, when rationing starts, Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago metropolitan area rationing chief of the office of price administration, disclosed yesterday that the point values to be charged for these foods will be published Monday.

The rationing program will employ ration book No. 2, which contains coupon points in denominations of 8, 5, 2, and 1. Forty-eight points will be allowed each consumer for March unless he has more than five cans on Feb. 21. Eight points will be deducted from this allowance for each excess can.

Registration for the No. 2 book will be conducted in schoolhouses from Feb. 23 to 26. An adult member of each family will be permitted to register for the entire household. Each registrant will be required to file a statement declaring holdings of coffee and canned goods, and present for inspection the No. 1 ration book of each member of the family.

HOUSE MEMBER GETS APPROVAL FROM PRESIDENT

Pay for Work to Go to Treasury.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 (AP).—President Roosevelt was reported today to have agreed that soldiers should help harvest crops in regions where there is a shortage of farm labor.

Chairman Hampton P. Fulmer [D., S. C.] of the house agriculture committee said Mr. Roosevelt indorsed this idea in principle in a discussion at the White House, but suggested there was no need for legislation since the matter could be handled by executive order.

Fulmer said he suggested to the President the possibility of sending a stipulated number of soldiers from nearby camps into labor shortage areas, with the understanding their services would be needed for only a short period of time.

Farmers Would Pay Treasury.

"It would not interfere in any way with their training," he said, "and the President agreed that it would be very helpful. The soldiers used would be returned to their stations as soon as their work was finished. The farmers using them would pay into the treasury the prevailing pay of farm laborers doing similar work, and the soldiers would receive their regular army pay."

Fulmer said the plan, as agreed to by the President, would entail a request from a qualified farm official in the regions affected, probably a county farm agent or a representative of the agriculture extension service, for a stipulated number of men. The request would be made to the commandant of the nearest military reservation, and the men would be assigned from that camp if available.

Bankhead Submits Proposals.

Another White House caller of the day was Sen. John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.], who has introduced measures compelling military deferment of experienced agricultural workers and the furloughing of others. He said he "tried to bring to his [Mr. Roosevelt's] attention the food situation and collateral subjects" but that no decisions were reached.

Food production was understood to have figured in a conference which the chief executive's top economic advisers held during the day, but if any decisions were reached they were not disclosed.

Oil Man Offers Method to End Rationing Here

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Highlights in the fuel oil rationing hearing held yesterday in the Blackstone hotel by the Illinois joint legislative committee headed by State Sen. Earle Benjamin Searcy [R., Springfield] were:

1. Bernard L. Majewski, official of the Deep Rock Oil corporation and member of the petroleum industry committee for District 2, testified fuel oil rationing can be scrapped in the middle west if Washington will make adjustments in the price and processing of the crude from which the oil is produced. He testified that an increase of a half cent a gallon in the price would allow refiners to produce approximately 3 per cent more oil and proportionately less gasoline from a barrel of crude and make rationing of fuel oil in the middle west unnecessary.

Denies There's Shortage.

2. E. W. Miles, official of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, told the committee that "inventories of fuel oil in the Chicago area are higher today than they were a year ago in the face of a very severe demand." In reply to a question by Rep. William G. Thon [R., Oak Park], he added: "There is no shortage in this area that I know of."

3. Both consumers and distributors of fuel oil in the Chicago metropolitan area testified that rationing has broken down completely. Mel Keim, official of the Apex Motor Fuel company, asserted that rationing under the office of price administration in Washington, D. C., is "costly, confusing, wasteful, and unnecessary." He said that the cost of rationing here is $20,000,000 a year and that it requires the full time service of 10,000 workers. "This cost for labor does not include the millions being expended on extra wear and tear on transportation and rubber, cost of additional office equipment, stationery, postage, light, heat, etc.," he added.

Rationers Defend System.

4. Joel Dean, chief of the fuel oil rationing division of the OPA in Washington; Michael F. Mulcahy, rationing head of OPA for the Chicago area; and Edward F. Stegan, regional OPA fuel oil rationing executive, defended the coupon system of rationing. Dean said the country as a whole overwhelmingly wanted the coupon system, that there are only "spotty complaints" of it thruout the nation. He characterized Chicago as a "wholly unrepresentative market." Stegan and Mulcahy cited the proportion of complaints among thousands of users as evidence that rationing is working satisfactorily.

CONSIDER IDEA TO STOP SALES ABOVE CEILINGS

All Legal Products Would Get Stamp.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—The American meat slaughtering industry may be placed within two weeks under a licensing system which will embrace every slaughterer from the large commercial packer down to the farmer who kills his animals for sale, it was said tonight by men close to the meat situation.

The plan is aimed both at stopping violations of governmental price ceilings and insuring adequate supplies for American consumers and lend-lease without interrupting the flow of meat to the army and navy.

It was claimed that the licensing system would provide more equitable distribution of meat supplies by curbing the sale of meats at prices above ceilings to those who can afford to pay more. The licensing system is intended to keep supplies flowing under government supervision.

Would Reach Little Packers.

The licensing would be under jurisdiction of the department of agriculture. Every slaughterer would be furnished a license number which would be stamped on each carcass or cut of meat sold. Thus, it was said, any meat without such a stamp would be suspected of having been sold in violation of ceilings.

The plan would not change the status of big packers dealing in interstate trade, since they are in effect licensed under the inspection system. It would not require the licensing of farmers who slaughter for their own table only. But it would bring under license the smaller commercial packers.

The plan came to light today at a hearing of the house committee on small business when C. M. Elkinton, meat price executive for the office of price administration, told congressmen he already had recommended it and that it was being considered by the department of agriculture and the OPA.

It was learned tonight that the office of James F. Byrnes, economic stabilization director, also is considering it.

Warns Butchers May Strike.

Elkinton was a witness at a stormy session in which the committee was warned by Frank Kracik, representative of the American Federation of Labor Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Helpers' Union of North America, that butchers thruout the nation might strike unless they are given relief.

Kracik said that 4,000 Cincinnati, O., butchers intend to declare a business holiday and march in a body to the United States employment bureau to demand higher paying jobs in war industry unless the OPA stops what he termed its "squeeze" on packers. Kracik said that OPA quota and price regulations which squeeze packers, in turn squeeze workers who have been forced down to wages as low as $21 a week.

He predicted that the holiday, which he conceded might be called a strike, would extend to the whole nation unless relief is forthcoming.

Seek to Save Little Men.

Elkinton said that 30 to 40 per cent of the small packers might be forced out of business under the present system, and asserted that the OPA has no intention of permitting this.

Erwin Werneke, Louisville, Ky., a provision company executive, informed the committee that packers themselves are "striking" by refusing meat orders for the army and lend-lease, a step into which he said they have been forced "to get action from the OPA."

OPA executives said the proposed licensing system could be coördinated with the price ceilings on live animals proposed by Prentiss M. Brown, price administrator, to prevent illegal slaughtering.

Brown has asserted that ceilings on live animals would be effective because "black market" dealers are outbidding legitimate dealers subject to retail price ceilings.

Foods Freeze: Workers Hungry

Vegetables Hurt

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 (AP).—Heavy damage to much of the nation's winter source of fresh vegetables was reported by the agriculture department today as the government prepared to freeze grocers' stocks of canned and processed fruits and vegetables to await rationing.

The department said in a report dispatched over its market wires that cold weather in Florida, where much of the nation's winter vegetables are produced, had destroyed the snap bean crop in nearly all areas and had caused damage to celery, cabbage, lettuce, lima beans, green peas, tomatoes, egg plant, early potatoes, and citrus fruits.

Strawberry blooms, most berries, and watermelon plants were said to have been destroyed. Grapefruit alone among citrus fruits escaped with very little damage, the report said, adding that oranges showed complete losses in low areas.

Shipments from Florida were expected to drop materially this weekend. A reduced supply would parallel an increased demand for fresh vegetables caused by the removal of canned goods from sale next week.

The damage is expected to cause a price increase. In this connection, OPA announced that it will place price ceilings over fresh vegetables sometime during the next two or three months.

Tonight the agriculture department issued orders which, it said, would increase civilian supplies of canned vegetables from next summer's pack by an estimated 10 million cases.

Quit War Jobs

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 19 (AP).—Testimony before a legislative committee that war workers in this region are quitting jobs because of food shortages has prompted State Sen. George J. Hatfield to propose that California install its own rationing system.

Hatfield, chairman of a fact finding committee on food, said at an open hearing that drastic steps might have to be taken to correct alarming shortages and end ceiling violations.

George Gore, Northrop Aircraft corporation executive, informed the committee that the plant's cafeteria for two months has paid higher than ceiling prices for meat. "and I can't tell you where I get it, for if I did we wouldn't be able to get any more; it's more important to pay the price asked, and keep quiet."

Two operators of a commissary feeding men employed on 15 government war jobs testified they had not been able to get sufficient meat and other foods and that workers were quitting because of the scarcity.

"We were able to get only 100 pounds of meat a week for a camp of 414 men employed at the government guayule rubber plant at Indio, Cal.," said Frank A. Parsons of the commissary.

Order Meat Allocation.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 (AP).—The office of price administration said today it had authorized an allocation system aimed at fairer distribution of meat in the San Francisco, Cal., and Los Angeles, Cal., areas and in Rhode Island.

MEAT INSTITUTE ASSAILS 'CHAOS' IN PACKING FIELD

Menace to Health Seen in Illegal Operations.

BY CHARLES GOTTHART.

Immediate action to correct the "desperate situation" created thru widespread illegal operations in meat was demanded by the American Meat Institute yesterday to protect the national health, bring supplies up to military requirements of the government, and save the packers from ruin.

Meanwhile, Alex Elson, regional office of price administration attorney, asserted the illicit country slaughtering of meats would be halted within 10 days by the filing of more than 100 injunction suits in the Chicago area. These suits, he said, would be in addition to 110 injunction actions taken in the last two weeks.

The institute, a Chicago organization representing packers thruout the country, issued a statement blasting racketeering in the nation's meat supply but attributing much of the chaos to unintentional violations of "complicated orders" issued by the government.

Predict More Violations.

"Violations have only started and will increase in magnitude if not taken in hand immediately," the organization warned. "Without adequate enforcement, the situation increasingly is playing into the hands of the racketeer and menacing the existence of many in the meat industry and the honest retailer."

Diversion of meat from normal channels thru operations reminiscent of prohibition bootleg days "raises the question of the wholesomeness of meat handled by black marketeers and its influence on the health of the nation," the institute said.

Slaughtering in the country thru haphazard methods also deprives the country of hides, fats, and other by-products essential for a nation at war, the group said, terming this a "tremendous" loss.

Two Types of Black Markets.

"Black market operations can be classified broadly into two types," the statement continued. "The first type, prevalent in large cities, is the racketeer who is in the business for the big money involved. He pays high prices for live animals, for by ignoring price ceilings he can get exorbitant prices for meat.

"The second type of black market operator is the smaller killer who is going far beyond his quota allowed under the government restriction order [limiting civilian meat supplies]. In most cases this is deliberate, in others violations may be unintentional and due to lack of understanding of complicated orders. These operators are found usually in small rural towns."

The institute called attention to the penalties set up for violation of the price and quota regulations—fines ranging to $10,000, 10 years' imprisonment, or both—which have failed to stop the violations.

Speedy Action Demanded.

Demanding a speedy correction of the situation, the institute said, "How this is done is not as important as that it be done, and without further delay. The situation is becoming so extreme that a considerable number of meat packers shortly will be forced out of business as a result of serious decrease in the commercial volume of live animals and the flagrant bidding up of live animal prices by hordes of violators."

Illustrating the extent of the illegal operations, packers operating under government inspection handled 5,430,000 hogs last month, 28 per cent less than the government had predicted. Cattle slaughter fell 12 per cent under forecasts to 928,000 head.

Current federal quotas on shipments for civilians limit dressed beef, pork and veal deliveries to 70 per cent of the volume for the first quarter of 1941. Sheep and lamb deliveries are limited to 75 per cent of the former volume.

Largely from Country Plants.

The above quota supplies come largely from country plants and others that ignore office of price administration regulations. "Some locker plants in Illinois have been killing four times the number of hogs per week as compared with a year ago," the institute said.

Raymond S. McKeough, regional OPA administrator, said the widespread violations had been confirmed thru investigations in seven midwest states, where an enforcement drive by the OPA legal department had resulted in more than 60 injunctional orders against country slaughterers and wholesalers.

"While investigations conducted with reference to the price regulations as well as the restriction order indicate the situation is serious," he said, "reports which have appeared in some newspapers in the last few days have been exaggerated."

McKeough said that illegal practices on the Fulton street market had been halted as the result of recent court action.

Press for OPA Revisions.

Meanwhile, a committee of the United Wholesale Meat Dealers' association prepared to press demands for OPA revisions at a hearing scheduled for this morning before W. M. McFarland, regional OPA hearing commissioner, at 226 West Jackson boulevard.

Regulations which allow an insufficient margin of profit for jobbers and wholesalers have driven "hundreds of jobbers" out of business, according to Gerhardt A. Wezrek, association president.

The National Association of Retail Meat Dealers has called a meeting in Chicago on Monday to correct a situation which the organization has attributed to "mismanagement by OPA classroom theorists."

Stung by a Bee

JEANETTE MacDONALD.

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 19 (AP).—Just after Actress Jeanette MacDonald boasted that the bees she raises did not sting her one did.

It did a thoro job, for her hand and arm became swollen and her physician, Dr. Elmer Belt, ordered her to a hospital, saying she may be required to stay several days.

Miss MacDonald hopes to leave next week for rehearsals with the New York Metropolitan Opera company in her part as Juliet in "Romeo and Juliet."

LOWLY GOOBER CAUSES MIGHTY UPROAR IN HOUSE

Bill to Raise Price Brings Move to Abolish AAA.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—The lowly peanut caused a mighty uproar in the house today and precipitated a bipartisan move to kill the administration's entire agricultural program, at least for the duration of the war. Members predicted flatly that if the program were liquidated now it never would be resumed.

Legislation removing crop quotas on peanut production and boosting peanut prices precipitated a furious controversy in which Roosevelt farm policies were denounced and the chamber reverberated with demands for repeal of government restrictions on agriculture in the interest of winning the war.

Amendments were offered to kill the agricultural adjustment administration, one of the earliest New Deal projects. These were ruled out on points of order.

Nearly Demand New Bill.

The house appeared on the verge of sending the bill back to the agricultural committee for rewriting to provide answers to all the farmers' wartime problems, including man power, machinery, and prices.

The peanuts measure provides also that farmers shifting from less essential crops to production of foods needed for the war would get their acreage allotments on the less needed products back after the war. It further provides that farmers could use their own live stock without paying penalties under present restrictions.

The bill had been scheduled for quick passage at today's session, but administration leaders postponed final action until next Tuesday when they saw house members who oppose the measure pouring in for the roll call this afternoon.

Dirksen Asks Recommittal.

The motion for recommittal was made by Rep. Everett M. Dirksen [R., Ill.], and on a teller vote the result was 109 to 109. Rep. Warren G. Magnuson [D., Wash.], who was occupying the chair, broke the tie in favor of the administration and the measure was saved.

Dirksen warned that the peanut legislation would cost taxpayers 60 million dollars a year, contending that this amount in subsidies would be required to keep prices up. The measure would grant producers a guarantee of 85 per cent of parity prices or approximately $129 per ton. The present price is approximately $82.

The battle was waged chiefly over the issue of paying farm subsidies when public funds are needed to finance the war.

Rips Agriculture Department.

Rep. Edwin A. Hall [R., N. Y.] accused the department of agriculture of "selling American farmers down the river."

At the height of the confusion, a voice from the Democratic side was heard asking, "Are the farmers worse off now than they were in the last days of the Hoover administration?"

Hall sprang up and brought a burst of applause as he replied:

"Yes, I'll answer that. The farmers today can't even buy a pair of rubber boots."

Rep. H. Streett Baldwin [D., Md.], who made the first proposal for AAA liquidation, asserted that the administration farm policies are "undemocratic and contrary to fundamental concepts of free enterprise."

Housewives Charge They Must Pay for Scraps to Obtain Meat

Housewives' meat buying woes multiplied yesterday as they complained of unequal distribution in quality and quantity of cuts among the neighborhood markets and "bonus" buying—having to take scraps, sausage, or other unwanted portions in order to get desired cuts.

Mrs. Wilbur E. Fribley, president of the Housewives league, described the situation: "Women I know have tried to buy from reliable butchers, but, because of the unequal distribution of meat they can't always do that and still be fair to their families. This has been true of canned goods, too. A shopkeeper in one neighborhood will have nothing at all and another a few blocks away will have everything. Women who have been asked to buy poor quality meat in order to get better cuts say that the butchers tell them they have to do the same thing."

Complaints Mean Nothing.

Women must estimate what they consider fair meat prices, since no ceilings have been set, she said, and there is no way to know how much the butcher has paid, either.

Complaints have no value, however, unless specific and written, according to Mrs. William H. Stanley, chairman of the OCD consumer information service, 228 North La Salle street. She advised housewives who were asked to "buy meat scraps not fit for the dog" [one report] or who encountered any kind of unfair practice to write out and sign the complaints. These reports may be sent to Mrs. Stanley, turned over to any of the 108 community consumer information chairmen in the city, or mailed to the Chicago office of price administration, 228 North La Salle street and marked for the attention of Carl Bromann.

Mrs. Stanley advised that shoppers can be reasonably sure that meat bearing "U. S. inspected and passed" labels is fair in quality and price. Beyond that, women must trust to the integrity of their butchers, she said.

Differ on Buying Rush.

Some grocers said publication of the canned goods declaration ration form and the penalty of loss of one-sixth month's ration for every can over the five per person limits has held down a rush for canned vegetables.

Many independent stores, however, allowed only one of a kind purchasing of canned goods. One chain of stores received no tinned goods except fish and meat, already under freezing orders. And another chain of 154 groceries in Chicago and suburbs will surely have cleaned shelves by tonight, an official of the company said. One large store reported a 50 per cent increase in this week's business but said the upturn was due to "rush buying of packaged goods or anything the people can get their hands on."

HARVEST CAMPS TO HELP SOLVE FARM PROBLEM

Two changes are in store for youthful campers this year, Wes H. Klusman, national director of the Boy Scouts of America, told 375 delegates to the regional conference of the American Camping association yesterday in the Morrison hotel.

Campers are going to work this year, Klusman said, because they will be needed during harvest periods on midwestern farms. He said harvest camps would replace many of the usual swimming and boating camps.

Lack of adequate transportation will create "hike and bike" camps and youngsters will get to their camping grounds under their own power. He said the groups will take two or three days or longer to get to the camps, staying out over night along the way.

Other problems the camps will have to meet this year are: Food rationing, lack of college age counselors, and an increase in the number of children whose parents will be working in war plants.

Spring Moves In for Day; Temperature Reaches 58°

Spring moved into Chicago yesterday, at least for a day, as the thermometer rose to 58 degrees at 3 p. m. No weather records were broken, however, as the thermometer registered 64.9 degrees on Feb. 19, 1930. The highest recording for February in weather bureau records was 65 degrees—on Feb. 1, 1876, and Feb. 23, 1909.

PREDICTS RUSSIA WILL BE WORLD'S GREATEST POWER

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 19 [Special].—From a population and technological viewpoint, the soviet union, with a "little political luck," will be the strongest single power in the world after the war, Dr. Frank W. Notestein of the office of population research, a branch of Princeton university, told the midwinter meeting of the American Philosophical society today.

Dr. Notestein asserted that northwestern and central Europe "is at the end of its rapid growth in people and power," and that in war, none of the nations in the area and "probably no combination of them, can longer make the world dance to its tune."

Studies show, he said, that the soviet union's population probably will increase 12,000,000 in the ages of dependency, between 1940 and 1970, and that the increase in productive ages will be about 66,000,000 or 63 per cent.

Notestein is a former lecturer in the school of public and international affairs at Princeton and before that was a member of the Millbank Memorial fund, a welfare organization.

COURT DIRECTS REINSTATEMENT OF 6 STATE AIDS

Judge Peter H. Schwaba of the Superior court yesterday ordered the reinstatement of six former state employés on the ground that the state civil service rule permitting the dismissal of employés for political activity is discriminatory.

Richard McPartlin, attorney for the ex-employés, argued that the rule in question is one-sided in that it applies in effect only to employés of the political party opposite to the party in office. Ray Thiese, assistant attorney general, said he will appeal Judge Schwaba's ruling.

Those ordered reinstated are William Hagemier, a prison guard; Susie G. Cornelis, an attendant at the Elgin State hospital; Walter J. Huffmaster, a guard at the prison farm at Vandalia; Paul Devlin, a painter at the Jacksonville State hospital; Lowell Craver, a guard at the Security hospital, and Harold E. Dugan, a guard at Vandalia. They allegedly campaigned in the 1941 election.

NEWSPRINT CUTS CALLED PERIL TO PUBLIC'S WAR AID

Likely to Weaken Morale, Publisher Warns.

Athens, Ga., Feb. 19 [Special].—Government officials are dampening the powder of those who must fight fifth columnists and are blocking channels of information to the public by their curtailment of the American press thru limitation upon usage of paper for newspapers and magazines.

Editors and publishers assembled here for the Georgia Press institute were given that warning today by Walter D. Fuller, president of the Curtis Publishing company.

He cited the assertion of Donald Nelson, war production board chairman that the press is as needful as soldiers and production workers and declared that a printing press is as important in this war as a siege gun, then raised the question:

"Would it be logical to cut the effectiveness of a soldier's gun so he wouldn't kill so many Nazis and Japs? Could he hope to win the battle of the Atlantic by building fewer ships?

Asks Reason for Curtailment.

"Why is the American press being curtailed? Do the people have too much information to wage an intelligent all-out war? Can morale be too high? Can the needs of bringing proper understanding about rationing, shortages, man power, and other vital war time problems be minimized?

"I do not wish to believe," he continued, "that there is a conspiracy to put freedom of the press in a concentration camp for the duration. And I fervently pray that there is no deep, dark plot afoot to kill freedom of the press, under the cloak of war emergency, in order to clear the way for making America over.

"Such suspicions, however, have been voiced in congress in recent weeks, in connection with the first order of WPB restricting newspapers and magazines in the use of paper."

The first cut in newsprint in January was serious but not crippling, Fuller said, but the second reduction up to 10 per cent announced for April 1 is different and any future orders—and there are rumors that there will be further cuts before the year is out—"might become a creeping paralysis."

Further Cuts Affect Public.

"There is only one place any further reductions can be made," he declared. "That is in lessened service to the public. I ask, does that forward the national welfare?"

The reluctance of officials to give the facts as to the necessity of paper curtailment has aroused suspicion in and out of congress, Fuller said. He added that he preferred to think that officials had erred in the appraisal of the relative importance of the press to the war effort rather than that there are grounds for suspicion. Certainly it is a mistake, he said, to deprecate the importance of the press.

He pointed out that while "the snowstorm of Washington handouts is still classed as essential to the war effort whether you have the paper to print them on or not," the WPB has put no more importance on paper for newspapers and periodicals than upon the production of fly paper.

Willing for Sacrifices.

"There is no question but that all sacrifices essential to the nation's war effort will obtain, and have obtained, the fullest possible coöperation of the whole publishing industry," Fuller said.

"But unless such sacrifices are vital to our soldiers' success, and essential to victory, then the reducing of the power of the press is indeed a matter of grave concern.

"Some sacrifices may do more harm than good. Unless they are wisely conceived, they may cripple rather than further our war effort. Sometimes it seems almost as tho certain of those with administrative power make a fetish of exercising their power, seemingly for sheer self-satisfaction.

"Sacrifices are surely a means to an end—not an end in themselves. This war isn't a contest in Spartan methods of endurance. Some sacrifices will be milestones on the road to Tokio and Berlin, but others might be millstones around our national neck. After all, it is the necks of Hitler and Hirohito that we are after."

PULP WOOD CUT ENOUGH TO LAST UNTIL JUNE, 1944

Estimate Is Exceeded, Paper Men Told.

New York, Feb. 19 (AP).—Three of the largest Canadian newsprint manufacturers, a leading paper industry source said today, are advising their customers that with the pulp wood cutting season nearly completed, enough is in sight to supply the present rate of consumption until June, 1944.

This indicated a substantial improvement in the situation in contrast with estimates made in December of the amount of pulp wood available in the dominion, chief supplier of United States newsprint. Scarcity of pulp wood for paper making has been advanced as a reason for curtailment of use of newsprint.

Comes at Critical Time.

The action of these paper makers was regarded as significant, in view of tomorrow's scheduled meeting of the newspaper advisory committee with war production board officials in Washington to discuss further measures of reducing print paper consumption.

Advices of one of the larger Canadian newsprint makers to some of its customers in the United States said now that the winter's cut of pulp wood is virtually completed, a study shows there is sufficient wood in sight to permit Canada to continue supplying newsprint at the present prescribed rate of consumption until June, 1944, and to take care of the other products supplied by the newsprint mills as well.

Based on New Figures.

The company said this conclusion had been reached in consultation with other large manufacturers and their wood managers, and was based on new figures not available earlier.

The figures indicated a surplus of 600,000 cords as of June, 1944, not counting the wood to be brought out from the autumn and winter cutting season of 1943-'44. This company said there may be unforeseen developments in the long range future, but "the logical time to consider their effect is this autumn." It concluded that further curtailment of print paper consumption should not be blamed on lack of pulp wood in Canada.

Burocrats Rival Congress in Total Decrees Issued

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 (AP).—Rep. Louis Ludlow [D., Ind.] renewing his criticism of burocracy, told the house today that the executive branch of the government had issued almost as many "orders" as congress had passed laws in the last decade. He presented a table showing 3,565 executive orders since 1933 in contrast to 4,300 laws enacted by congress. "It is high time for our people to insist congress recapture its powers," said Ludlow.

OWI TELLS RUSH FOR 'ADVERTISING' IN U. S. MAGAZINE

War Contractors Seek to Buy Space.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 [Special].—An interdepartmental letter in the office of war information, giving figures on the cost, circulation, and advertising plans of Victory, the OWI's new magazine, confirms the fact that the publication goes to United States troops in England and possibly to those in Hawaii and Alaska.

The letter was written by W. H. Mullen, acting chief of the OWI bureau of overseas publications in New York, to George Barnes, assistant to Elmer Davis, OWI director.

Mullen said his bureau had been influenced in its decision to publish a magazine by the success of Signal, the German propaganda organ, and En Guardia, a monthly publication issued by the coördinator of inter-American affairs [Nelson Rockefeller], 750,000 copies of which are circulated in South America.

Ads "Lend Authenticity."

Conceding that En Guardia carries no advertising, Mullen gave three reasons for the decision to sell a limited amount of advertising at $3,000 a page in Victory.

He said advertising "lends an appearance of authenticity to a magazine," and "Signal and other German, Italian, and Japanese propaganda magazines carry a very heavy proportion of advertising."

Second, "institutional advertising tells an exceedingly powerful story of the war effort of American business," he said.

Third, he wrote, "the office of war information felt that American business should have the opportunity to keep alive trade names and brands thruout the entire world in anticipation of a peaceful international trade."

Publishing Firm "Cautioned."

Mullen said the Crowell-Collier Publishing company, which is sponsoring publication of the magazine under a nonprofit contract, has been cautioned there must be "no aggressive selling of space in Victory, and I have been repeatedly assured by them that no pressure has been applied." He said a selected list of 165 advertisers received a letter from the president of Crowell-Collier, adding that he was "frankly surprised by the eagerness with which advertisers have wished to appear in the pages of Victory."

He said orders for 15 pages have been received from 15 companies, all of which have war contracts. He named these as the Bendix Aviation corporation, Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., Radio Corporation of America, Underwood Elliott Fisher company, Glenn L. Martin company, North American Aviation, Inc., United States Steel corporation, Lockheed Aircraft, Caterpillar Tractor compnay, Ford Motor company, Philco corporation, Beech Aircraft corporation, American Airlines, Inc., Goodyear Tire and Rubber Export company, and Firestone Tire and Rubber company. The number is to be restricted to 10, and the selection has not been made.

Where Copies Were Sent.

He said the magazine was sent to the following places: Syria [300 copies], Egypt [10,000], Hawaii [69,700], England [60,000], Turkey [5,000], Spain [5,000], North Africa [2,250], India [1,600], Iraq [800], New Zealand [3,000], Palestine [500], Portugal [500], New Caledonia [1,500], Eritrea [4,500], Alaska [5,500], Madagascar [1,000], Iran [100], French Equatorial Africa [60,000], Nigeria [450], Iceland [3,000], Australia [2,000], Gold Coast [200], and miscellaneous [2,374], a total of 237,274.

"So far as we know," Mullen wrote, "5,000 copies of the issue were distributed to United States troops in London because we received an order from the London outpost for the delivery of this quantity to United States army headquarters. It certainly would seem reasonable to assume that certain other quantities of the Hawaiian and Alaskan shipments also went to troops, but, as I say, we have received no confirmation of this."

The first issue of Victory contained a laudatory article on President Roosevelt, referring to his opponents as "reactionaries."

House Slipper Output Cut 25%; WPB Curbs High Priced Shoes

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—The war production board today ordered a 25 per cent reduction in the output of house slippers and restricted shoe production to the rate of the last six months of 1942. The ruling is effective March 1.

The order also prevents shoe manufacturers from shifting their lines from lower to higher priced shoes. They are prohibited from increasing production of higher priced lines at the expense of lower grades, but may substitute lower priced shoes for the same type of higher priced shoe.

The purpose of the order, officials said, is to give consumers about the same choice in prices and types of shoes as they had before rationing. Another reason for the restriction, they added, is the limited amount of top grade leather available because of heavy military and lend-lease requirements.

Price Emphasis Criticised.

"There has been rather a deplorable tendency on the part of some to place emphasis on the higher priced lines of shoes since inauguration of the rationing program," Frank Walton, director of the WPB leather division, said.

"If retailers continue to stock their inventories with and promote only the higher priced lines, it is inevitable that production will decrease and successful operation of the production program may be imperiled."

Walton said the possibility of developing "utility type" shoes of standard quality at reasonable prices is being studied by WPB and shoe manufacturers.

Wool Quotas Doubled.

The 1943 output of house slippers under today's order will be reduced to about 36 million pairs, a cut of 7 million pairs from the 1942 total. The 25 per cent reduction applies to the level for the last six months of 1942.

Meanwhile the WPB today doubled manufacturers' quotas for the production of wool for clothing and other essential civilian woolen lines to enable increased output of goods to be sold next fall and winter. The action, officials said, will channel an additional 75 million pounds of wool into civilian uses.

"The production of wool goods under the new quotas will make it possible for the industry to produce as much yardage as was produced in a normal peacetime year," Kenneth W. Marriner, chief of the WPB wool branch, said.

Marriner said today's action was made possible by increased wool supplies and a relaxation in military demands for woolen goods.

Rescue Yank and 2 Dutch After 81 Days in Lifeboat

RECIFE, Brazil, Feb. 19 (AP).—One American and two Dutch survivors of an allied ship have reached here after 81 days in a lifeboat from which two of their shipmates were washed to their deaths. When rescued by a warship they had gone five days without water. One of the men had lost 70 pounds.

SEEK LEGAL AIDS TO HELP COUNTY OUT OF TAX HOLE

A legislative program designed to assist in getting Cook county out of its financial plight was discussed yesterday at a meeting of the legislative committee of the county board. With an unbalanced budget the county officials are asking the general assembly to pass laws guaranteeing them more revenue and removing some of their responsibilities.

One proposed bill approved would make it possible to assess against the city and the country townships the cost of caring for their resident paupers at County hospital and Oak Park infirmary. An item of 1 million dollars of revenue from this source was included in the 1943 budget, but there has been doubt as to its validity.

Another proposed bill would require full payment of past due taxes and penalties on any piece of real estate, as a prerequisite for transfer of title. Another, advocated by Deputy Assessor Edward J. McCabe, would permit the assessor and the board of tax appeals to expunge personal property assessments made thru error without resort to court action.

TAX COMMITTEE TO DRAW UP OWN PAY-AS-GO PLAN

Fails to Agree on Any of Proposals Offered.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 (AP).—The house ways and means committee today voted down all pending proposals for pay-as-you-go individual income tax collection, and appointed a subcommittee to draft a new bill to embrace the principle.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.] said the committee voted on each proposal thus far submitted and was unable to get a majority on any proposition.

He said a plan similar to that offered by Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, was rejected. The Ruml plan itself was not submitted formally. It contemplates cancellation of 1942 income taxes.

Other Proposals Rejected.

Also failing to corral a majority of committee members was the proposal by Rep. A. Willis Robertson [D., Va.] to cancel the 6 per cent normal tax and the first bracket surtax of 13 per cent on 1942 income tax obligations, which would relieve the last year's tax obligation completely for persons in the lower bracket.

Two proposals by the chairman also were rejected. Doughton had suggested that to ease the transition to a pay-as-you-go foundation the much softer 1941 rates and exemptions be applied to 1942 income, with the remaining obligation spread over a limited number of years while the taxpayers were remitting at the same time on a current basis. Doughton's second suggestion was that half of 1941 income tax obligations be abated.

Salary Ceiling Rejected.

Earlier the committee made its rejection of President Roosevelt's salary ceiling program official — "definitely and very loudly," according to Rep. Wesley E. Disney [D., Okla.].

It adopted Disney's plan to repeal the President's order limiting salaries to $25,000 after taxes and instead peg those over $25,000 at their pre-war levels by the same 15 to 10 vote with which it approved Disney's move originally last Saturday. Reconsideration was necessitated today by a parliamentary technicality.

Mr. Roosevelt had offered to rescind his limitation on salaries if congress would approve a super-tax designed to limit all individual income to $25,000 net for single persons and $50,000 for married couples.

Instead the committee voted that salaries above $25,000 might remain at the levels existing before Pearl Harbor and that no salaries which were below that figure then could rise above it now.

KURSK-KHARKOV LINES CLEARED IN RUSSIANS' SWEEP

Reds Seize More Towns on Both Fronts.

LONDON, Feb. 18 (AP).—The Red army has cleared the last German soldier from the Kursk-Kharkov railroad and highway with the seizure of Oboyan, and has pushed on 12 miles due west of Kharkov in its sweep toward the Dnieper river, a special Moscow communique recorded by the soviet monitor said tonight.

Oboyan, 35 miles south of Kursk, was surrounded and its Nazi garrison wiped out or taken prisoner. Thus "the Kursk-Kharkov railway and highroad have been completely cleared of the enemy," the communique said.

Lubotin, 12 miles west of Kharkov, and Merefa, 15 miles southwest of Kharkov, also fell to the Russians as they seized springboards to facilitate their push toward the Dnieper, considered the next best German defensive line in southern Russia.

Near Another Nazi Base.

Oboyan earlier had been by-passed by Russian units driving to the west. A spur railway connects it with the Kursk-Kharkov main rail line 18 miles to the east.

Capture of Lubotin put the Russians only 55 miles from Poltava, a German base on the Lozovaya-Kiev railway across the Ukraine.

The numerous soviet columns operating west of Kursk and Kharkov now are in position to spread to the northwest and southwest over a vast network of Ukrainian railways leading to the Dnieper.

The soviet midnight communique reported the capture of seven towns west and southwest of Kharkov. On the Ukraine front 45 miles northwest of Kharkov, the Reds claimed the capture of more populated places and the slaughter of 600 Germans.

Advance on Kursk Front.

On the Kursk front, the midnight bulletin said "the Germans hurriedly are rushing up tanks and reserves," but "our units continued to press back the enemy."

North of Kursk the Russians reported steady progress, wiping out more than 400 Germans and capturing 100 prisoners. On this front the soviets were nearing the railway leading north to Bryansk, another axis strongpoint at the lower end of the central front. The line already had been cut southwest of Kursk.

[In their drive on Orel, north of Kursk, the Russians on Friday reported the capture of 10 towns on the approaches of the German base.]

Reds Cross Water Barrier.

The midnight bulletin reported one soviet unit striking west of Rostov in the Donetz basin "crossed a water barrier and occupied an enemy fortified defense position," killing 200 Germans.

This water barrier may be a small river emptying into the Sea of Azov about six miles northwest of Taganrog.

Down in the Caucasus, where the Russians have the Germans pocketed at Novorossisk and the Taman peninsula west of Krasnodar, the Russians announced the occupation of five localities, two of which are 35 and 45 miles northwest of Krasnodar.

[The German communique yesterday said renewed Russian attacks were repelled in the Kharkov area, southeast of Orel, and on the Donetz front. Continued attempts to pierce the Nazis line south of Lake Ladoga, near Leningrad, and southeast of Lake Ilmen also were reported repelled.]

JUGO-SLAVS IN LONDON CONFER WITH REDS ON GEN. MIHAILOVITCH

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP).—Moves to settle differences between Russia and the Jugo-Slav government in exile over Gen. Draja Mihailovitch are on in London.

Prime Minister Slobodan Yovanovitch of Jugo-Slavia and M. Bogumolov of Russia are conducting the conferences. The Jugo-Slavs are said to be prepared to offer important concessions to obtain support for Gen. Mihailovitch was fighting partisans as well as director of the Chetniks fighting axis occupation troops.

The Russians have charged that Mihailovitch was fighting partisans who are Communists, rather than Germans and Italians.

STATE ORDERED TO PAY COUNTY $623,885 GAS FUND

Judge John Prystalski of Circuit court entered an order yesterday directing the state to turn over $623,885 in motor fuel tax funds to Cook county to enable the county to reimburse more than 50 property owners for land acquired for two state aid highways.

The state had originally challenged the county's right to the funds, and the county instituted mandamus action to force payment. Judge Prystalski recently upheld the county's right. It is expected the state will appeal.

The money will be used for Edens parkway, from Cicero avenue and Northwest highway to the county line, and Tri-State highway, from 171st street and Chicago road to the Indiana state line.

WHERRY ASSAILS BILL TO CREATE 'GESTAPO' IN U. S.

Charges It Will Lead to Persecution.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry [R., Neb.] today joined in denouncing the so-called "war security bill," now pending in the senate, as an unnecessarily stringent piece of legislation which would create a nation-wide Gestapo of snoopers.

Sen. K. S. Wherry.

Wherry was one of the two members of the senate judiciary committee who voted against the bill when it was approved by the committee, 4 to 2, earlier this week. The measure is due to be reported to the senate Monday.

It would provide penalties up to death or life imprisonment for committing or attempting to commit what might be interpreted as "hostile acts" against the United States or its allies with intent to aid an enemy. The bill, requested by the justice department, would also impose penalties of up to 10 years imprisonment, or $10,000 fine, or both, for failure of any one to inform the FBI about any one suspected of committing a "hostile act" against the government.

Called Dangerous Legislation.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.], a member of the judiciary committee, has denounced the bill as "the most dangerous piece of legislation that has been presented for passage in the history of this country."

According to Wheeler, the legislation would give the FBI and the department of justice the power to intimidate and prosecute any one on the slightest provocation. Also, it would cause neighbor to spy upon neighbor and might cause persecution and prosecution of innocent citizens, he said.

"This bill would set up a Gestapo in America," said Wherry. "While I want to help the FBI and the government in getting at saboteurs and other enemies of the country, this bill would let down the bars. For Nebraska it's unnecessary. We have a great standard of citizenship."

Fears Persecution by Rumor.

About 35 per cent of the state's population is of German, Czecho-Slovakian, and Swedish extraction, and have proved by their conduct to be 100 per cent American, but legislation of this sort might cause them to be persecuted by mere suspicion, he asserted. This was experienced in some degree during World War I., he recalled.

"As far as Nebraska is concerned, we feel no need for such a stringent law," Wherry commented. "I want to be helpful in the conduct of the war but this measure is too severe."

His statement was made in an interview in reply to requests for his reasons in opposing the bill in committee. The position he took in the committee will be maintained when the bill reaches the senate floor, he said, unless much more satisfactory reasons are given for its necessity.

Sen. William Langer [R., N. D.], who also opposed the bill in the committee, has prepared a minority report assailing the measure as likely to "Hitlerize every family in America." Wheeler will file a separate dissenting report. He was out of the city when the committee approved the measure, with only 6 out of the committee's 18 members present.

LEND-LEASE AID TO RUSS TOTALS 2,900,000 TONS

Food, Tanks, Planes Included.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—Lend-Lease Administrator Edward R. Stettinius, reported today that 2,900,000 tons of supplies have been sent to Russia under lend-lease, but added that the "soviet army continues to sustain its great offensives principally with Russian produced weapons."

He said every effort will be made to increase the flow of supplies to Russia.

Lend-lease shipments to Russia in January were less than 10 per cent greater than the December total, Stettinius reported. A report last month on total lend-lease operations thru 1942 showed that only 19 per cent of all shipments from this country had gone to Russia, while 77 per cent had gone to the British empire.

"The great majority of the supplies we have shipped to Russia are reaching their destinations," Stettinius said. "In December, 1942, and January, 1943, there were no losses, altho further losses in later months are to be expected. Two-thirds of all the shipments to the soviet union have been made in American ships."

January shipments of food to Russia, he said, were 20 per cent larger than the December total. Included were thousands of tons of wheat and flour, sugar, canned pork, dried beans, and other vegetables, lard and vegetable fats. Butter shipments for the month amounted to only 682 tons, far less than the volume it is hoped to send in the future, Stettinius said. He said the Russians have requested butter especially for wounded soldiers in military hospitals.

Unspecified quantities of tanks, planes, and trucks were shipped to Russia last month. Stettinius recently said that 3,200 tanks, 2,600 planes, and 81,000 trucks had been sent to the soviets thru Dec. 31.

FORMER ITALIAN OFFICIAL URGES TOLERANT STAND

An eloquent plea for the allied nations to win the hearts and spirit of the Italian people and to create a new symbol to replace fascism was made yesterday before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations by Carlo Sforza, former minister of foreign affairs in Italy and now chairman of the National Committee of Free Italians.

"The belief is spreading that the Italians are a liberty-loving people, far from happy under their present régime," declared Frederic C. Woodward, president of the council, in introducing the visitor after luncheon in the Palmer House. Mr. Sforza enlarged on this theme, and said that information reaching him from Italian troops indicates that Italy longs for the overthrow of fascism.

The allied nations, however, should not expect revolution in Italy, he cautioned. After 15 years of fascism, anti-Fascist factions have no arms, and secret meetings are banned. These Italians believe, also, that internal revolt would make a German invasion of their country easier, he said.

O. K. 1¼ BILLION FOR NAVY

BY WILLIAM MOORE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—The bill authorizing the navy to spend 1 billion 256 million dollars for shore construction was approved by the house rules committee today, over protests that it would give congress too little control of the spending.

There was objection that congress' only control would be a gentleman's agreement between the navy and the house and senate naval affairs committees. But Chairman Carl Vinson [D., Ga.] of the naval affairs committee, pressing for speedy action, insisted:

"We will be complete masters of the expenditure of the money."

Secretary to Direct Spending.

The bill would authorize the appropriation for the establishment or development of naval shore activities by the construction of such temporary or permanent public works as the secretary of navy considers necessary. It includes the authority to acquire land sites and provides that 729 million dollars may be spent on advanced bases in locations thruout the world.

The measure will be debated in the house Tuesday.

Members of the rules committee urged that the bill be so written as to require the navy to come to congress for authority on the various projects it would encompass. Vinson said however that he feared this would delay the program and defended as sufficient the so-called gentleman agreement, under which the navy would be required to report to the house and senate naval affairs committees before leasing or buying the land for the projects.

Question Coöperation.

"Suppose the navy department didn't coöperate," said Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], "but went on and built a wharf or some other installation without telling you."

"You can be sure," Vinson replied, "that we are going to be the bosses of what the navy does regarding purchases or leases."

The naval affairs committee chairman said that only 70 million dollars remain from a 1 billion 700 million fund provided the navy for the same purpose by the last session of congress.

"Have they consulted your committee on the spending of that money?" asked Rep. Adolph J. Sabath [D., Ill.], chairman of the rules committee.

"No," said Vinson.

Discussion then shifted to bases abroad.

"What arrangements have been made," inquired Sabath, "to get us permanent control of the air bases for which we are spending millions?"

"A subcommittee is considering that with the secretary of the navy," said Vinson. "We hope to work out some international agreement."

"Couldn't we have the agreement now instead of after the war?" asked Dies.

"Maybe," Vinson answered.

M'KIBBIN LINKS KELLY MACHINE WITH GAMBLING

Asserts Police Whitewash Shows Surrender.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Machine government in the city hall was a general theme for attack last night by the three Republican candidates for nomination for mayor, George B. McKibbin, Arthur F. Albert, and John H. Lyle.

McKibbin dwelt upon organized gambling. He spoke at five ward meetings and over the air.

"The principal issue Tuesday," he said, "is to defeat and destroy the Kelly city hall machine. The cost of machine government is seen in police and civil service, the schools, the increasing taxes.

Denounced by Committee.

"The surrender of the Kelly city hall machine to organized gambling and crime was shown in the whitewashing of Capt. McCormick and the three policemen of the morals squad by Mayor Kelly's civil service commission when it tried them on charges of failing to suppress commercialized gambling. That travesty was denounced by a committee of five judges and lawyers, reluctantly appointed by Mayor Kelly.

"The report of that committee forced the mayor to get a new civil service commission, but only last Monday the new commission again whitewashed the four policemen and ordered their reinstatement.

"I asked then and I ask now, why? Is it because, if these policemen were found guilty, they might reveal the working agreement between the underworld and the machine in the city hall? I pledge that I will respect personal liberty in its truest form, but we will take the shakedown, the payoff, and the fix out of the enforcement of law. When I am mayor, the thousands of honest policemen will be free to do their duty."

Albert Replies to Workman.

At two north side meetings, Candidate Albert, in addition to belaboring machine politics, took up accusations made Thursday night by Samuel L. Workman, acting state director of finance. Chief of these was a statement that the law firm in which Albert's campaign manager, William C. Boyden, is a partner, has received $172,635 in fees from the Chicago Rapid Transit company since 1938.

The law firm that Workman referred to, Albert said, is Bell, Boyd & Marshall.

"Workman, however, did not tell the public that the member of the firm who received these $172,000 in fees, by order of court, was Thomas L. Marshall," Albert said. "Nor did Workman tell the public that Marshall is a member of George B. McKibbin's campaign committee.

"My campaign is being financed by myself and a small group of personal friends. We have no big, fancy billboards nor any utility connections."

Doom New Deal, Lyle Cries.

Candidate Lyle told an Englewood audience that defeat of the city hall machine would presage the defeat of the New Deal in 1944.

"The city hall machine makes Chicago the New Deal headquarters of the middle west," he said. "Mayor Kelly is the highest ranking New Dealer west of Washington. If the Republicans take over the city hall in April, as they can providing I am nominee, it will be a death blow to New Dealism west of the Allegheny mountains."

Ald. John S. Boyle [16th], leading opponent of Mayor Kelly in the Democratic primary, after a radio speech, appeared at a meeting of the Free Democrats-"Boyle for Mayor" group in Hotel Sherman. James T. Igoe, chairman, reported that 26 candidates for alderman and committeemen of this Democratic group from 42 wards were present. Plans were made for manning the polls. "Reports from the wards," said Igoe, "showed that if we do only half as well as the prospects indicate, Boyle will be nominated."

Mayor Kelly made no speeches last night.

INDEPENDENT WOMEN BUSY

Enthusiasm with which the women of the city have taken up the campaign of George B. McKibbin, Republican organization candidate for mayor, was evidenced yesterday at a meeting of the Independent Women's committee in the La Salle hotel. The committee is composed of civic and church leaders, representing some 500,000 women in various groups and federations.

More than 20,000 letters and postal cards advocating the nomination of McKibbin by Republicans at the polls Tuesday have been mailed out and hundreds of appeals by personal note and telephone have been made by the committee since its organization late in January, members reported to Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, chairman, yesterday.

Few Active Heretofore.

"There has been a great need for a committee of this caliber, one that will back the best candidate for mayor, regardless of party," Mrs. Upham stated. "Most of the members of the committee have never publicly expressed their politics or taken part in any campaign. They have now joined forces with other civic minded women because of the high qualifications of McKibbin as a candidate."

Members of the committee are representative of organized women in many circles. Among them are Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher, vice chairman and prominent civic leader; Mrs. Charles S. Clark, president of the Conference of Club Presidents and Program Chairmen; Mrs. J. Marc Fowler, past president of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Walter H. Hermsdorf, council director of the Cook County Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Marcus A. Herschel, member of the board of directors of the Council of Social Agencies.

Former Legion Auxiliary Head.

Others are Mrs. Melville Muckelstone, past national president of the American Legion auxiliary; Mrs. Winona Evans Reeves, national editor of the P. E. O. Record publication; Miss Harriet Vittum, social worker, and Mrs. Harry Mulberry, past president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers and representative of the Citizens Schools committee and the Woman's City club.

JOHN J. SULLIVAN AIDS WAGNER IN 14TH WARD RACE

Judge John J. Sullivan of the Appellate court urged 14th ward voters yesterday to elect Clarence P. Wagner alderman Tuesday to succeed former Ald. James J. McDermott, now a member of the board of tax appeals, who also has indorsed him.

"I know Clarence Wagner's legal training and other qualifications admirably equip him to discharge the duties of alderman," Judge Sullivan said. "He should be supported by every conscientious voter of our ward."

Wagner, an attorney, for the last eight years has been assistant to the Probate judge, in which capacity he has won high praise for his zeal in safeguarding the estates of widows, orphans, and war veterans. He lives with his wife and five small children at 934 West 53d street. The three candidates opposing him are Joseph Falka, cigar manufacturer; Jozef J. Pash, former stockyards employé, and Thomas T. Tomaszkiewicz, laborer.

Rivals for Democratic Nominations

Kelly Bidding for Third Term; Boyle and Patts Opponents

Herewith are presented sketches of the three candidates for the Democratic mayoral nomination in the primaries next Tuesday—Mayor Edward J. Kelly, Ald. John S. Boyle, and Billy Patts.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly is running for his third elective term. If elected the ceremonials attending his inauguration may be expected almost 10 years to the day from the date on which he first took office—April 13, 1933—when he was chosen by the city council to fill the unexpired term of the slain Anton J. Cermak. Should he serve the full four years he will have been mayor of Chicago longer than any other man during the 110 years of the city's incorporation.

The younger Harrison served four two year terms and one of four years—12 years in all; W. H. Thompson, Republican, also served 12 years.

Kelly was born on May 1, 1876, the son of Steve Kelly, who came to Chicago from Galway, Ireland, married a German girl and found himself a home "back o' the yards." Steve Kelly became a fireman and later a policeman. He and his wife reared nine children, of which the son Ed was the first born.

Kelly Newsboy at 9.

Kelly's home, while not one of poverty, was at least one of economy, hard times, and struggle. He was a newsboy at 9, cash boy in a department store at 11. An office boy for a broker at 14, he scrubbed floors and washed windows to bring his wages up to $8 a week. Later when his family had moved to Brighton Park and he was apprenticed to an undertaker, he aspired to become an engineer, and took the step that led him thru the years to his present position.

Kelly became an axman in one of the crews laying out the drainage canal, steadily supplemented his high school education by going to night school and studying mathematics, employed engineering tutors to ground him in the higher branches, enrolled at the old Chicago Athenaeum and finally got into the engineering department of the sanitary district. Here he was promoted step by step until he became chief engineer.

Kelly entered politics, did all the humbler jobs, became a member of the senatorial district convention that first nominated Cermak to the legislature, and in 1922 was named a south parks commissioner by judges of the Circuit court to fill a vacancy. In 1924 he was elected president of the South Park board, a post to which he was successively reëlected until 1933, when he became Chicago's 59th mayor.

City in Financial Trouble.

When Kelly stepped in, the city was in a financial dilemma that had grown steadily worse. The city needed 60 million dollars to consolidate its financial position, put an end to "payless paydays" of its employés and teachers and put it back on a solid footing. Kelly got the money and there have been no demonstrations by unpaid workers since.

Kelly's first wife was Mary Roche of Chicago, who died in 1918. His son, Edward Jr., was born in 1912 and died 14 years later of scarlet fever while a student at Culver Military academy.

On Jan. 25, 1922, four years after the death of his first wife, Kelly married Margaret E. Kirk of Kansas City, Mo., whom he had met in Denver. Mrs. Kelly had been a Red Cross nurse overseas in World War I., and during the present war has shown unflagging devotion to the Service Men's centers, where thousands of soldiers and sailors are constantly entertained. The Kellys have three children.

Ald. John S. Boyle [16th], primary opponent of Kelly, is the choice of a group of Independent Democrats, so-called because they "drafted" the youthful leader to carry their banner in a battle against the Democratic city machine headed by the mayor. Boyle has many of Kelly's fighting characteristics and often has stood out alone against the Kelly-Nash group in the city council.

Boyle was born on July 17, 1901, at 6150 South Honore street, where he still lives. He is unmarried. He was graduated from the public grammar and high schools, attended Northwestern university and Armour institute. He obtained a legal education by attending night courses at De Paul university law school, while employed during the day as an accountant by the Commonwealth Edison company. He won a bachelor of laws degree at De Paul and was admitted to the bar.

Defender in Injury Cases.

He engaged in private practice until 1931, when he was appointed an assistant corporation counsel by the late Mayor Cermak.

While in that office he specialized in defending personal injury cases against the city and won in 28 successive contests.

On March 1, 1933, he was appointed assistant state's attorney, was assigned to prosecuting vagrancy cases against notorious hoodlums, and convicted, among others, James [Dynamite] Belcastro, Maxie Eisen, Gus Winkler, and "Machine Gun" Jack McGurn. Winkler and McGurn later were assassinated in accepted gangland fashion.

Boyle was elected alderman of the 16th ward in April, 1939, when, indorsed by all the independent ward groups, he defeated Terence Moran, Democrat, who had been a member of the city council for 21 years.

Third Candidate in Field.

The Democratic primary contest is highlighted by the candidacy of Billy Patts, a political unknown, born Boleslaw Patzkoski, who frankly calls himself "a Polack," says he loves that word and adds grimly, "Here's one Polack they ain't gonna push around." Billy is 36, lives at 3305 Diversey avenue, and is married. He has no children.

Billy is running on a platform of 13 points, and varies the routine by sending campaign literature printed or written entirely in Polish regularly to the newspapers. He says:

"Kelly got 607,000 votes in 1939. Of these 300,000 were Polish votes and I'll get all or most of those. I'll get 50,000 Jewish votes, 50,000 Negro votes, 50,000 Czech votes and 50,000 others. That's more than enough to elect me."

ESTIMATES VOTE AT 850,000 WITH GAIN FOR G.O.P.

An estimate that about 850,000 ballots will be cast in Tuesday's mayoral primary and aldermanic election, compared with 1,236,156 in the 1939 city primaries, was made yesterday by John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the election board. He predicted a gain in the Republican vote and a slump in the Democratic poll.

Rusch estimated that about 350,000 Republican ballots will be cast, compared with the 281,845 cast in the 1939 primary, and about 500,000 Democratic ballots, compared with 954,311 in 1939.

"Four years ago, of course," said Rusch, "Dwight H. Green had little opposition for mayor in the Republican primary, while on the Democratic side the Kelly-Courtney fight brought out a large vote. This year many voters are in service and many others are living and working in outlying districts in war industries, which will reduce the vote."

JUDGES OPPOSE BRODIE PLAN TO HALVE CHEMISTS

Chief of County Hospital Voices Protest.

Coroner A. L. Brodie's move to cut in half his staff of chemists in order to put "investigators" on his pay roll struck opposition yesterday at the monthly meeting of the judges of the Circuit court. A committee of the judges is the authority that fixes the number of employés in county fee offices, including the coroner's.

Judge Daniel P. Trude brought the matter of cutting the chemists' staff to the attention of the judges. He cited the protest made by Dr. Karl A. Meyer, superintendent of the county hospital, who asserted that Brodie's action might have serious results. Coroners' chemists are charged with handling all suspected poison cases and speedy analyses are necessary to determine the treatment required.

Crippling this work is the last economy that should be effected in the coroner's office, Dr. Meyer said.

Judge Trude Urges Action.

Judge Trude urged his bench associates to take steps to undo Brodie's ouster of the chemists, which is effective March 1. Members of the judges' committee on help agreed that this should be done, explaining that when they passed on Brodie's budget they had no intention of permitting him to cripple his laboratory staff.

The judges then directed Trude to ask Dr. Meyer to make a formal protest to them and to the county board, so the two groups of officials can work together on a plan to restore the chemists' jobs. Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, has vetoed an $8,000 item for "investigators," which Brodie slipped into his budget just before it was passed.

Attorneys for several taxpayers' groups said a suit may be filed seeking an accounting of the funds handled by Brodie during the last three years and for an injunction to restrain him from acts in violation of the state law and constitution.

Reports $4,000 Yearly.

County records disclosed yesterday hat each year Brodie holds more than 3,000 inquests. Under the law, these should yield more than $18,000 in fees. Brodie has been reporting collections of approximately $4,000 a year in inquest fees.

Attorneys said a taxpayer's suit could ask for an accounting of more than $10,000 in salary taken by Brodie in the last three years in violation of the state constitution.

The constitution specifies that the salary of the coroner may be paid "only out of the fees of the office actually collected." Brodie has been taking $9,000 a year in salary, while his office revenue has averaged less than $5,500 a year.

Law Requires Fee of $6.

The coroner is required by law to collect a fee of $6 for every inquest. If the money is not paid by relatives of the dead person, he is required to file a claim against the estate of the deceased person or, in cases where there is no estate, to claim the fee from the county or the state.

Brodie has 12 deputy coroners, who conduct inquests and are supposed to collect the fees. Attorneys familiar with inquest proceedings said it would be a simple matter for a deputy to collect a fee and fail to report it.

ROMMEL DRIVE STOPS BEFORE NEW YANK LINE

U. S. Losses Reduced; Tanks Fight Way Back.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 19 (AP).—American armored forces stabilized their new line in the Tunisian mountains near the Algerian frontier today while the drive by Marshal Erwin Rommel that had carried him more than 60 miles slacked off to mere skirmishing.

The announced withdrawal of French troops from Pichon, about 40 miles north of the Faid pass area where Rommel began his thrust on Sunday, indicated that the central section of the allied front was being moved back to stronger defensive positions on the west side of the Ousseltia valley. This would deprive Rommel of opportunity for a quick thrust northwest behind the allied forward units.

The new line runs along mountains as high as 4,000 feet which flank the pass leading from Feriana to Tebessa, the latter in Algeria.

French Take Prisoners.

The allied communique reported no action of consequence during the day. The French high command, speaking of an action well to the north of the Feriana area, announced that French Moroccan troops southwest of Pont du Fahs had taken 45 axis prisoners in a local attack and that in another and unspecified northern Tunisian sector British and French troops had "inflicted serious losses on the enemy and captured prisoners and arms."

Additional information from the front indicated that earlier estimates of American equipment losses in the heavy fighting now ended might be reduced as much as a third. For example, it developed that one unit of American tanks previously believed lost had in fact fought its way back.

[The Italian communique claimed an aggregate of 2,876 allied prisoners taken in recent actions; the capture or destruction of 169 allied tanks, 95 armored cars, 36 motor transported guns, 66 other guns, 6 planes and a large number of trucks.]

British Threaten Nazi Line.

Rommel was assumed to have suspended his drive toward the Algerian plateau in part because of the threat being offered by the British 8th army of Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery which, moving up from southeastern Tunisia, was disclosed during the day to have captured Foum Tatahouine.

Dispatches from Cairo indicated that this point had fallen without much fighting. Thirty miles to the north, however, more enemy resistance was being encountered; Montgomery's artillery batteries were exchanging fire with the Germans in the Medenine outpost of the Mareth line.

[A Reuters news agency dispatch received in London reported British troops had cleared out axis forces from Djerba Island, a 20 mile strip in the Gulf of Gabes just above the Mareth line.]

Eisenhower Sees Action.

It was disclosed that Rommel's initial blow last Sunday from Faid pass was viewed by Gen. Eisenhower himself.

The enemy's losses in equipment had not yet been determined, but the destruction of 20 German tanks by one American combat command and the exploit of another American detachment in knocking out six Nazi Mark VI. tanks indicated the drive was by no means a German walk-over.

[Another dispatch said that if Rommel's tank losses were 50 per cent of the Americans' it is unlikely that he will press on, no matter how inviting the Kasserine gap or a turning maneuver against the allied right flank protecting Tebessa might be. His reserves must be kept intact to battle Montgomery.]

"Inexperience" was the most widely heard reason for the American defeat.

The Germans were reported to have used the tactics of sending several tanks near an American concentration and inducing a much heavier force out to attack. This heavier force was then drawn into artillery ambush.

It was estimated that American and French troops were holding two-thirds of the total allied line in Tunisia when Rommel began his attack.

Without large reserves behind them the Americans faced the dilemma of risking a major break-thru by Rommel or falling back to more tenable positions. Altho suffering severely the Americans accomplished the withdrawal in good order.

F. D. R. REASSERTS ARMY WILL HAVE 7½ MILLION MEN.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 (AP).—President Roosevelt indicated at his press conference today that he was backing the army firmly in its controversy with some congressional elements over the question of limiting the size of the army, now set at 7½ million men for 1943. He suggested that older school children must shoulder a large share of the food production job.

He told reporters that the size the army should be at the end of 1943 was decided last August by the dictates of military necessity, and the decision had not been changed. He was concerned over the food production outlook, he acknowledged, but he said he believed young people of high school age could do a lot to relieve the farm labor shortage.

He remarked that a lot of people have wanted 10 or 12 or even 13 million in the army for this year.

All kinds of details have developed over where the men will come from, he said, and these are being talked over. On the fighting end of things, he added, we have to have reasonably young men. Most men over 35, he said, are not good for combat service and can't stand up under two or three days of marching 30 miles a day.

TUNISIAN YANKS BLUFFED NAZIS FOR 2 MONTHS

Col. Raff Reveals They Held 10,000 Sq. Mi.

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP).—Col. Edson Raff disclosed today that German gains this week in central Tunisia were made in part of an area of 10,000 square miles which a handful of American soldiers and some allied units had held for more than two months by sheer dash and bluff instead of numbers.

Head of the United States parachute formation which made a 1,500 mile flight from England to the Oran area to participate in the AEF occupation of French North Africa Nov. 8, Col. Raff has just returned to London.

He told a press conference that his untried parachutists teamed with a few British engineers, one small American anti-tank unit and poorly armed French troops to wage a free wheeling warfare against the Germans.

Take Gafsa Without Fight.

The detachments first were based at Tebessa, near the Tunisian frontier. When the enemy failed to make a bid for that point Col. Raff obtained permission to roll on to Gafsa. He led his little expeditionary force to that Tunisian rail town with no opposition.

After the group held Gafsa a short time there were indications the Germans were moving against it in force, Raff said, and he ordered a withdrawal. But the enemy's strength proved to be less than was expected, so a task force returned the next day and mopped up the few Germans who had pushed into Gafsa.

Informed that a tank column was headed toward Gafsa from Gabes, the Americans went out to meet it and learned on the way that another tank column was striking from Sbeitla, trying to cut off Gafsa.

The Americans met the enemy force from Gabes and knocked out six tanks and drove back the others. Then they made a quick reversal of the field to intercept the second German column. They knocked out eight tanks and sent these Nazis also into retreat.

Engage in Fantastic Warfare.

Then came a period of fantastic warfare when the little allied force would strike out swiftly at some point to drive the Germans out and then turn the place over to French infantry. The allied force would then move swiftly back to base or try another attack so the enemy could never learn where they were or how strong they were.

Using this device, they saw plenty of Tunisian scenery and managed to clean out their big triangle between Tebessa, Algeria, Faid and Tozeur.

The axis employed gliders considerably for sabotage missions at night, manning the sail planes with bold and able troops. A typically daring party of eight accomplished a mission near Gafsa and then, instead of striking out across the country back to their own lines, took the highway to Gafsa.

Challenged at the gates of the town by a Moroccan sentry they said they were Americans. Their accent didn't suit the sentry so he fired, killing one and scattering the rest who escaped.

EQUAL TANK LOSSES, DEVERS SAYS, MEAN NAZIS LOSE IN AFRICA

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 19 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commander of the United States army armored forces, said in an interview here today that because American and German tank losses in the Tunisian fighting were about equal, the Germans are losing the war there.

Gen. Devers, who returned recently from an inspection trip to North Africa fighting fronts, visited the army ordnance departments tank-automotive center today.

"The Germans would have to knock out five of our tanks to the loss of one of their own to be winning the offensive," he said. "Since they are not, they are losing the offensive and we are winning the war there."

Gen. Devers, here to report on technical equipment problems encountered during his African visit, said the Americans have the best projectile in the war up to the present time, explaining, "it's a shell that will penetrate four inches of armor plate and burst inside of a tank."

"We have taught our boys to open up tank fire from 3,000 yards—an unusual distance," the general said. "They catch the Germans by surprise. The Germans will have a lot more surprises before long."

LABORITE CHIEFS STUDY VOTE ON BEVERIDGE PLAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 19.—Altho no resignations are expected, Labor ministers in the government will meet Monday to consider the situation created by the fact that, of 130 Labor members of parliament free to vote, only 100, including 2 tellers, voted this week against the government's stand on the Beveridge social security report.

It was admitted that exhibitions of that sort will be regarded by the country as a sign of serious disunity in the party.

Regarding the attitude on the Beveridge plan, there is a definite cleavage between the views of Herbert Morrison, Labor minister of home security, and Ernest Bevin, minister of labor.

The former believes in communal ownership and expert control of industry and has declared himself a supporter of the Beveridge report. Bevin has advocated that each industry, not the state, bear the main burden of providing social security to its workers.

This difference is more complicated by the fact that Arthur Greenwood, leader of the Labor opposition, is carrying the fight from the floor of commons to the public, which is creating a demand by workers that the Labor party kill the party truce.

TRIBUNE MEDALS GO TO ILLINOIS U. R.O.T.C. WINNERS

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 19 [Special].—Medals from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE were awarded today to outstanding cadets of the University of Illinois Reserve Officers' Training corps. The medals were presented by Col. Leonard C. Sparks, commandant, in behalf of Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE.

Donald C. Miller of Geneseo received the gold medal and Bert Lichtenstein of Brooklyn, N. Y., received the silver medal. Co-winners of the bronze medal are William R. Fifer of Aurora, Clarence D. McCurdy of Wyoming, Ill., and William C. Wiley of Springfield.

The winners are the cadets who were outstanding in each class during the last semester in both military and university subjects. Each winner maintained an average grade of "A."

The Tribune medals were conferred at a review of advance course cadets.

MADAME CHIANG 'STEALS' PARLEY FROM ROOSEVELT

China's Need Is Arms, She Tells Reporters.

Now It's Official!

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—The Congressional Record is a clam on the ovation given Mme. Chiang Kai-shek in the house yesterday, but it tells how the senate cheered her. The reason: The house rule against reporting applause. Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.] tossed his silvery hair in indignation today, introduced a resolution to permit the Record to report the house applause, and lamented: "The Record shows we sat here like a bunch of mummies."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the Chinese generalissimo, continued her conquest of the capital today and stole a press conference from President Roosevelt at which the President promised that American aid to China will be increased as soon as the Lord will let us.

As thoroly poised before one of the largest press conferences in White House history as she was yesterday during her address to congress, the American educated Mme. Chiang handled herself under a barrage of questions as easily and proficiently as does Mr. Roosevelt.

The President introduced the daughter of the late Charles Jones Soong, who came to America a hammock maker and died a merchant prince, remarking that the gathering was almost his 1,000th press conference.

Smiles Punctuate Responses.

Mme. Chiang sat between the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, wearing a long Chinese gown of blue flowered material. Ornate gold earrings swung from her finely molded ears. Her black hair was dressed tight to her head in Chinese fashion.

After paying graceful compliments to the American press, Mme. Chiang submitted to questions. Her sincerity and earnestness were evident in all her responses, which frequently were punctuated with smiles.

She welcomed the President's promise of aid to China—as soon as the Lord will let us—with the observation that the Lord helps those who help themselves and an expression of full confidence in the pledge. Mme. Chiang is a Christian.

Munitions Called First Need.

She said the first and best thing the United States can do for China is to send more munitions. Mr. Roosevelt interjected the remark that everybody is in support of this policy.

Questioned about reports China is not using its man power to the fullest extent, she replied with evident emotion that China cannot fight with her bare hands. She added that for five and a half years China has been fighting with nothing but swords in hand to hand combat.

Mr. Roosevelt reiterated the army and navy intention to strike at Japan in the Japanese islands themselves. He said it is not enough to move forward inch by inch and island by island. If we took one of the mandated islands a month, it would take about 50 years before we could get to Japan, he added.

Active Bases Promised.

The lengthening Japanese supply line must be cut from near the top, he continued. We are going to do more and more by using China as a base of operations not only to cut at the supply line but at Japan itself.

He said everybody in Washington is pledged to the definite policy of making China one of the most important, if not the most important, bases of operation against Japan as soon as the Lord will let us.

The President said he was not announcing a change in policy but is trying to get the policy operating as soon as possible. The program of increasing Chinese aid already is under way, he said.

CHINESE CRIPPLE JAPANESE DRIVES ALONG 7 FRONTS

Slow or Reverse All Enemy Thrusts.

CHUNGKING, China, Feb. 19 (AP).—A Chinese high command communique today said all the Japanese drives in central, southern, and southwestern China had been slowed down or thrown into reverse, altho costly fighting continued in some areas.

China yesterday announced the Japanese had launched attacks on seven fronts.

Battles were being fought in northern Kiangsu province, north of Shanghai, as the Japanese tried to compress a 45 mile semi-circular line running thru the lake country from Paoying to Fowning. The Chinese said all the Japanese thrusts had been halted.

Halt Column in Yunnan.

Fighting in western Yunnan, where the Japanese were trying to extend their grip along the Burma road and were moving in several columns west of the Salween river, grew more intense. However, one column which moved up to the Salween withdrew after an artillery exchange and there was no change in positions north of Tengyueh, also on the west side of the river.

In Hupeh province in central China, where the Japanese were attempting new expeditions from their Ichang and Shasi bases on the Yangtze, the Chinese said they were in pursuit of one column after killing 400. Another enemy column which set out to the south from the Yangtze port of Hosueh was unable to make any progress.

Drive in South Stopped.

In Kiangsi province, south of the river, the Japanese were declared to have lost most of the force which took Fengsing and attacked Kaoan. They were thrown back toward their base at Nanchang after a battle in the Kaoan suburbs.

Japanese troops which had landed on the Luichow peninsula in the southern province of Kwangtung also had made no progress.

REPORTS FUR COAT STOLEN.

Birt Jr., who has been in the service for six years, recently returned to the United States from Guadalcanal.

DO YOU WANT AN ESSENTIAL OCCUPATION WITH A POST-WAR FUTURE?

We need a number of men for permanent positions as "mechanical tabulating equipment mechanics"—officially defined by Selective Service headquarters as an essential occupation.

WE are a large, well-established manufacturer of office machines and equipment. Our entire production is going to war manufacturers and government bureaus. We urgently need men who are mechanically minded—not necessarily with mechanical experience—to keep these essential office machines operating at top speed in war plants and government offices. We teach you everything you need to know about the machines, and we pay you a salary while you are learning. The positions are permanent, with excellent opportunities for advancement.

YOU are a man with a knack for mechanical work, even though you may not be using that knack at present. You are a high-school graduate and U. S. citizen. The armed forces have passed you by, and will continue to do so. You are not doing war work now. You are ambitious, loyal, a good worker, eager to get ahead.

YOU AND WE should get together. Write us a brief confidential letter, telling us about yourself. Give us also your age and phone number. Write today if possible.

P.S. Do you have a friend who should know about this opportunity? We'd appreciate your calling him about it—and so would he!

WASTE AND WANT IN PUERTO RICO'S RULE, SAYS TAFT

U. S. and Island Agencies Overlap, He Charges.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 (AP).—Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] declared today that a 10 day investigation of conditions in Puerto Rico by a senate subcommittee disclosed "confusion, overlapping, and duplication" of governmental agencies, both federal and insular.

Taft said this condition, the people's poverty, and the "aggravation of food conditions and unemployment thru the reduction in shipping" were developments that impressed the investigating senators.

First of the group to return to Washington, Taft expressed hope the committee could agree on steps to afford immediate relief, "such as an increase and regularization of shipping."

Pledges a Careful Study.

Long range problems, he promised, will be given careful study by the committee.

Describing over population as the "basic difficulty," the Ohio senator said the people of Puerto Rico "are adopting a number of socialistic measures, some of which are necessary, but others threaten to aggravate their troubles rather than to assist them."

The submarine menace has disappeared "at least temporarily" from the Puerto Rican sea route, Taft found. He suggested assignment of a definite number of ships to this service would relieve starvation, increase employment and, "put the people of Puerto Rico on the same transportation basis as those of us who live in the United States.

Reminds of Their Citizenship.

"As American citizens," he added, "they are certainly entitled to that equality if we can furnish it."

Explaining that the population density is five times that of Cuba, Taft said: "We are trying to support a population of two million on an island whose resources can only support one million on a standard of living which even then would have to be lower than that of the United States.

"To meet that situation we have poured in money, over $300,000,000 in 10 years, with comparatively little result.

"In all other respects Puerto Rico has been neglected."

FIRE REVEALS GASOLINE CACHE.

CHASE SUB-BASED ENEMY PLANE TO SEA OFF SYDNEY

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 20 [Saturday—(AP).—An enemy plane which, the government said, apparently came from a submarine was fired on last night by anti-aircraft batteries and chased out to sea. The plane first flew over the Kembla area. A blackout was ordered in Sydney.

"As planes from submarines can carry bombs, it was decided not to lift the blackout until a later hour," said Maj. Gen. A. C. Fewtrell, commander of the New South Wales lines of communication area.

The alert last night was the first in Sydney since last June when an enemy submarine shelled the city.

ATTACK ON ORDER EVACUATING JAPS BEFORE 7 JUDGES

Call Army Edict Against Citizens Illegal.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 19 [Special].—The Ninth Federal Circuit Court of Appeals today heard challenged as unconstitutional President Roosevelt's executive order of last year delegating authority to the war department for the evacuation of Japanese aliens and American born Japanese.

The order and Lieut. Gen. John DeWitt's subsequent proclamations were defended as representing an exercise of the war powers of the government.

The uncompleted argument, to which the full seven judge court listened intently all day, was made exactly one year after President Roosevelt issued the order authorizing Secretary Stimson to evacuate American citizens, as well as aliens, from proscribed areas on grounds of military necessity. On Feb. 20, 1941, the day after Secretary Stimson received this authority, he imposed in Gen. DeWitt, western defense commander, the right to deal with the then much-debated situation on this coast as he saw fit.

Appeal by 3 Jap Citizens.

The argument was on the appeal of three cases of American-born Japanese found guilty in the lower courts of violating one or more of Gen. DeWitt's orders. The government had been upheld in the federal District courts at San Francisco, Portland, and Seattle in connection with violation of curfew orders or other phases of the evacuation program by Fred T. Korematsu of San Leandro, Cal., Minori Yasui of Hood River, Ore., and Gordon K. Hirayabashi, a University of Washington student.

Judge James A. Fee at Portland, however, had based his decision in the Yasui case on the ground that Yasui, a former employé of the Japanese consulate general at Chicago, was actually an alien altho born in this country and claiming American citizenship.

Attorneys for the Japanese-Americans attacked the orders and proclamations as violating the second amendment, permitting citizens to bear arms, and of the due process clause of the fifth amendment. Wayne M. Collins of this city, representing the American Civil Liberties union, declared they also produced "cruel and unusual punishment forbidden by the eighth amendment" and added that "had such proclamations been issued by the British in 1775 this country would not exist today."

Denies "Degrees of Citizenship."

"There is no decision in history," he said, "upholding the idea that citizenship is a thing of degrees. To penalize these American citizens for their ancestry, race, and color is contrary to the fundamental concepts."

Frank L. Walters of Seattle added that if the 70,000 American born Japanese can be "viciously and unlawfully interned without a hearing," the same thing could be done "to the black man, to the Chinese [and I can say there is considerable anxiety among Chinese on this coast as to the outcome of these cases]; to the Jew, who is a minority group, to the Catholic or any other religious organization."

Judge William Denman interrupted to say that the "existence of war" was the whole point. Mr. Walters replied he thought it made "no difference whether there is war or peace" as far as these cases were concerned.

Asks About Dangers.

Judge Denman asked whether the army in evicting the Japanese had "shown the existence of any danger of invasion or of sabotage by these people." Walter replied, "None whatever," and Judge Albert L. Stephens asked the attorney whether it was "necessary for sabotage to be committed before anything is done about it."

A. J. Zirpoli, an assistant federal attorney, told the court that "the presence of this unassimilated group of blood relatives of a nation with which we are in mortal combat" represented a distinct threat to our internal security and that it was "not feasible in time of war to try to segregate the loyal from the disloyal."

"This program," he said, "is more humane than the only legal method suggested by the appellants. They would call for the internment of 43,691 Japanese aliens, the fathers, and mothers of Japanese citizens, and divide the families."

The original order caused the removal of 40,000 Japanese aliens and 70,000 American born Japanese.

PVT. LAM PLACING TOLL CALL: TOKIO TO SPRINGFIELD

BY CORP. ALVIN C. SAGER.
[U. S. Air Force.]

SOMEWHERE IN INDIA [Delayed].—This concerns the ambition of Pvt. Hing Lam, United States air force, lately of Springfield, Ill., but before that of Canton, China. Lam is in India on his way, he believes, to Tokio. That is his ambition.

Born in Canton in 1922, Lam reached America with his parents in 1937, attending schools at Springfield. It was there he studied the history and the lore associated with Abraham Lincoln. It was there, too, that Lam worked after school hours in the chop suey restaurant of his father, a restaurant frequented by Sen. Arnold P. Benson of Batavia, Ill., and Gov. Dwight H. Green.

That is why he hastened to enlist in the United States air force in May, 1941, asking his officers at Chanute field that he be given an assignment to China. At this base he is a valuable soldier, the friend of many Chinese officers. And that ambition? It is to call up the Illinois state capitol building from Tokio!

CHICAGO HEROES 'HOLD THAT HILL' FOR A COMRADE

Commander Hails Bravery at Guadalcanal.

a "practically impenetrable area of enemy fire," killing three enemy snipers and enabling their unit to complete important reconnaissance.

[Sergt. Moore, 24 years old, has been wounded, "but not much," he wrote in his most recent letter to his father, received Feb. 7. He graduated in 1937 from St. Michael's High school, entered service in January, 1940, and left for Australia in January, 1942. He had been employed as an interviewer by a loan company.]

Pvt. Casimer Black, 2022 West 18th place, who advanced into heavy machine gun fire to rescue wounded comrades.

[Black has only a report of service registered at draft board 35, an indication, a clerk said, that he must have been in the National Guard at the time the selective service act was passed. He is the son of Mrs. Julia T. Black and has a brother, Chester Joseph, 25 years old, in service, according to draft board records.]

Wounded by Machine Gun.

Corp. John Dietche, 515 Englewood avenue, and Pvt. Bruno I. Krzak, 2141 Crystal street, who advanced in an attempt to silence a machine gun nest. When Dietche was wounded Krzak covered his withdrawal.

[Krzak, 19 years old, son of Mrs. Katherine Krzak, attended Washburne Trade school and was a member of the National Guard. He began his army service at Camp Forrest, Tenn., in 1941.]

Staff Sergt. Charles F. Buchholz, 1417 West 62d street, who crawled forward in the face of machine gun fire to rescue Pvt. Hugh O'Reilly, 1522 Wenonah avenue, Berwyn, who was wounded while trying to rescue a comrade. Buchholz also was recommended for an award.

[Buchholz, 28 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buchholz, is a graduate of Englewood High school and former employé in the engineering department of Armour and Co. He has been in the army for two years.]

[O'Reilly, 23 years old, went into the army in April, 1941. The son of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Reilly, he attended Morton High school and worked for a time at an asbestos company in Cicero.]

Corp. Alfred H. Serenski, 2440 South Francisco avenue, who was a volunteer litter bearer. Altho a member of the Pioneers, whose job is making trails and carrying supplies, Serenski hurdled a row of rocks despite heavy fire and dragged a wounded man to safety. Later the same day he aided in holding the defense line, where he was wounded.

Recovers Commander's Body.

Sergt. Thomas E. Waibel, 2105 South Avers avenue, who accompanied a patrol under fire to recover the body of a slain battalion commander.

[Waibel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Waibel and is 24 years old. He attended Farragut High school, and was a punch press operator for the Western Electric company when he entered the army in March, 1941.]

First Lt. Michael Jarvis, 2544 Thomas street, and 1st Sergt. Vincent A. Manikas, 3054 West 55th street, who recovered the body of a slain lieutenant despite great danger to themselves.

[Manikas, 28 years old, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Manikas, who have moved to Blue Island since he entered the army in March, 1941. He has two brothers in the army, Dr. A. J., in Alabama, and Stanley, who is overseas.]

Sergt. William C. Gran, 1451 North Massasoit avenue, who threw hand grenades and fired an automatic rifle at a Jap emplacement which permitter three trapped comrades to withdraw safely.

Rescues Wounded Comrade.

Staff Sergt. John A. Vins, 1939 South Homan avenue, and Sergt. James Machu of East Moline, Ill., who left their comrades and advanced in a Jap field to rescue a wounded comrade "with great risk to their own lives and in disregard of their personal safety."

Sergt. Warren J. Rosengren, 3167 Orchard street, who voluntarily led reconnaissance and combat patrols 11 times during the Mount Austen operation. Thru his efforts, two machine gun nests and seven snipers "are known to have been destroyed." Several times he advanced alone and located the position of the enemy.

Pvt. Edward J. Lichowski, 1016 North Marshfield avenue, who alone and on his own initiative left his position and three times braved enemy fire to recover three of our wounded men.

Pvt. Edward Zatz, 3611 West Douglas boulevard, who ventured into extremely active machine gun fire lanes to render first aid to five badly wounded men from a neighboring organization. In addition to a recommendation for the silver star, Zatz also was recommended for the award of the oak leaf cluster for saving the lives of two wounded men, whom he carried out despite enemy fire.

Rallies Faltering Men.

Sergt. Peter R. Muscarello, 713 South Paulina street, who rallied his men when they began to retreat in the face of extremely heavy enemy fire at close range.

Sergt. Michael J. Perrone, 918 South Bell avenue, who was wounded while crossing exposed ground to rescue three wounded men.

First Sergt. Clifford L. Aikens, 14 West Superior street, who during a noontime attack on Jan. 2 led a platoon within 10 yards of a Jap pillbox, threw several fragmentation and TNT grenades until he landed one inside the pillbox and destroyed it. According to his citation recommendation, "this act was performed directly in the face of enemy fire against a fortification so secure that ordinary field methods and expedients had been ineffective."

Pvt. Gene L. Pollastrini, 1827 South 49th court, Cicero, who aided a litter bearer in evacuating a wounded American "at great risk to his life."

Sergt. Barney A. Guth, 9209 South 55th street, Oak Lawn, who, with his men, "materially aided in destroying an enemy gun crew and four replacement crews by his ingenuity in signaling information about the enemy's movements." His signals also halted several attacks by Jap riflemen directed against a nearby squad and with his own squad he accounted for about 60 Japs.

Illinoisans Honored.

Sergt. William Sullens, Salem, Ill., and Sergt. Edwin Hurt, Galesburg, Ill., both of whom made persistent attempts to recover the body of a slain comrade before being driven off by snipers and machine guns.

Pvt. James Smetzer of Ottawa, Ind., who, altho wounded in the jaw, refused to return to an aid station before helping repel several enemy attacks and again was wounded before being ordered back. Nevertheless, he insisted in talking to his company commander en route to the rear to inform him of the tactical situation of his squad.

Sergt. Wayne M. Douglas, Davenport, Ia., who was the leader of the squad saved by Sergt. Guth.

First Sergt. James J. O'Rourke, Bay City, Mich., who while on a mission against an enemy pillbox was assigned to cover the withdrawal of a patrol. He did so and also carried a wounded comrade to an aid station, altho the rescue meant exposing himself to heavy enemy fire.

ALLIED BOMBERS RAID BUIN, DAMAGE FOUR JAP MERCHANT SHIPS

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, Feb. 20 [Saturday]—(AP).—Four Japanese merchant ships have been damaged by allied bombers in a night raid on Buin, on Bougainville Island in the northern Solomons, the allied high command announced today. A communique said:

"Attacking from extremely low altitudes in the face of strong anti-aircraft fire, our heavy units scored direct hits with 500 pound bombs on four enemy cargo ships aggregating 27,000 tons.

"Our medium units bombed the airdrome supply dumps and dispersal bays at Kahili and the balance of the island and the seaplane base, causing heavy explosions and fires visible for 30 miles. There was no attempt at interception. All our planes returned."

Off Gasmata, near the southern tip of New Britain Island, a heavy bomber attacking a 5,000 ton vessel was set upon by 12 Jap fighter planes. The bomber shot down three and returned safely to its base. Off Cape Gloucester, New Britain, another bomber hit a Jap troop transport and shot down a fighter plane.

300,000 Tons of Sinkings Claimed for Dutch Subs

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP).—Netherlands submarines, operating with allied naval forces in all the seven seas, have sunk more than 300,000 tons of enemy shipping since the start of the war, Dutch naval sources said tonight. Included in the sinkings were two enemy submarines [one German and one Italian], three Japanese warships, and several troopships.

WAR REPORTERS' CASUALTY RATE EXCEEDS ARMY'S

New York, Feb. 19 [Special].—The hazardous nature of war reporting was emphasized by the disclosure today of a comparison by Editor and Publisher which showed that casualties among American war correspondents since this country entered the war has been three to four times greater proportionately than battle casualties of the United States army.

The ratio of army casualties to the number serving overseas was less than than 5 per cent up to Jan. 31, while those of the press were 15 to 20 per cent of the total number of correspondents on war duty abroad.

Sixty correspondents out of 300 to 350 now serving abroad are listed by the newspaper trade publication as dead, wounded, or hurt in line of duty, missing and captured or interned and still held by the axis. Battle casualties of the army totaled 41,119 up to Jan. 31.

China Arms Envoy in U. S. Expected in Britain Soon

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP).—Gen. Hsiung Shih-fei, chief of the Chinese military mission to the United States, is expected in Britain shortly, an authoritative source stated today.

THEATER OF AIR TO HAVE R. O. T. C. CADET AUDIENCE

Tribune Award Winners to See W-G-N Show.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A Washington's birthday tribute to the reserve officers training corps will be offered by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in connection with the Chicago Theater of the Air presentation of Victor Herbert's "Red Mill" over W-G-N, W59C, and the Mutual network from 8 to 9 o'clock tonight. Marion Claire and Thomas L. Thomas will be the singing stars.

More than 600 honor cadets of the R. O. T. C., high ranking officers of the army and navy, and representatives of patriotic organizations will be studio guests not only for the broadcast but for a brief program that will follow.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, as speaker, will pay tribute to the R. O. T. C. All the cadets who have been invited to attend the party are holders of THE TRIBUNE'S awards for excellence in military training and studies.

Youths to Present Colors.

Prior to the broadcast the Tilden Technical High School R. O. T. C. color guard will present the colors. The W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus, directed by Henry Weber, will lead the audience in singing "The Star Spangled Banner." Lt. Col. Smith A. Funk, cadet commander at Tilden, will lead the audience in the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Other members of the guard are Capt. Laurence J. Musolino, 1st Lt. Charles P. Frisk, and 2d Lt. Robert S. Kuehne.

Miss Claire and Thomas will be supported by Ruth Slater, Earl Wilkie and John Barclay in the singing rôles. The voice of the "Red Mill" will be provided by Sonovox. The dramatic cast will be headed by Laurette Fillbrandt and Bret Morrison. Others are Hope Summers, Charles Irving, Carl Kroenke, Art Hern, and Marvin Mueller.

Talks by Officers.

Following the broadcast, brief talks will be given by Col. John F. Davis, chief of staff, 6th service command, representing Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand, commanding general; Capt. H. L. Kalen, representing Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district; Capt. L. V. Kielhorn, chief of staff, United States coast guard in Chicago; Col. W. F. Morrison, professor of military science and tactics for the Chicago public schools, and Lt. Col. C. H. Hayden, P. M. S. T. for the Gary public schools.

Several movies will be shown. Jack La Frandre will direct the radio broadcast.

ANOTHER MILLION GOES INTO FUND FOR NEW CHICAGO

Chicago continued to top the million dollar a day goal in the drive to replace the cruiser Chicago with $40,000,000 in war bond sales within 40 days, as a sale of $1,090,031.25 in bonds yesterday was announced by Oscar G. Mayer, chairman of the Cook county war savings committee. The total for the drive, which started three days ago, stands at $3,566,743.75.

Earlier in the day the minute man division of the war savings staff met and indorsed the drive. The division set as its goal the enrollment of 100,000 additional buyers under the pay roll savings plan. If this goal is achieved they estimate that it will result in a contribution of $2,500,000 toward the drive and a contribution of more than $20,000,000 to the government before the end of the year.

Ben Regan, executive secretary of the Illinois general salvage committee, said that Chicago's school children would be asked to begin a drive March 1 to collect enough scrap to build the new cruiser. Regan estimated that construction of the vessel would require 6,635,000 pounds of scrap.

NIGHT BOMBERS OF R.A.F. STRIKE AT NAZIS AGAIN

LONDON, Feb. 20 [Saturday]—(AP).—R. A. F. bombers returned to Germany last night for the 13th night raid on the reich this month, it was authoritatively announced early today. The targets were not immediately identified.

The R. A. F. delivered a heavy cargo of block busters on the Wilhelmshaven U-boat base and shipyards Thursday night.

Bombs spread "a carpet of fire" all over the docks of Wilhemshaven, one returning pilot said.

The air ministry said Ventura bombers, with a fighter escort, attacked the docks at Den Helder, Holland, yesterday and started large fires. One fighter failed to return.

The 8th United States air force announced 24 German fighters had been destroyed by Flying Fortresses and Liberators in the Americans' last two daylight bombing missions, at Dunkirk Feb. 15 and at St. Nazaire Feb. 16, against a loss of eight bombers.

Report 4 More Czechs Doomed to Die by Nazis

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP).—Four more Czechs have been sentenced to death in their homeland on a charge of organizing and carrying on propaganda for "the illegal Czech movement of resistance" against Nazi domination, a Reuters dispatch from Zurich said today.

BRITAIN'S LABOR PARTY REFUSES UNITY WITH REDS

Communists Berated Over International.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The national executive committee of the Labor party today replied with a categorical "no" to an official application that the Communist party be accepted as an affiliated organization. In a statement issued from Transport House, where Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin held forth before joining the government, the labor committee stated that affiliation would be impossible for, despite the assurance from Harry Polett, secretary of the Communist party, that it is "fully prepared to accept all obligations entailed by affiliation" the Communist party is not in position to implement that promise.

The fundamental weakness, the statement continued, of the promise is the fact that the "primary loyalty of the Communist party of Great Britain, which officially describes itself as 'the British section of the Communist international,' is to the Communist international."

Quotes Rules of the International.

It then quoted the constitution and rules of the Communist international, showing that any decision taken by "the congress of the Communist international, by the congresses of the respective sections, or by leading committees of the comintern and of its various sections must be unreservedly carried out. . . ."

The Labor party statement then went on to say: "It is plain that in any conflict of view or policy between the British Labor party and the Communist international, the view of the latter body would prevail as far as the British Communist party is concerned."

It then berated the Communists, saying that "the advantages which the Communist party would enjoy if its application were accepted" would be "access to every Labor party meeting and conference. . . .

"The Communist party has factions and cells and cliques wherever they can be formed and, as the labor movement is historically aware, their work always is disruptive."

Cites Difference in Aims.

Rejection of affiliation was prompted "because of the Communist party's complete irresponsibility in British politics and the general outlook, which is entirely out of harmony with the philosophy and objectives of the Labor party."

Regardless of this, the Labor party expressed a belief in the "closest possible friendship with the soviet union" and expressed a wish that the "peoples and their country and ours work together in the cause of expanding human happiness."

DENY PRELATE PLANS TRIP BY POPE TO BRAZIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 19.—A published story that Archbishop Francis J. Spellman was en route to Rome to arrange for removal of Pope Pius to Brazil was called a hoax today at the chancery office.

The story, appearing in today's Brooklyn Eagle, was written by Michael Williams, former editor of The Commonweal, a review of religion and world affairs. He maintained Archbishop Spellman was to act as "chief liaison agent between Pope Pius XII. and the governments of certain nations that would be interested." He said the trip probably would be made by plane or submarine and that Lisbon seemed likely as the first stop.

A priest at St. Patrick's cathedral advanced another possible reason for the trip to the Vatican.

"The archbishop has been very much concerned about the capture of a large number of American Jesuits when the Japanese invaded the Philippines," he said. "I believe he went to Rome to discuss their safety with the pope."

Rains Delay Flight to Rome.

BARCELONA, Spain, Feb. 19 (AP).—Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York postponed his departure by plane for Vatican City today because of rain and windstorms.

OIL MAN OFFERS METHOD TO END RATIONING HERE

Probers Hear Both Sides in Fuel Controversy.

sociation, promised to supply evidence at today's session that dealers and consumers thruout the midwest, including Detroit, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Louis, and Kansas City, are complaining bitterly.

Issue Drawn in Testimony.

Thus testimony at the hearing fell into two parts—that of the OPA officials who asserted that rationing is working and satisfactory except in isolated cases and that of the oil men and consumers who asserted that it is unworkable, brings suffering, and should be changed.

Majewski asserted that Miles was right about the supply of oil in the middle west. He pointed out that district No. 2, consisting of 15 midwestern states, is supplying an enormous territory. In these states, he said, 1,150,000 barrels a day are being refined, 45 per cent of it in the Chicago area.

He said that too much gasoline is being processed. In the less than three months that gasoline rationing has been in effect in the middle west, he said, almost 8,000,000 barrels—336,000,000 gallons—of surplus gasoline has accumulated in this district and is now being stored by refiners.

"It never should have been refined," he said, "and it never would have been if the refiners could get half a cent a gallon more for crude oil."

Adequate Flow for War.

He then proposed to decrease the yield of gasoline from each barrel of crude from 41.5 per cent to 38.3 per cent. He said such a move, besides making fuel oil rationing unnecessary in 15 midwestern states, would supply enough oil so that the flow for winning the war and relieving the suffering east would not be interrupted.

Majewski told the committee that if his plan for increasing the supply of oil by processing less gasoline—which isn't needed under rationing anyway—and more oil, which is sorely needed now, were put into effect, oil users could have at least 80 per cent as much oil as they burned last year.

"No rationing would be necessary then," he concluded. "It's a good plan. All the people I know would be willing to spend half a cent a gallon more to keep warm and get rid of rationing. I tried to sell the plan to Leon Henderson, but he wouldn't listen. Now I'm trying to convince Prentiss Brown, who took Henderson's place."

Henderson Men Around Brown.

Searcy asked how that was going. Majewski smiled:

"O, Brown is still surrounded with Henderson's theorists," he replied. "You've got to give him time to get oriented first."

When Mr. Miles of the Standard Oil company said he knew of no shortage in this area, Sen. Walker Butler [R., Chicago] asked why the small home owners should have been cut so severely by the rationers.

"I've questioned that myself for a long time," Miles replied. "They could have accomplished everything they wished without all the trouble they've caused. The coupon system will have to be modified, whatever else they do about rationing."

Dean said rationing of fuel oil was necessary here because of military and added industrial needs. He said 95 per cent of the fuel oil requirements of the eastern seaboard formerly went there in tankers, but that it now must go by rail because of the menace of U-boats.

"We are sending to the east only 800,000 barrels a day," he said. "We need 1,500,000 barrels. Therefore, we must move it from the middle west instead of from Oklahoma and Texas, as heretofore.

"The oil situation is perilous all along the eastern seaboard. It is a catastrophe which stems from the battle of the Atlantic."

Asserts Voluntary Plans Fail.

"Why couldn't rationing be voluntary?" Searcy asked. "Surely the American people can be trusted to do their best to win the war."

"The rationing situation is strewn with the wrecks of voluntary plans," Dean replied. "It was tried in the east before gasoline rationing was imposed. It didn't work."

Dean, a University of Chicago professor before joining the OPA, admitted his incompetency when he took over the rationing job.

"I knew nothing about heating or fuel oil," he said. "Because of my own incompetency I obtained the best brains in the fuel oil industry to act as an advisory panel in working out the rationing system."

At this point Spencer, head of the Chicago distributors, said:

"You didn't get anybody from the middle west."

When Dean said Chicago was almost alone in complaining about rationing as imposed Spencer said he would bring his evidence of its breakdown thruout this section to the committee today.

Asserts People Will Coöperate.

Sen. Nicholas Hubbard [D., Mount Pulaski] interposed:

"People of the middle west would be glad to accept rationing if you would give them facts and figures proving it is necessary. They will do anything to win the war, but they're entitled to information from Washington."

Stegan, an assistant to Raymond S. McKeough, regional administrator for OPA, said his office had received only 41 complaints outside of Chicago in Illinois. He added that 697,561 persons were subjected to fuel oil rationing in the state.

Mulcahy, first witness, gave similar testimony. He said of 251,529 rationed for fuel oil in the metropolitan area, only 328 filed formal appeals from local board decisions.

"My responsibility lies in administering the rationing order as it is laid down in Washington," Mulcahy said. He added he has asked for a 15 per cent increase in rations in the Chicago area because of the unusually cold weather here this year.

The committee will go into session again at 10 o'clock this morning.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, Feb. 19.—The recent signing of a contract between the Peruvian ministry of finance and the United States Defense Supplies corporation for construction of airports thruout eastern Peru and the assignment of aircraft for transport use in the development of the rubber program, are expected to increase greatly the speed at which huge wild rubber areas east of the Andes are being rehabilitated for exploitation after a lapse of nearly 30 years.

Private Companies Formed.

The first of several Catalina flying boats to be employed in transport of technicians, other workmen, and supplies across the Andes from the Pacific coast to the western Amazon region has arrived at the petroleum port of Talara, and is expected to make exploratory flights within a few days to Iquitos, and other points in eastern Peru. The Andes crossing in the northern section of Peru can be made at 12,000 feet while east of Lima the range rises to 15,000 and 16,000 feet.

Up-river planes from Para, Brazil, to Iquitos have been arriving regularly at the latter port loaded with essential supplies for rubber gatherers. The Pacific coast-Amazon hookup will supplement the work now under way on a larger scale from the Brazilian side. Several private companies were formed recently in Lima to work long abandoned wild rubber areas and there is a growing enthusiasm regarding the immediate possibilities of stepping up production this year to one or two thousand tons.

Roads to Rubber.

Meanwhile, the Peruvian government is rushing work on highways of penetration into the forest country of the Madre de Dios, Huallaga, Ucayali, and Maranon rivers. At the same time the inter-American public health service, staffed by American and Peruvian physicians and nurses, is completing construction of a dozen or more hospitals and medical stations at strategic points thruout eastern Peru.

The new Goodyear tire factory being erected near Lima will go into production in July, having been allotted 428 tons of rubber under the United States-Peruvian agreement. It is estimated that the production of this factory with this allotment will be something over 25,000 tires and 15,000 inner tubes in a year, sufficient to supply Peru's essential requirements.

Teachers' Union Ratifies Removal of Its Secretary

Ouster of Kermit Eby, executive secretary of the Chicago Teachers' union for the last five years, which was voted two weeks ago by the executive board of the union, was formally ratified last night by the union's house of representatives. The ratification vote was 89 to 78, Ira S. Turley, president of the union, said. The executive secretary's ouster was based on charges that he had been insubordinate and had at times used his office in the union to further his personal political leanings.

CHAPTER 28.
BLACKMAILER.

Miss Silver had a moment's indecision as to whether it would not now be better to retrace her footsteps, when she heard something which translated her from the rôle of private gentlewoman to that of private detective.

What she heard was William Shepherd, the gardener, talking to Florrie, the maid, saying urgently:

"If you know who done it, Florrie, you did ought to tell."

Florrie giggled.

"I'm not saying what I know, and I'm not telling neither, so there!"

"Then you shouldn't go hinting the way you been doing."

"Who's been hinting?"

"You have, and well you know it, and if you don't mind out, your tongue'll be getting you into trouble one of these days."

Florrie giggled again.

"O, will it?"

"Yes, it will. And you'd better shut your mouth on it and keep it shut, or you'll be sorry.

"If you got anything to say, you say it right out and ha' done, or you'll be getting trouble for your pains like I said."

Florrie giggled and whispered:

"Suppose I was to get money. There's some people that'd pay proper for me to keep my hints to myself."

"What are you talking about?"

Her voice teased him.

"Wouldn't you just like to know! Money—that's what I'm talking about. A word here and a word there, and maybe they'll bring me in a nice bit of money—enough to make you sit up and take a bit of notice. What'd you say to a hundred pounds?"

What William would have said can only be guessed at. From the distance Mrs. Dean could be heard calling Florie with acerbity.

"Florrie! Florrie! Where have you got to? It don't take half an hour to empty the potato peelings, does it?"

Florrie giggled.

"There she goes! I'll be out tomorrow for my evening. Maybe I'll meet you, and maybe I'll have something in my pocket—there's no saying."

Miss Silver stood where she was. Mrs. Dean called again. Florrie rustled away. William Shepherd pushed thru on to the path and went down it, passing so near that she could have touched him.

When all the sounds had died, she made her way back to the drive and so to the front door.

After a time spent in thought she proceeded to the study and, finding it empty, called up Randal March.

"I have some information for you, and I think we had better speak French."

This opening, delivered in the stiff grammatical French of his schoolroom days, roused him from the pleasant half hour of relaxation which he had intended to take before allowing his mind to dwell upon the Priory murder. He replied readily, but with that indomitable British accent which exemplifies the ability of the English to withstand foreign influences.

"I do not wish to incur any further censure for withholding evidence, so I think I had better communicate a conversation which I have just overheard. Just a moment first, if you please."

She laid down the receiver and went noiselessly to the door and opened it. The wide passage was empty. With an approving nod she closed the door and returned to the telephone.

"Yes, that is quite all right. I thought I would just make sure that we could speak privately. Now I will tell you what I overheard."

When she had repeated Florrie's conversation with William Shepherd she said soberly, "I do not know what to think about it, but it appears to me that this girl may be in danger. It is a very risky thing to blackmail a murderer, and she is the light, silly type who takes a risk thru ignorance and vanity."

There was a pause.

March said, "Have you spoken to her? Does she know that she was overheard?"

"O, no. I would not take such a step without letting you know."

Ten miles away the superintendent smiled. His Miss Silver had taken more important steps than this without informing the police. Her virtue amused him. At the same time he knew it to be an index of her concern.

He said, "Would you like to see her?"

Miss Silver coughed.

"I do not think so. She would not tell me anything I know her type. She would not talk to a woman, tho she might to a man. It is the same girl who brought you the fragments of the shawl. I do not know whether you observed her."

"Not particularly."

Her voice became severe.

"You should have done so. She was making eyes at you. Her manner to me was pert. She is that type. It would be useless for me to speak to her, but with your approval I will endeavor to caution her indirectly. She will be helping the butler at dinner tonight as the other girl is out, and if I could bring the conversation to the subject of blackmail, it might be possible to frighten her from pursuing a very dangerous course. I should also have the opportunity of observing the reactions of other members of the party. In fact, the whole thing might prove instructive."

Randal March didn't see how it could do any harm. He said so, and Miss Silver rang off.

Passing thru the hall, she encountered Carey Desborough and requested a word with him. As voices could be heard from the drawing room which he had just left, she opened the door of Tanis Lyle's sitting-room and took him in there.

"Will you do something for me, Mr. Desborough?" she said. "It is really quite a small thing, but I should be glad of your coöperation."

He said, "Will you tell me what it is?" and saw her smile.

"You are cautious, Mr. Desborough—have you any Scottish blood? It is really quite a small matter. I should be glad if you would assist me to introduce the subject of blackmail at dinner tonight."

He was considerably startled, and showed it.

"Miss Silver!"

She came closer to him and said, dropping her voice, "Has any one been trying to blackmail you — or Miss Laura?"

"Not me," Carey said. "I'd have gone to the police—it's the only way with blackmail. And not Laura. She would have told me."

Miss Silver nodded.

"Some one in this house is blackmailing, and some one is being blackmailed. That is why I want to talk about blackmail at dinner tonight. Will you help me?"

He hesitated for a moment. Then he said, "I don't like it very much."

Miss Silver looked at him with gravity.

"I do not like it at all, pray believe that. But, Mr. Desborough, consider the situation. We have a murder here. A very foolish and ignorant person is now attempting to blackmail the murderer. Can you imagine anything more dangerous?"

"Frankly, no."

"The conversation in which I hope you will assist is intended to deter the blackmailer. If it has that effect it will be worth while."

Carey looked down the room. He wished that they could have talked anywhere else. It was so full of Tanis, and yet so empty. He remembered that he had loved her. And that the love was dead. And she was dead.

He said abruptly, "All right, I'll do it."

MR. WILLKIE PAYS A VISIT.

Mr. Willkie has been visiting in Chicago. He foregathered in a paneled room in one of the local clubs with a group of gentlemen, of minor or nonexistent political influence, but otherwise estimable. His story and theirs was that they had gathered merely to hear his views on world affairs, presumably formulated on that epochal tour in which he kissed his way around the world from barmaid to ballerina.

The rubber stamp press, however, read deep political significance into the affair, announcing that Mr. Willkie is going to challenge the Republican organization in Illinois, enter his name in the primary, presumably as a candidate for President, a year hence, and fight it out with Gov. Green, Sen. Brooks, and all the rest of the Illinois Republicans.

The manner in which Mr. Willkie clings to the contention that he is a Republican verges on the pathetic. His other views and, as he demonstrated on a historic occasion, his statement of those views may shift with the wind, but he clings to the assertion that, if not a lifelong Republican, he has at least been one since he gave up his affiliation with Tammany Hall. As a pseudo-Republican Mr. Willkie calculates that with the aid of three eastern owned newspapers and a pot of Wall street dough he can take the Republican party in Illinois away from the Republicans and deliver it, bound, gagged, and helpless, to the New Dealers.

Poor Mr. Willkie seems to overlook the fact that his trick was tried a year ago, when a candidate espousing the same principles that he claims—at the moment—tried just what he proposes, got the support of the carpetbag and mortgage tied press, and was overwhelmingly defeated. Mr. Wright, in fact, had a considerable advantage over Mr. Willkie, that of presumptive honesty. Mr. Wright had never dismissed his solemn promises to the voters as campaign oratory.

The laws under which candidates may enroll themselves in party primaries in this state are extremely broad, so members of the party should not feel unduly affronted at Mr. Willkie's pretension to Republicanism. They should rather welcome his entry. It is stretching matters, perhaps, to call him a menace to the Republican party, but he certainly qualifies as a nuisance, and there is no surer method of abating that nuisance, both locally and in the nation, than to give the Republican voters of Illinois a crack at him.

JUSTICE FOR THUGS.

As Illinois law now stands, a man or gang of men may beat a victim within an inch of his life, put him in a hospital for weeks, and so long as they are careful to use only their fists and boots, and to avoid mayhem, the worst punishment that can be inflicted on them is a fine of $100.

As a representative of the Chicago Crime commission told the legislature, there is no distinction in the present law between a drunk's motiveless punch on the nose and a merciless beating by a professional thug. If, after arduous investigation and prosecution, a conviction is had against one of these goons, he merely pays the fine and enters it on his expense account.

This deficiency in the laws has been brought to public attention repeatedly in the last year or so. Not always have the outrages been committed in the name of union labor. In the Keeshin-Borrelli case it was the union members who were slugged, and it was only thru a dubious charge of conspiracy that the offenders were made to face a penalty at all adequate for the offense.

Rep. Alan E. Ashcraft Jr. of Evanston has introduced two bills in the legislature to close this gap in public defenses left by changing social conditions. The penalty for unpremeditated assaults is not disturbed, but where a "premeditated design" is proved, the thug may be sent to prison for from 1 to 14 years. If he carries a deadly weapon to cow his victim or has armed accomplices he may be sentenced to from one year to life.

It is hard to see how any reputable supporter of union labor can oppose the bills. To do so is to confess that unions cannot operate without the support of goons to terrorize the public and their own dissident members.

DRESS-UP SOLDIERS.

The indulgence of the administration toward gentlemen who fancy army and navy uniforms so that they may cut a dashing figure without braving shot and shell has been noted before. There is, among others, Lt. Comm. Walter Winchell, the John Paul Jones of fiery waters in the Stork club bar, who was saved from deserved court martial for his disrespectful remarks about congress by retirement to inactive status. His army counterpart seems to be Lt. Col. Darryl F. Zanuck, the intrepid warrior of the Hollywood sound stages.

Col. Zanuck came to the attention of the senate Truman committee when it was discovered that he is drawing $5,000 a week salary from 20th Century-Fox Film corporation while on active duty as adviser to the motion picture division of the army signal corps. There does not appear to be any good reason why Col. Zanuck, if in demand by the army, could not perform his duties in the usual Hollywood uniform of an open throat Hawaiian print blouse, slacks, and sandals, but he seems to prefer khaki and silver oak leaves.

Col. Zanuck's earning capacity on the side probably exceeds that of Lt. Comm. Winchell, altho that Broadway sea dog does right pretty, what with his slander hour on the radio and his syndicated prattle about the global aspects of the love life of night club hat check girls. Col. Zanuck also comes out ahead by another standard of comparison. He was one of that select company that attended the Harry Hopkins dinner—a free party, or one free party, that Lt. Comm. Winchell missed. The parallel need perhaps not be extended further. Suffice it to say that neither the lieutenant colonel nor the lieutenant commander so far has been forced to dip into his iron rations.

The New Deal has not only humored but studiously protected these and other toy soldiers and tin sailors, altho Mr. Winchell finally made it impossible for his patrons to keep him any longer in uniform. When the Truman committee sought to learn further details of Col. Zanuck's military activities from Lt. Col. John H. Amen, who has investigated the army's training film program, Col. Amen remained mute upon orders of Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson, who had directed him not to testify.

Col. Amen cannot be blamed for carrying out orders, but the Truman committee may wonder by what means Undersecretary Patterson presumes to justify his interference with a congressional investigating committee. It might be that the situation calls for Mr. Patterson to be haled before the bar of the senate to ascertain whether he stands in contempt of that body.

HELP FROM CANADA.

The statement of Leighton McCarthy, Canadian minister to the United States, that Canada rushed a large quantity of Bren guns to an American outpost in the Pacific just after the attack on Pearl Harbor is very revealing. It shows on the one hand what kind of planning for war we were getting from Washington when we had to turn to a neighbor for a primary weapon, and on the other what kind of club Mr. Roosevelt was carrying when he was talking tough to the Germans and the Japs. Apparently the iron hand carried a velvet billy, padded.

We had started to convert our industries to war shortly after the fall of France in June, 1940. By October, 1940, we had begun to build up our small peace time army. By March, 1941, when we adopted lend-lease, the citizen would have thought that we were already producing so much that we could not only equip our own great army but had a surplus to give away. But when the blow fell on Dec. 7, 1941, we had so little with which to fight that we could neither hold nor relieve the Philippines, while, as has since been confessed, the Japs, if they had known our real weakness, might easily have seized Hawaii.

We had to turn to Canada for anything that we could get that could be used against enemy aircraft or against an invading force. Washington, by all the evidence, had written off just about everything in the Pacific except Hawaii as hopeless, and were striving frantically to hold Hawaii for fear the Japs would catch on. The Bren gun, for the purposes sought, is not the best of weapons. As an anti-aircraft gun it has no very great ceiling, while for flat fire it is excelled by other automatic weapons. But the fact remains that we could lay our hands on this gun and were glad to get it.

At the time of Pearl Harbor we were badly out of balance as between the number of men in the army and the equipment provided for them. For that matter, the constant shifts in the war production program since then indicate that we have tried to do too much too fast to strike any right balance. We have built up vast accumulations of small arms ammunition, for example, while lagging in the production of escort vessels. We get overloaded with tanks and discover that as long as we keep on building them we can't get enough armor plate for warships. It has been much the same all the way down the line. The planners do plenty of planning, but none of it well.

Meanwhile Canada, which both before and after Pearl Harbor has shown much less tendency than Washington to be stampeded into hysterical action, has gone along sensibly and surely, equipping the divisions and air components it has been able to train, and still having a surplus of weapons left over. The Canadians have achieved balance in their program. They haven't trained men they can't transport, and they haven't transported men they can't arm. They are getting along so nicely, in fact, that they are now talking about establishing a lend-lease program of their own to distribute a billion dollars' worth of war materials they think might be usefully employed by other nations.

AMERICANS COME LAST.

In a recent appearance before a senate committee, Rear Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the maritime commission, said that tankers were to be allocated in the following order: First, to the army and navy; second, to Great Britain; third, to South American countries; fourth, to Central American countries; fifth, to Canada, and sixth, to provide for essential domestic needs.

Everybody agrees that the army and navy are entitled to priority in tankers, food, clothing, or anything else. But few Americans will agree with the rest of Adm. Land's list. He puts his own country last, and then only will give it consideration on proved need. Has he thought to inquire whether the needs of Britain or the South American nations, for example, are always essential? Has he asked whether these needs are more essential than our own needs? He does not say so.

Tankers are one item among many. Runs to the eastern seaboard originally were cut off when Secretary Knox and his office admirals proved unable to stop the slaughter by U-boats. Gasoline and fuel oil rationing had to be introduced on the east coast as a consequence, whereupon the crybaby mayor of New York and others like him set up such a piteous cry that the same hardships were imposed upon the rest of the country. Tankers are still the most eagerly sought victims of submarines. Whether they are moving to Britain, Latin America, or Canada, they must be moving under naval protection. If they can move safely to these places, there is no reason why they cannot move in the same safety to our ports. No reason, that is, except that Americans come last with this government.

U. S. CENSORS IN BRITAIN.

[Richmond, Va., News Leader.]

How far are American censors in Britain going in their work of saying what is and is not to be transmitted to the United States? The question has been asked many times by press associations which have been compelled to clear thru American censorship in London all news from North Africa that could not be sent on the overcrowded Gibraltar cable. Now the question takes a different form. Are British newspapers being censored for American eyes? Yesterday the News Leader received thru regular mail channels its copy of the London Times for Jan. 9. The paper was in its usual wrapper, properly stenciled. We are quite sure the wrapper had not been disturbed; but on the back was a circular stamp, "U. S. censorship examined." The central space for the individual censor's mark was carefully filled with the censor's number—5082. It is possible, of course, that thru ignorance or inexperience the censor was wasting time in applying his stamp and writing his number on a newspaper in a publisher's wrapper which he did not break. On the other hand, if the censors are under instructions to examine all publications, and to exclude those that are deemed improper, the American public should be so informed. Are we to believe that Americans are not to be told even as much as appears in British newspapers? We cannot credit the evidence before our eyes.

MR. PEPYS IN THE ICE AGE.

20th Feb.—Now that the ice age has passed and I can walk about without fear of ending in an X-ray laboratory, have been stepping out in lively style and thus restoring my diminished state of health. Have heard the crop of broken bones in Chicago is larger this winter than ever, and do not wonder at it. Had one fall myself as I shuffled over the glaciers, but came up smiling.

Nearly broke a finger, however, by hitting it with my own knee, and have been showing it, all swollen and black and blue, with pride because such a thing could only happen to an eccentric character and then once in a lifetime. I did that to myself while rolling over in bed!

Went to see Mr. Ryerson's collection of old Chicago printing and pictures in the gallery of the Lakeside Press, and found much of interest to a historian, finely displayed. Then walked in that neighborhood, which had been a region of many mansions, and found it looking like the scene of an old war. Much of the finest street in town in the 1880s and 1890s has been blighted into vacancy.

Attended the opening of Burton Holmes' 50th season of travel lectures and admired the way he said gayly, "This is not the last." In normal times there should be triumphal arches, and bell ringing, and dancing in the streets, and fireworks by night over such an achievement, but Burton himself forbade such carryings-on, of which there had been talk. Have known him and sat under him for 40 of his 50 professional years, and I think a medal should be struck off to commemorate his golden jubilee.

Thought I felt a hint of distant spring in the air the other day, but feared to mention it because the ground hog is a tricky animal.

TRAIN TO GREAT LAKES.

The morning trains are bright, and as the wheels
Dissolve the miles and bring fond meeting near,
Each mother guards the package that conceals
Small gifts of cookies and the things of cheer.
But, coming home, the crowded coaches bear
Sad, silent families that strive to hide
The anxious thoughts, the blurring eyes that stare
Unseeing at the darkened countryside.
O, troubled hearts, take comfort! Day shall break
And shadows flee away before the sun.
The dawn of victory shall soon awake
And bring a morn when partings all are done.
Yet but a little while, and peace abides
To prove the glory that the darkness hides.

Quizzicuss.

Let's Talk About Windows.

We take a lot of trouble to put windows in houses because we want fresh air. After the windows are put in we do everything we can to keep fresh air out, because it creates drafts. We start by installing weather stripping, but this is only partly successful, and to be doubly sure fresh air is excluded we install storm windows. There are fresh air vents in the storm windows, but these we mostly keep closed.

Windows are also intended to admit sunshine and light, but we soon fix that. We start by putting up window shades, which cover half the windows; next glass curtains which cover the whole window; drapes keep out more light, and Venetian blinds cover up the whole business. Really amazing, isn't it?

The next purpose of windows is to look thru them—if you can find an uncovered spot. In winter we look thru the windows to see who is going where, and what she is wearing, and in summer we look for the same reason, except that we want to see what she might have worn.

Naturally, we want to do all the looking from the inside. No one is to look thru the windows at us. You know what people are called who peek thru windows, and what happens to them. The police are called and they are slapped in the jug, even tho we had also looked at them from the inside, out.

So I favor the new windowless buildings, or the one-way windows, thru which we can see, but no one can see us.

Roy Engel.

YANK IN ALABAMA.

Marching, I study this new world about me:
The crimson clay, the clapboard cabins tucked away
Beneath green chinaberry trees; magnolias; a spray
Of bittersweet bright, and cypress heavily
Masked with the moss of Spain. The odor of musk
And a swamp bird's cry in the blue-black dusk.
(I think of my native Illinois fields,
The soil thick and black, and the seas of corn,
And the scent of new hay that the west wind yields.)
Marching, I hear now the music of trees—
The resilient pines, set like bows to the winds,
Sound a symphony ceaseless—sweet night violins
Imperceptible, dominant, redolent! These
Are the songs of the earth, and each ancient refrain
Stirs within me the songs that too long have lain.
(O, the thunder of endless waves that break,
And the sound of a laboring ore boat bound
For the Mackinac straits of the blue Great Lakes!)
Resting, I lie with the earth at my back,
The soft sands still warm, and the men and the guns
Deceived by the gold-and-green spatter that runs
In a moonlighted leaf-pattern under the track
Of the Pleiades. Low are the stars, laced like pearls
On the new velvet gown that night slowly unfurls.
(I surrender my dreams now, I take up my pack,
Unfinished the long march, and unfinished my song—
But remember, remember me! I shall come back!)

THE CHRONIC COLD MAY MEAN ALLERGY.

THE youngster who presents signs of a constant cold deserves help. The air passages may be stopped up most of the time, and there may be a profuse watery discharge with periodic attacks of sneezing.

What is the trouble? The cause is encompassed in a single word—allergy. A sensitivity will probably be found in one or both parents. In the beginning, the child will merely manifest itching. Later, comes the acute seizure which includes a plentiful outpouring of mucus. The lining of the airways will be pale and swollen, and if the exudate is inspected under the microscope, a large number of white blood cells [eosinophiles] will be seen.

Now, the fate of these little ones, as a rule, is an unhappy one unless prompt relief is forthcoming. First of all, we wish to prevent sinus involvement. This means that the family must assist the physician in locating the offenders. If the culprit can be identified, vaccines will be of value. Furthermore, every effort will need to be made to banish irritants from the household.

A well trained nose specialist should be consulted. Occasionally, the removal of tonsils and adenoids will be followed by marked benefit. The presence of diseased lymph tissue will aggravate almost any nasal difficulty. Now and then nodules will be observed on the back of the throat. It is just as important to get rid of these as it is larger masses. If plaques are encountered, the electrocautery may be employed.

Usually the trial and error method must be relied upon for the recognition of foods, dust, or whatever is responsible. Just a few weeks ago a mother brought her 2 year old son to the pediatric clinic. She explained that he had begun to dig and scratch his nose. It didn't take long to discover that he was sensitive to wool. When fuzzy undergarments were replaced with heavy cotton, all symptoms ceased. The nostrils, hitherto bright red, resumed their normal shade.

It is important to get ahead of the difficulty as soon as possible. Otherwise growth and development will most certainly be interfered with. Sometimes, because the sinuses are imperfectly ventilated, the contour of the face will be changed. In other instances, the chest will show a substantial amount of deformity, exhibiting the "pigeonbreast" so characteristic of rickets.

Unless something is done, by the time the lad has reached the age of 12 he may be a year or two behind his playmates. When we consider the unhappiness which results we can blame almost anything on this form of allergy. It can affect behavior, disposition, even character.

Finally, we must not forget that many of these sufferers will be far more susceptible to infections. Germs will lodge on inflamed mucous surfaces and create no end of havoc. Thus, afflicted children will be more subject to bronchitis even tho the original disorder is not complicated with asthma. It is not uncommon to find inflammation within the bronchial tubes settling down for a chronic stay. In such cases, if feasible, residence in a dry, warm climate will prove advantageous.

LUNG COLLAPSE.

W. P. writes: My 19 year old son writes that he has pneumothorax. What kind of a disease is this?

REPLY.

A slight tear or puncture in the pleura has allowed the lung to collapse. As nature heals the rent, air will absorb and the breathing apparatus will return to normal.

NO HALTER.

J. W. F. writes: Can the progress of cataracts be stopped by vitamins?

REPLY.

Probably not. Thousands of remedies have been applied to this purpose with but little success. These include potassium iodide, dionin, gland extracts, etc.

AN ARC.

R. A. writes: What causes a white edge on the iris?

REPLY.

This is called "arcus senilis." It is supposed to indicate advancing age. On the other hand, I have seen it in 40 year olds.

Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers on page 25.

1. A "mil" is a unit of measurement employed for which of these?
   Wire Milk Electricity Flour.
2. A person who talked about his chores would most likely be a Bricklayer Grocer Dentist Farmer.
3. Which one of these saws has the finest teeth?
   Hacksaw Ripsaw Crosscut Saw Buzz Saw.
4. The word "fricassee" should make you think of meat and Potatoes Gravy Dumplings Cranberries.
5. If you had a case of sciatica, you'd probably complain of pain in your Thigh Ear Liver Upper Arm.
6. Here is another analogy problem. You deserve one point for each correct judgment.
   [a] Fish : Bird : : Water : FOWL-LAND-AIR-LAKE.
   [b] Stag : Doe : : Bull : PONY-STEER-DEER-COW.
   [c] Good : Bad : : Zenith : NADIR-SUN-RADIO-SKY.
   [d] Bitter : Sweet : : Quinine : SOUR-SACCHARINE-LEMON-PERSIMMON.
   [e] Dreams : Morpheus : : Love : JUPITER-ATHENA-MERCURY-EROS.

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

MILITARY OBJECTIVE IN WASHINGTON

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON SETS THE EXAMPLE.

White Pigeon, Mich., Feb. 17.—I'd like to report another great victory in economy on the home front. The office of alien property custodian has just issued a brochure, "Patents at Work," which is about the swellest thing in the way of fine paper and printing that has been put out by any government bureau since the 1929 busted boom.

This brochure, so the New York City printer tells us, is printed in 18 point monotype Baskerville—type big enough for a billboard—and the book is designed by Joseph Feigley. The paper is about the same quality used for highest grade wedding stationery, and the cover is a two color job, beautiful blue lettering with a bright red star to set it off.

Just how much this job of government printing cost only a printing expert can tell, but it must have been a-plenty. I know one man who got three copies, and he didn't even want one. So there have been plenty printed. Even tho the cost came out of what the government will raise from the sale of foreign patents, any such extravagant use of fine paper, ink and man power at a time like this, by any government bureau, is an insult to business men and citizens generally who can't get the paper they need, and who are being constantly told that they must economize in using it.

In contrast with this government bureau report comes, in the same mail, the annual report of the First National bank of New York City, an institution operated not by government but by private enterprise. This report, of an institution with 10 millions of capital and more than $800,000,000 deposits, is printed on a slip of common book paper, 5½ by 7 inches. It's a grand government that takes its own advice.

LEON E. REED.

A SOLDIER ON WINCHELL.

Fort Sill, Okla., Feb. 15.—Added to my "People We Can Do Without" list is one Walter Winchell. This peddler of sensationalism wouldn't be missed by myself and millions of others.

Winchell talks of "free speech." If every one in the service would express himself as freely as this word wrangler, most of us would be in the guardhouse.

For myself, I believe I have enough intelligence to clearly see that this by-product of the New Deal is not contributing anything to America. What a privilege to be able to tune out this "hand lotion hawker!" A FORT SILL SOLDIER.

JOBS FOR OLDER WOMEN.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—"There is plenty of work for older women. Why, such and such a place is almost lassoing them as they go by the door." Or, "I knew of one who just went to file an application and she was put right to work."

Where are these places? If you are 35 or under, you get something. If you are over 70, you stand a good show. But if you are in between—no! DEPENDENT.

THE LAST MOHICAN.

Gary, Ind., Feb. 17.—Yes, people must do with less these days. Years ago, when a person wanted to hear something a little off color, he could tune in on Doc Brinkley or Old Man Henderson of Shreveport. Now there is only Winchell.

PETER DE FOE.

FINAL WORD ON THE SUBJECT.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Positively the best way to prolong the life of razor blades is to keep them hidden where the little woman cannot get at them for sharpening pencils or opening paper cartons.

KENNETH D. MCQUIGG.

ABSENTEEISM.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—I believe that 60 per cent of absenteeism in war industry is caused by the countless government agencies and their thousands of branches. They force thousands of defense workers to lay off work to come to some office or other just to answer a few silly questions.

Where I work, the majority of employes have fallen for the propaganda of calling a man "Hitler's helper" if he doesn't show up for work. I am an overseas veteran of World War I., and in a few days expect to be called "Hitler's helper" because I must lay off to visit my ration board and talk about tires that an authorized inspector recommended be recapped.

If the inspector's word is no good, then why should people be required to lay off work, which, according to crackpots, means helping Hitler, to get the tires examined at a cost of 25 cents and then have to lose another day in talking to the ration board about them? The best helpers that Hitler has are those working for the government who force people to stay home from their work just to answer a lot of unnecessary questions.

VETERAN.

NO MUSKRAT FOR HIM.

Lyndon, Ill., Feb. 11.—We read about the wonderful food the muskrat makes but no one tells the folks who eat them that 95 per cent of them are drowned.

I've trapped for 50 years and caught them by the thousands and I've yet to find a way to catch and hold them without drowning. As stated in the paper, millions are caught in Louisiana swamps where the temperature is 70 degrees or more and no doubt they lay in the traps 8 to 10 hours.

Where do the pure food laws come in? A farmer can't market as food a drowned hog or cow. No "marsh hares" for me at $1 a plate.

H. C. AHRENS.

THE BREADWINNER'S BREAD.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Winnie Winkle may be called a "breadwinner" but she certainly doesn't know how to slice it. I wonder if Mr. Branner tried to slice a loaf of bread the way he had Winnie doing it in the Feb. 16 cartoon, with the left hand on top of the loaf and the right hand crossed under the left hand, slicing the left end of the loaf? With all the talk about women slicing their own bread these days, he really shouldn't misguide us.

Also, I remember Min Gump having had a baby several years ago called Goliath. For goodness' sake, Mr. Edson, where is the poor kid?

G. PEURYE.

WILL HOPKINS BE THERE?

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 17.—Why the Democratic dinners on Washington's birthday at $25 to $100 a plate? It seems a bit out of order with our nation at war, with every one being urged to buy victory stamps and bonds with his money, and with the strict rationing program designed and executed by this same Democratic party to conserve food.

GRACE B. BOMAN.

DRESSED UP LIKE SOLDIERS.

Oak Park, Ill., Feb. 14.—The army has ruled that students in training at colleges for the armed service may not participate in intercollegiate athletics. They state soldiers will have no time for varsity teams. Then, how about the soldiers who have time to travel around the country in a well publicized theatrical troupe, entertaining the civilian population, and who are now out in Hollywood on location waiting to be shot by cameras? Shot for posterity, they say. What contribution are these soldiers making either to the successful prosecution of the war or to posterity?

If the army chiefs feel it is necessary to swell their relief fund in this way would not sports events be just as lucrative as an amateur Broadway musical comedy? If we cannot have one why permit the other? In fact, why not cut out all this nonsense, quit making a three ring circus out of the war and get down to the business of winning it? Either be a fighter or an entertainer, and if you're the latter you certainly don't need to get dressed up like a soldier.

K. M. STANTON.

THE FREEDOMS AT HOME.

Chicago Heights, Ill., Feb. 17.—Please accept my thanks for your editorial today, "The Supreme Court on Religious Liberty." Your splendid attitude reveals beyond the shadow of a doubt that you are for the people. Your stand on this subject of freedom of the press, speech, and religion is worthy of your splendid organization.

MRS. A. A. BACKIEL.

WILLING TO HELP.

Cicero, Ill., Feb. 17.—I read Mrs. Polansky's letter this morning about war work at home. Why not? I share her idea. With three small children needing me at home, I can't go out to help in a factory. But at home I can spare a few hours each day and yet not neglect them.

How about it? We mothers are willing to do our share.

STORE RENT.

Chicago, Feb. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I originally had a three year lease on the store which I rent. The lease expired April 30, 1939. For the past three years I have had a new landlord to whom I have paid the same rental I paid the former owner. 1. Was my lease automatically renewed? I have been told that stores do not come under OPA regulations. 2. Can the landlord raise my rent if he wishes?

T. V.

1. Where a tenant under a lease for a definite term holds over beyond the term and the landlord accepts additional rent, these circumstances, in the absence of other circumstances showing a contrary intent on the part of the landlord, result in a renewal by implication so that neither party can terminate the tenancy nor increase the rent during such renewal.

2. He cannot raise it during one of the renewal years.

WAVES Officers to Be Guests at Exmoor Club's Party Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE WAVES officers who are quartered in the Exmoor Country club's Baker cottage will have a real welcome to Chicago at the club's Washington's birthday party tonight. Army and navy officers stationed in this area also have been invited to the gathering, which was arranged by Harold McLain, head of the entertainment committee, and Jess Halsted, head of the club's war service committee.

Adm. and Mrs. John Downes, Capt. and Mrs. Emanuel A. Lofquist, Capt. Robert R. M. Emmet, who is the new commanding officer at Great Lakes; and Lt. Comm. and Mrs. Carl G. Olson are some of the navy officers who have accepted invitations. Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Olin H. Tongino and Lt. Col. L. E. Payne will be among those representing the army.

Some of those who are entertaining at dinner and dancing are Mr. and Mrs. Jerome P. Bowes Jr., the Francis M. Knights, Francis N. Bard, the Thomas Creighs, the Howell Murrays, and the Arthur Cruttendens. Baker cottage was opened to the WAVES on Feb. 1.

Ensign Lawrence Howe Weds in East Monday.

Plans for the marriage of Lawrence Howe Jr., son of Mrs. Howe of Winnetka, and Miss Ellen Gardner Vaughan, daughter of Samuel Vaughan of Pride's Crossing, Mass., crystalized suddenly when Mr. Howe received his commission as a pilot in the naval air corps in Florida yesterday. He departed at once for Pride's Crossing, where Mrs. Howe is joining him in time for the wedding on Monday.

Miss Vaughan's sister-in-law, Mrs. Samuel Vaughan Jr., the former Joan Revell, is to be among the bride's attendants. Ensign Howe's niece, Hester Delafield, daughter of Lt. and Mrs. Joseph L. Delafield of Princeton, N. J., will be flower girl. Richard Warren Howe, a Harvard student, will be his brother's best man, and Ensign Peter Dammann will be among the ushers. Ensign Howe's other two brothers are overseas. Ensign Howe hopes to have two weeks' leave before reporting for duty.

Beal-Phemister Wedding Is Taking Place Tonight.

Miss Mary Phemister, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dallas B. Phemister, and Dr. John M. Beal, son of Prof. and Mrs. John M. Beal of the University of Chicago, are being married at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the First Unitarian church, with a reception following at the Phemister residence. The Rev. Von Ogden Vogt will officiate. The bride will be attended by Mrs. James Wilson Button as matron of honor, and by Mrs. Emerson Woelffer, the former Emmy Lou Freund.

Hiram Lewis of Kansas City, a former Chicagoan, will be best man, and ushering will be the bride's brother, Bruce Phemister, a Harvard student; Dr. John S. Gordon Jr., and Lamont Cole. Dr. Beal and his bride will be at home in New York, where he is an assistant resident in the New York hospital.

Robert Spiels Making Home in Lake Forest.

The Robert Spiels have moved to Lake Forest to be nearer his post at the Great Lakes naval training station. Mr. Spiel was commissioned a lieutenant j. g. in the naval reserve in December.

Lt. Nelson L. Barnes has been enjoying a short reunion with his family and friends before leaving tomorrow for an eastern port to board the submarine chaser of which he will be in command. For the time being Mrs. Barnes will remain in Lake Forest while her husband is at sea.

Mrs. Paul Rowan is leaving on Monday for Norfolk, Va., to be with Mr. Rowan until he sails for the Canal Zone, where he will be stationed as a warrant officer in the navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase of Lake Forest became great-grandparents when the first child of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lee Jones was born on Feb. 11 in Bethlehem, Pa. Mrs. Preston Boyden was in Bethlehem to help welcome her first granddaughter.

Winter Sports Beckon Group to Wisconsin.

The W. Scott Linns, the John Doles, the James Forgans, Mr. and Mrs. J. McWilliams Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Connors, the John Winterbothams, and Mrs. John L. Cochran are packing up their ski togs and skates this week-end for a winter sports outing at Land o' Lakes, Wis., weather permitting.

The Frank R. Mortimers are entertaining at cocktails today so that their La Salle street neighbors may meet Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Culbertson II.

A play instead of the usual lecture will be presented to members of the Alliance Francaise at 11 o'clock this morning. The actors are Mrs. John G. McAllister, Mrs. Harry Dingman, Henri David, Alphonse Roche, and Marius Jean.

Parents and friends of the cadets at the Northwestern Military and Naval academy at Lake Geneva, Wis., have been invited to the academy's usual Washington's birthday party today. Winter sports, weather permitting; luncheon, and dancing are on the program.

Thru the Looking Glass

It's a chore these days trying to keep the skin supple and soft. Cold, biting winds work a mean vengeance on delicate skins and leave them dry and taut feeling, a perfect ground for encouraging lines and wrinkles. Constant vigilance is required to guard against ill effects, and a rich, emollient cream is needed to replenish the dry skin.

One of the nicest of these emollient creams is a delicately rose scented, pink cream, wonderfully rich in lubricating oils. It's not a heavy cream, but rather on the sirupy side and very easily absorbed. Not much of it is required to do the job and it's sheer waste to apply it too heavily. After the face is thoroly cleansed, smooth a thin film of it over the face, throat, and neck. Don't make the mistake of rubbing it in vigorously, but pat it in gently. Work it well all over the surface, paying particular attention to the areas that seem extra dry. Its soothing effect can be felt immediately and the taut feeling gives way to a smooth, relaxed skin, soft to the touch.

Such a cream cannot be used haphazardly. The harm that is done by neglecting dry skin cannot easily be repaired. It's much better to be constant about earing for it and warding off the dangerous dryness. A little care given each night will do much more good than an occasional, frantic session with a lubricating cream.

Teamed Fabrics Catch Eyes of Wise Shoppers

BY REA SEEGER.

Once again, the coördinated fabric collection is featured for spring wardrobe shoppers. It is especially timely for the increasing number of women who make their own clothes or those who have their clothes made by their own dressmaker. Selecting these beautiful coördinated fabrics assures against mistakes of color contrast or blending, for each piece has been especially dyed and matched to complement another.

There are smooth silklike materials in print and plain colors for dresses, and fascinating lengths of linenlike weaves in cotton for daytime tailored dresses and suits. And while the lighter shades are compelling now during the gray in-between days of a reluctantly departing winter, the smart blues, coppers, pewter grays, and a few dull blacks provide a good assortment for the present. What makes these carefully matched materials such a joy are the luscious colors and the splendid variety. There are lots of new printed designs, dots, squared off in outline; tiny florals, stunning all over effects, and so on.

Star attractions among the solid shades are the homespun weaves in two textures, rough and semi-rough, and the swank linen weaves. At least a dozen shades of brown ranging from beige to deep chestnut are available, and every tone blends flawlessly with each other.

Engagements Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Johansen of Beverly Hills announce the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn, to Robert Beach Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Palmer, also of Beverly Hills. Miss Johansen attended Morgan Park High school and Junior college and her fiancé attended Morgan Park Military academy.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Edward Morgan of Alamosa, Colo., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Martha Mary, to Francis J. Goodrich Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich of Newgard street. Miss Morgan was graduated from St. Mary's college at Notre Dame, Ind., and her fiancé attended Loyola university and the University of Illinois. He is in the naval reserve.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin B. Hodgson of Des Plaines announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Lou, to Jack A. MacKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. MacKenzie of South Shore drive. Miss Hodgson and Mr. MacKenzie are students at Drake university, where he is awaiting his call to the marines.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pollard of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty, to William Frederick Hein Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hein of Kildare avenue.

Metropolitan Opera Coming Here in March

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

The Metropolitan Opera Association, Inc., complete with singers, conductors, orchestra, and ballet, will play its first Chicago engagement in 33 years when it opens a two week season of 14 performances at the Civic Opera house Monday evening, March 22. The booking is made with the blessing of the Chicago Opera company, and Chicago Opera scenery and properties will be used, except for a few new productions, to be brought out from New York.

This is not a subscription venture, and is said to be without guarantee, except for the regular Saturday afternoon broadcasts sponsored by the Texas company, which will emanate from Chicago on March 27 and April 3. Box office prices will range from $2 to $6 opening night, and from $1.50 to $5 for subsequent performances.

This announcement, anticipated for weeks, was made yesterday after a conference with the Chicago Opera board of governors by Edward Johnson, general manager of the Metropolitan, who returned immediately to New York to complete arrangements for casts and repertory. Mr. Johnson was unwilling to discuss casts until they are definitely scheduled, but he said that operas to be given probably will include Mozart's "The Magic Flute" [in English], "Don Giovanni" and "The Marriage of Figaro," Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier," Moussorgsky's "Boris Godunoff," Verdi's "La Forza del Destino," either "Tristan and Isoide" or "Parsifal," and from the standard repertory, "Aida," "The Barber of Seville," "Carmen," "Faust," "Il Trovatore," and "La Boheme."

Conductors in charge of performances will include Bruno Walter, Thomas Beecham, George Szell, Erich Leinsdorf, and Cesare Sodero, the latter a successful newcomer to the Metropolitan, where he replaced Ettore Panizza. Mr. Sodero was brought to this country about 30 years ago by Oscar Hammerstein, and is credited with being the first man to put opera on the radio.

Long popular in Chicago as a favorite tenor in the most brilliant days of Chicago and Ravinia opera, Mr. Johnson said yesterday that the opportunity to bring the Metropolitan to Chicago marks the "crowning moment" of his life. He remembers Chicago as a great center of opera, and he believes it can be that again. To prove that this was not said entirely for effect, he declined to add "Louise" to the repertory, saying flatly it could not compare with the "Louise" Chicago once knew, the "Louise" of Mary Garden.

"We are coming on a shoestring," he insisted, "with nothing back of us but faith, good will, and sympathetic coöperation. We want to win Chicago's confidence with our best performances, not only to recapture the old audiences for opera, but also to draw the younger, potential audience encouraged to enjoy opera by radio, records, and schools."

This is the psychological moment for such a visit, added Mr. Johnson, an opportunity that might not occur again for years. It happened because Baltimore and Boston were forced to cancel their Metropolitan touring engagements, due to war conditions. This left the company with several weeks of unfilled booking. It has been arranged at the close of the New York season on March 13 to play an additional nonsubscription week. Then a jump to Chicago for two weeks, Cleveland for one week, New York for still another nonsubscription week, winding up Holy week with three performances of "Parsifal."

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

First Robin Note.

Even the beautiful wax dummies in the shop windows, those ladies always dressed in the height of fashion, have come to it. Josephine Antoine, Metropolitan opera soprano who commutes between New York and Chicago every week now to appear on a radio program, spotted a dummy who is the forerunner of things to come [if not of things already here]. She is in the window of a Michigan avenue dress shop and is a ravishing blonde, exquisitely attired, but one stocking has a run all the way up the front and the other has a rambling, home darn up one side.

Hail, Chicago.

The soldier hopped on the bus and asked the driver, "How much is the fare here?" The driver told him he could ride free of charge. "Why?" he asked. "O," the driver said casually. "It's a city rule. Free except at rush hours." At this the boy broke into profuse appreciation. "You know," he said, "Chicago is the best city in the world for service men to go to." With that he turned to face the people in the bus, stood at attention, and gave a snappy salute. "Thanks, folks," he called. "You're swell to us here."

Stubborn Man.

C. J. Hambro, president of the league of nations, was in town the other day. Mr. Hambro says the league is still working.

Rush Street Blues.

The tawdry, rather sad little night club façades on Rush street change hands, colors, and names so often that frequenters of the street take it all as a matter of course, but when the Hi-Hat club had its auction the other day, one passer-by was taken aback by the sign which was carried out and once again saw the light of day. It read:

Man Power Shortage.

Ted Sills went into a chain grocery in Barrington the other day and asked the 16 year old maiden behind the counter to give him a dozen limes. She looked at him in amazement, hesitated on the verge of a question, and disappeared into the back room. In a minute she reappeared carrying 12 lima beans. Diplomatically Mr. Sills said, "Not lima beans. Limes. They're a fruit. Green lemons." At this the clerk stiffened. With rallying loyalty to her firm, she said, "I'm sorry, sir, but all our lemons are ripe."

Conversation of the Day.

"My beau gave me his No. 17 shoe ration ticket. Wasn't that wonderful? Of course, it just means I'll have to give him my next one, but I did so want some navy blue shoes."

"That's nothing. My phone rang this morning, and a friend said, 'Guess what?' I said, 'What?' And she said, 'I've just got hold of some corned beef. Want to come over for dinner?' Do I?"

Good Morning!

KIND: Mediocre melodrama. The "City Without Men" is a prison town where live the women whose men are doing time in the adjacent penitentiary.

ACTING: There's much to be said for that. Particularly I want you to watch young Michael Duane, a newcomer, who plays the romantic lead opposite Linda Darnell. Handsome, without being purty, he turns in a sincere and intuitive performance that kept me silently rooting for him every minute he was in sight. Other fine players sadly wasted on the bla script are Glenda Farrell, Sheldon Leonard, Sara Allgood, Leslie Brooks, and Edgar Buchanan. Linda Darnell weeps and looks wistful and sweet—and doesn't do much notable acting.

DIRECTION: Not bad.

DIALOG: The same—omitting the "not."

STORY: Nancy Johnson follows her lover, unjustly convicted of crime, to the prison town and learns about other women in the same general boat as herself at Mrs. Barton's boarding house. . . . As well as about other matters that have to do with the existences of those who live within walls of stone and iron.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: D'ye know—I couldn't fine any!

See you tomorrow.

Music Study Club to Give Concert Version of Opera

The Music Study club of Chicago is presenting Walter Damrosch's opera, "The Man Without a Country," in concert version at its regular meeting for members and friends tomorrow afternoon in the Hotel La Salle. Edith Heffner Dobson made the concert arrangement to be used by the group and is directing the production. Among those singing important parts are Clyde Bessler, Gladys Reid, Harry Gaut, and Everett Clarke. James Bradley Griffin will be the narrator.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 19.—Fred MacMurray has done something for Jean Arthur that she knows nothing about—until she reads this. They needed a baby picture of Jean for an insert in "The More the Merrier," so Fred gave them one of his own, taken in a seashell! Sure, they used it. . . . Mark Hellinger and Jack Warner were doing handsprings after a sneak preview of Eddie Cantor in "Thank Your Lucky Stars." Cantor's hot as a firecracker, and another major studio is talking to him. . . . Lou Nova, who's been dying to act, gets a chance in the Kay Kyser picture. Metro's boasting so much about Kay you'd think it had discovered him and made him what he is today. Wouldn't Metro just love to say, "This is our Kay Kyser," like Paramount about Bob Hope!

Another Convert.

Za Su Pitts has an offer from Henry Duffy to do a revival of "The Bat" in Detroit, Philadelphia, and Boston. Little Mary Lebus, a Kentucky deb, who acted in Za Su's play, is acting as her stand-in. Za Su, who has traveled from coast to coast in her first stage play, is crazy about the theater and wants to return. . . . Phyllis Loughton [Mrs. George Seaton] is expecting an heir late this summer. She'll accompany George back to New York when he takes the completed script of "Song of Bernadette," which he did, for the approval of its author.

Ever Seen a Dream Walking?

I saw two dancing in "Lady in the Dark" — Ginger Rogers and Don Loper. If the camera records it as it happened, you'll be shouting, too. Set was a huge garden with a gold pergola at one end—gold horse and Jon Hall at the other. Bare trees without foliage and clouds covering the entire stage [made of dry ice and chemicals] and enveloping dancers to the knees made them look as tho they really were dancing on clouds—which they were. Before going into the number, watched Ginger put on her wig. First it was glued on, then pinned. Then I'll be darned if the bangs weren't sewed on with needle and thread. That's how we keep our girls looking beautiful from any position. There's been so much discussion about cost of picture. Its budget is $3,000,000. But when Barney Balaban saw some of it on the screen, he said, "They asked for escapist pictures. That is it." But the thing that's got them winging are those $5,000 sets. They'd completed one, but forgot about backdrop. Paint for it would have run the cost $600 more. They obeyed priority laws, so it cost them $2,500 extra to have women work four days, and applique velvet and satin on the backdrop. No ceiling on labor—just cost of material for the set. No wonder movie producers have ulcers!

A Better Spot.

Benny Rubin's radio show has become so important it's being moved to a Sunday spot. . . . In listening to Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, I gave myself a pat on the back for just being a woman. Her speech, in part, both in its simplicity and import, can stand with Lincoln's Gettysburg address. . . . Jack Douglas says the man who comes across with a new perfume called "Night scent in the chop house" or "Filet Mignon Mist" will make a fortune, now that those delightful odors are disappearing from our midst.

Chronic Fatigue Often Handicap to School Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Why is your child having trouble with his school work? Poor physical conditions, such as bad vision, poor hearing, other bodily difficulties, and chronic fatigue often result in poor school marks.

The doctor and teacher have to take care of the first three. The doctor to discover and remedy, the teacher to provide proper seating, lighting, or a change to a special class.

But the fourth factor is largely up to you. Putting aside a definite physical origin of fatigue, anemia for example, the cause and cure lie largely in your hands.

A tired child can't enjoy school work or do it well. In fact, a child who is always fatigued can't live with zest.

It may be that fatigue is the only thing the matter with your child. So look sharply at him and his days as they go and see what you think.

See how he reacts to the hours and activities that make up his day. Do some things tire him more than you think they should? Does he seem to need more rest? If so, deal with him accordingly instead of feeling "he should be able to stand this or that." Don't gauge him by some other child. What one can do with ease another can't always do.

The fact that husky Betsy can swing thru her strenuous day and be fresh as a daisy at night doesn't mean that your child can do the same. Maybe carefree, slightly stolid Jimmy across the street never "bats an eye" in the face of the most violent and long continued activity, but that doesn't mean that your son will or must. What Betsy and Jimmy can do is not necessarily a rule or standard for your child, altho we must have in mind a general picture of what normal activity and endurance consist of.

The point is that your child is an individual, physically as well as in other aspects of personality. He may be growing fast at the moment; she may be intense; either one may be making new adjustments. Or, your planning of their day may be wrong for them. Each is, in a measure, a law unto himself and your child, for some physical reason, may need more rest than others.

Vegetable Loaf Recipes Given Honor Mention

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

A vegetable loaf is a good dish to begin with when you're planning a meatless meal. We're presenting two you'll like in today's honorable mention awards. They were entered in the prize recipe contest and we'd be happy to get more such entries. Yours may be the winner of that $5 prize awarded daily.

This recipe contains lots of cheese to increase its protein content.

Cheese Spinach Loaf.

[Serves six.]

- 2 cups drained, cooked or canned spinach
- 1 cup milk
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 pound grated American cheese
- ½ teaspoon salt

Combine ingredients in the order listed and turn into greased loaf pan. Bake for about 45 minutes in a moderate [350 degrees] oven. MRS. THOMAS CARLYLE, 517 E. 4th street, Centralia, Ill.

Carrot Ring Soufflé.

[Serves six to eight.]

- 2 cups carrots
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- Dash of pepper
- 1 teaspoon salt

Cook carrots until tender, then press thru a coarse sieve or ricer. Melt butter in sauce pan and blend in flour until smooth. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add carrots, sugar, and well beaten eggs. Add seasonings and blend well. Turn into buttered ring mold and place in pan of hot water. Bake 1 hour in moderate [350 degrees] oven. Serve with creamed vegetable in center.

MISS OLIVIA SCHLANSER, 1512 Wabash avenue, Mattoon, Ill.

Dutch Cherry Cake.

- 2 cups sour red cherries
- 1½ cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¾ cup sugar
- ½ cup milk
- ¼ cup melted shortening
- 2 eggs, separated
- Confectioners' sugar

Drain cherries, saving juice. Sift flour with baking powder, salt, and ½ cup of the sugar. Combine milk, shortening and the beaten egg yolks. Add to dry ingredients all at once and beat until smooth. Fold in well drained cherries and the beaten egg whites into which remaining ¼ cup sugar has been beaten. Bake in 7x12 inch loaf pan in a moderate [350 degrees] oven. Cook cherry juice with cornstarch and sugar until thickened, and serve hot over cake. MRS. C. A. FLYM, 701 S. Elm street, Three Oaks, Mich.

Mrs. Luella Brush of Chesterton, Ind., has a tip which is worth passing on. Make use of the last bit of catsup or horseradish that clings to the side of the bottle this way: Add a few tablespoons of water and shake well. Use to flavor soups or pot roasts.

Mrs. Pekarsky to Speak Before Junior Hadassah

Mrs. Nell Ziff Pekarsky will speak this afternoon before a citywide meeting of Chicago Junior Hadassah in the Grand ballroom of the Hamilton hotel. Mrs. Pekarsky, a student of Jewish history, literature, and traditions, served for three years as national president of Junior Hadassah. The program will include a group of Hebrew and Palestinian songs by Carl Urstein. Mr. Urstein, born in Palestine, is a graduate of the Vienna Conservatory of Music.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

Whether or not to open an ace against a slam contract depends to a large degree upon the length of the suit the ace heads. If the suit is very long, six or seven cards, it goes without saying that there is grave risk that the ace will be ruffed by dummy or declarer. West, in today's hand, did not use much judgment in his opening lead selection.

South, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	2 diamonds	2 spades	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 spades	Pass	6 clubs	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

Obviously, the final contract was anything but good. North, in jumping to six clubs, failed to allow for "duplication of values," which South's heart bid practically guaranteed. Yet there was a certain amount of humor in the result.

West, convinced by his partner's double that East had at least one sure trick, hastened to cash his all-powerful ace. At least, that was his intention! Declarer ruffed the diamond ace, cashed the heart ace, discarding a spade, and ruffed a low heart. After returning to his hand with a trump, he ruffed another heart, West's king falling. A trump lead to the ace accounted for the outstanding trumps, and now declarer led the ten of spades. When West's queen appeared, declarer suddenly saw the light. Obviously, East had the spade ace for his double, hence there was no point in covering the queen. West was permitted to hold the trick and, since he was down to diamonds, had to lead into dummy's K-J. The finesse was taken and declarer got rid of both his losing spades. Finally, all he had to do was ruff his one losing heart to claim the rest of the tricks.

The amusing part was that West, with seven diamonds to the A-Q-10, took nary a diamond trick, while the dummy, with K-J-small, took two! Any other opening would have defeated the contract. The spade queen opening, indeed, would have meant a two trick defeat.

Style No. 2094 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires, for jumper, 2⅝ yards of 39 inch fabric or 1⅞ yards of 54 inch, with 1¼ yards of fringe; for blouse with three-quarter length sleeves, 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material; for short sleeved blouse, 1⅞ yards.

Each pattern cost 10 cents, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost.

Order Clotilde patterns from Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY. Print name and address; state size. Each pattern, 10 cents, plus 2 cents for mailing. The spring pattern book is 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with pattern.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Mrs. Walter C. Nye will be designated "the woman of the month" by the American Women's Voluntary Services today at 12:30 o'clock on its weekly radio program. Mrs. William B. Wolf is in charge of the program, and Mrs. Nye will be awarded a certificate for outstanding valor and service by Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, state chairman of the AWVS.

Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed.

Mrs. Nye, who served with the Red Cross since before Pearl Harbor, has worked in the production department, taught first aid, worked as a staff assistant, and completed courses in home nursing, motor mechanics, motor corps, and Gray Ladies. She is now chairman of the home nursing classes, nutrition, and first aid of the Merchandise Mart unit and a member of the blood bank committee. The silver pin for blood donors who have given their blood five times also has been awarded to her.

For the AWVS Mrs. Nye served as co-chairman of the lounge committee at the Bismarck hotel and has spoken for the war savings staff. In her spare time she works at the service men's center in the Auditorium hotel three days a week.

Today's award will be the second given by the AWVS. The first certificate was presented in January to Miss Margaret Torrie, who is employed at the American Bridge company in Gary, Ind., as a precision worker on the assembly line.

Another in a series of classes being held by the AWVS will start on Monday, March 1, and will be concerned with instruction in radio. The teacher will be Mrs. Abby Morrison Ricker, believed to have been the only woman radio operator serving the navy in the first World war. The day classes will convene from 2 until 4 o'clock on Mondays, the evening classes from 7 until 9 o'clock on Tuesdays, at headquarters, 160 North La Salle street.

When the students have completed the work and can qualify to take 19 words a minute for radio code, they will be eligible to become 3d class licensed radio operators. Mrs. Albe K. Amburgh is in charge of all classes.

As part of the city-wide campaign to "Build a New U. S. S. Chicago," the Negro women of Chicago will sponsor a fashion show on Monday evening, March 1, at the Savoy ballroom. Guest artists will be stars from the stage, screen, and radio. The price for a reserved seat will be a $25 war bond, for general admission $1 in war stamps. One of the special features will be the crowning of the champion bond buyer of the south central district.

Mrs. Alva L. Bates, a committee member of the women's division, Chicago and Cook county war savings staff, is general chairman of the Negro women's committee, assisted by a large group of representative women.

A woman war worker, Mrs. Mary Tinerella, will represent her fellow employés on Monday afternoon when they are awarded the Army-Navy "E" award for consistently exceeding their production quota. Mrs. Tinerella supervises a large group of women who sew and assemble chin straps, head bands, and "hammocks" for soldiers' helmets at the Scholl Manufacturing company, 123 West Schiller street. Hammocks are cushions made of webbing, which fit inside the helmets and keep the metal from coming in contact with the head.

Monday's ceremonies will be held in a tent on a vacant lot of the company's property. Lt. Comm. A. L. Myrland, senior assistant to the supply officer of the 9th naval district, will present the lapel insignia to the employés.

Like Mrs. Tinerella, who has a son serving in a medical training center in California, almost all of the women in her department have felt personally spurred to intense effort by close family ties in all branches of the service.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Top of Stove Baked Beans.

[Serves six. Saves fuel.]

- 3 cups navy beans
- 6 cups water
- ¼ pound bacon square or salt pork
- 4 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons molasses
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 onion [optional]
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce [optional]

Add the water to the beans and soak overnight. Boil rapidly for half an hour. Add bacon or salt pork and cook until beans are tender. A pressure cooker may be used to save time, if desired. Add brown sugar and molasses and season to taste. Place onion in kettle whole and add Worcestershire sauce. If desired a small amount of catsup may be added also. Simmer gently for half to three-quarters of an hour, until flavors are well blended.

Ousters Bring Philharmonic Threat to Quit

BY ROY GIBBONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 19.—Charges of Fascism and interorganization terrorism were hurled today at the management of the pontifical Philharmonic Symphony orchestra by a union shop committee which announced that the entire orchestra was ready to quit at the end of the present season as the result of the dismissal of 14 members whose discharge was announced yesterday by Marshall Field, president and board chairman. Three others resigned.

Arrayed in striped trousers and quite obviously in a state of agitation, five trembling musicians handed out a statement which made manifest the artistic difficulties they have been undergoing in blowing sweet notes in what they indicated has been the Philharmonic's frigidly austere environment for the last several years.

They said they had the full backing of local 802 of the musicians union and charged that Dr. Arthur Rodzinski, the new conductor, and the management "have boldly insulted and libeled every man fired this year."

The grievance members castigated with stinging phrases the music they have had to play, the conductors they work for, the conditions under which they work, their pension setup and also their salaries, which they said after union and victory tax deductions, average $43 a week for the year.

In describing what happened to their organization after the departure of Arturo Toscanini, whom they proudly quote as having said they were the "greatest orchestra" he had ever conducted, the committee in its written charges said:

"A sudden shift from a great virtuoso conductor to a young but talented man who was given the tremendous burden of a complete season's work was one of the basic mistakes of the management. When the failure of this policy was realized the exact opposite policy was hysterically tried, and a bewildering variety of conductors was brought in, each anxious to get a permanent job."

The petition further demanded that in any future contract the members have a dismissal clause "to protect the men against the arbitrary caprices of a man [Rodzinski] so well known in the profession as completely unstable temperamentally."

It also set forth that from a purely union viewpoint members of the Philharmonic "have suffered from premeditated and cultivated terrorism for years, with waves of firings anticipating any demands for a betterment of contract."

It added that members are bowing under "Fascism at home" in fighting a "complete dictatorship in a great American public institution while our sons and brothers die fighting dictators abroad."

Rodziński in Cleveland, O., refused comment and the orchestra management declined to discuss the charges, saying: "Any further statement will have to come from Marshall Field in Chicago."

D. A. R. Junior Membership Group Will Give Luncheon

The junior membership committee of Chicago chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, is giving a luncheon at 1:30 o'clock today in the Eleanor club, 16 North Wabash avenue, at which Miss Sarah Brooke will preside. One of the war projects of the junior assembly of the national D. A. R. is the purchase of a foreign body detector for a military base hospital. The device locates metal fragments in the body. Contributions will be made by the Chicago members at the luncheon toward this project and other philanthropic and educational programs of the society.

Crocheted Lapel Flowers

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Bright crocheted flowers are necessary to spring suits and coats. These clever blooms allow a choice for any occasion. All are easy to crochet and may be created from odds and ends in the scrap bag. These flowers may serve as boutonnieres or as sprays for spring millinery.

For instructions in crocheting the group of flowers, No. 908, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

It's a Man's World.

"The white collar girl who has 17 pieces of glassware in her kitchenette and still is wondering where to put the six ruby goblets her Aunt Myrtle sent her at Christmas should survey the 'housekeeping' done by Maj. Henry K. Dougan of the United States army, and take heart.

"For Maj. Dougan, custodian of leased and condemned government property for the army air forces technical training command's Chicago schools, has just relinquished the furniture and furnishings of the Stevens hotel, now army air unit No. 1, to be auctioned for the Stevens Hotel corporation. Included are 200,000 pieces of glassware which—placed end to end—are enough for some 11,000 kitchenettes!

"Maj. Dougan has been responsible, also, for the storing and care of 200,000 pieces of chinaware, the single and double beds, rollaway beds, studio couches and all the other furnishings of 3,000 bedrooms, 5,000 lamps, 120,000 pieces of silver flatware and more than 30,000 yards of carpet, one-third of it never unwrapped."

—W. S.

Paging the Real Word Expert.

"This left handed and right handed word game has the office in a shambles. I can find any number of words with my left hand, but none of them as long as the one suggested by your correspondent. I get ADVERSE, REVERSE, SCARRED, SCARED, SCARAB, STARVED, CARVED, ARRESTED, FASTER and innumerable short words. But with my right hand I am reduced to ILLINI, NOUN, JOY, JOIN, LOIN, KILL, LIP and other paltry offerings. Could it be I'm missing something?" —Kay.

Challenge.

"Please tell Nosey Parker that his 100-girl research must have been among high school kids and NOT white collar girls. I challenge him to a debate on State and Madison any zero morning." —B. B.

ILLINI RISK LEAD AGAINST Bbadgers TONIGHT

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

OUTFIELDER JOHNNY COONEY, the new Dodger, and Comm. K. M. Landis entered baseball the same year—1921. . . . The commissioner, however, is a few years John's elder. . . . When the Dodgers take over the fieldhouse at West Point for indoor drills early next month, they will find ample room for infield workouts. . . . The Brooklyn club will put tickets on sale March 1 for its first home exhibition game, with the Red Sox, on April 3. . . . The Detroit Tiger squad of 35 players averages 25.2 years old. . . . Roger Cramer, who is nearly 38, is the daddy of the lot, and Victor Wertz, outfielder from Winston-Salem, who has just turned 18, is the infant. . . . A new member of Phi Beta Kappa is Capt. Olga Cassino, captain of the New York university co-ed fencing squad. . . . Badminton will be little affected by the war. . . . Dealers report an ample stock of nets, shuttlecocks, and rackets. . . . At latest reports, the Dodgers still are waiting for an insignia design worthy of decorating the club's 1943 uniforms. . . . The prize winner will receive a lifetime pass to Ebbets field. . . . If there still is time, the Wake would like to suggest the figure of an umpire [supine] with Leo Durocher [rampant] on a field of red. . . . Catcher Jake Early of the Senators has notified Manager Otto Bluege that he would like to work out his own batting problems this year. . . . Jake feels he is the victim of overcoaching. . . . Cleveland boxing promoters, encouraged by the success of monthly shows with nationally known fighters in headline rôles, are planning weekly offerings at "popular" prices. . . . It remains to be seen how popular the proposed top price of $3.75 will be with the fans. . . . Elmer Flick, who led American league batters with a .306 average in 1905, is 67 years old. . . .

Nomination for the catchiest race horse name suggested this year: Same in Summer, whose dam was Helen Winter. . . . Billy Meyer, manager of the Newark club of the Yankee farm chain, once caught for Louisville and succeeded Joe McCarthy as boss of the Colonels. . . . Who can remember 'way back when baseball scouts were on the lookout for young players in perfect physical condition and without marital entanglements? . . . Naval Aviation Cadet Jimmy South, who came to the Chicago Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions as a member of the Kansas City team three years ago, was the first of his class at Fort Scott, Kansas, to do a solo flight. . . . To aid the University of Wisconsin in its physical fitness program, the navy has sent Harry Stuhldreher, director of athletics, three regulation 16 oar racing launches. . . . The craft are the same as those traditionally used for races between crews of battleships. . . . Pete Schulte, quarter back, and Alva Jensen, half back, who were members of the 1941 All Star football squad, have been killed in the service of their country. . . . Schulte lost his life in San Francisco bay and Jensen in the South Pacific. . . . They were from Rockhurst College of Kansas City.

Going Down?

First it was sugar, then it was gas.
Do you think that the day will come to pass
When the yen for ceilings on this and that
Will govern the height of milady's hat?

And should come that day, will I ever be glad,
Altho I know one who will be beaucoup mad;
She's a certain femme with a three-tiered chapeau
I always land back of in the cinema show.

—Jazbo of Old Dubuque.

YACHT CLUB TO HOLD WINNERS' DINNER TONIGHT

Lt. Sam Clark of the coast guard reserve will speak at the Burnham Park Yacht club's annual winners' dinner tonight in the Chicago Yacht club's downtown station. Commodore Abe Jacobs will award the Great Lakes Junior Sailing championship trophy to Coleman Anderson, club skipper who captured the prize on Lake Erie last summer. Other prizes will be distributed to season champions in the club's one-design classes.

Representatives of the Lake Michigan Yachting association's member clubs in four states around the lake will meet at the Chicago Yacht club's downtown clubhouse this afternoon to plan the 1943 racing schedule.

Lt. David C. Zimmerman of the naval officer procurement office, addressed the 150 yachtsmen and others who were graduated last night from the Great Lakes Cruising club's fourth navigation class.

WISCONSIN HAS CHANCE FOR 2D UPSET IN ROW

Notre Dame, Sailors Meet in Stadium.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Illinois will be the center of the basketball world tonight. While Wisconsin challenges Illinois' supremacy in the Western conference in Champaign four of the finest basketball squads in the country will clash in the Chicago Stadium double header.

University of Kentucky, leader in the Southeastern conference, will meet De Paul in the opening game at 8:15. The long awaited battle between Great Lakes and Notre Dame will follow. Last year these rivals divided games, with the Irish taking the contest in the Stadium.

The Notre Dame team will be in charge of Ed Krause, assistant to the late George Keogan, who died suddenly in his South Bend home Wednesday evening. Six members of the Notre Dame basketball squad will serve as pallbearers at the services at 9:30 this morning in Sacred Heart church on the campus. The Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the university, will sing the solemn requiem high mass and the Rev. Wendell Corcoran, C. S. C., pastor of St. Joseph's church of South Bend, will deliver the sermon.

De Paul Coach to Attend.

Among the many friends of Keogan who will attend the funeral is Ray Meyers, De Paul university coach, who played for the Irish for three years and who was assistant coach until last fall.

A brief memorial service is planned tonight in the Stadium before the Great Lakes-Notre Dame game.

Illinois, undefeated in the conference race, must whip Wisconsin tonight to maintain its leadership. The Hoosiers were beaten by Wisconsin Monday night, their first reverse of the year, but if Illinois should lose tonight Indiana will have a percentage advantage. The Hoosiers play 13 conference games to 12 for Illinois.

It's a Sellout at Champaign.

A capacity crowd of 7,000 will jam the George Huff gymnasium tonight, altho Illinois won the first game of the series in Madison, 52 to 40. Wisconsin's upset of Indiana largely is responsible. Andy Phillip, conference high scorer, got 10 field goals and four penalty shots in the first game with the Badgers. Johnny Kotz, who was individual point man for the conference last year, scored 19 points against Indiana.

Bob Sullivan also scored 19 points Monday night and Coach Bud Foster believes his forwards will continue at the same pace tonight with help from Ray Patterson, center, and Fred Rehm and Walt Lautenbach, guards.

Other players making the trip are Ed Mills and Gil Hertz, centers; Ed Falls and Ed Downs, forwards, and Bill Johnson and Bob Krueger, guards.

Hoosiers Have to Win.

Indiana must win from Minnesota tonight in Bloomington to remain in the race. The same teams play again Monday and then the Hoosiers will finish their season against Purdue.

The Indiana squad has held only two practices this week and Ralph Hamilton, junior forward, is handicapped by a wrenched knee.

The other conference games tonight have no bearing on the championship. Iowa, in ninth place in the standings with seven defeats and a victory over Minnesota, meets Purdue in Lafayette. The Boilermakers have won four games and lost five.

Michigan, with only two victories, plays Ohio State, another second division team, in the first of two games in Columbus. Northwestern, now in fourth place with four victories and three defeats, engages the University of Chicago tonight in the Maroons' fieldhouse. Chicago has not won a conference game in three years.

Indiana Swimming Team Hands Loyola 34-31 Defeat

Indiana's swimming team last night beat Loyola, 34 to 31, in Loyola pool. The Hoosiers gained their victory by winning the 50 yard free style, 100 yard breast stroke, the 100 yard free style, and the diving and by rolling up a superior point total in the other events. Loyola was paced by Johnny Bransfield, a sophomore who is yet to be defeated in collegiate competition. Bransfield won the 200 yard free style and was a member of the 150 yard medley relay and 200 yard free style teams.

PLOTTING TROUBLE FOR IRISH

LOYOLA BEATEN IN 2D OVERTIME

Western Michigan Wins Thriller, 58-57.

Western Michigan's basketball team beat Loyola, 58 to 57, in a double overtime battle in Loyola gymnasium last night. The game, which was Western Michigan's 12th triumph in 15 contests, was tied, 48 to 48, at the end of regulation time, and 54 to 54 at the finish of the first five minute overtime period.

Hal Genischen, the high scoring Michigan forward who ran his season total to 244 points with 22 in last night's game, tied the score at two minutes of the second extra period, 56 to 56, and Guard Dick Slater followed with a one hand push shot that meant victory.

Both teams stayed within a five point range of each other thruout, and Western Michigan—which previously had been beaten, 39 to 38, by the Ramblers—had to break a 24 to 24 tie on Center Mel Van Dis' free throw to gain a 25 to 24 lead at the half. Loyola was trailing in the closing minutes of the regulation time, and it was only on Bill Durkin's basket with nine seconds left that Loyola gained its tie at the final gun. Lineup:

LOYOLA [57].	B	F	P	WESTERN MICHIGAN [58].	B	F	P
Stanton,f	5	1	2	Gensichen,f	10	2	4
Dwan,f-c	5	1	4	Lang,f	3	1	3

HAWKS MAY HAVE TO FACE LEAFS WITHOUT THOMS

The Blackhawks, struggling to reach the Stanley cup playoffs, may have to conduct tomorrow night's business against Toronto without the services of Bill Thoms, who suffered a chest injury in Thursday night's 5 to 4 loss to Montreal. X-ray negatives indicated that the player escaped from a collision with nothing worse than bruises but Dr. H. F. Meacham, team physician, indicated the right wing post in the Toronto game would have to be turned over to Reg Bentley.

Another casualty of Thursday night's game was 19 year old Marcel Dheere of the Montreal team who was struck on the head by a missile heaved from the gallery. The scalp laceration necessitated seven stitches. As the result the Blackhawk management announced yesterday that instead of a rebuke as in the past offenders will be prosecuted.

In games tonight New York plays at Montreal and Boston at Toronto.

COAST PRESENTS GASLESS RACING

Bay Meadows Fans Ride Trolleys Today.

San Mateo, Cal., Feb. 19 (AP).—Bay Meadows will turn back the horse racing calendar 40 years or so tomorrow in an effort to conduct a 25 day or longer meeting without such auxiliaries as auto, bus; and train transportation.

The horse and buggy era is being revived to cope with war time restrictions. Every type of horse drawn vehicle will be used to haul patrons from the terminus of the San Francisco-San Mateo interurban street car to the track, slightly more than a mile and a half away.

No Parking Available.

Rubber Administrator W. M. Jeffers frowned on the use of automobiles to reach the track. Consequently, all the parking areas will be closed. Trains running past the front door will not stop at the track's station.

The state racing board, thru Chairman Jerry Giesler, telegraphed William Soule, city manager of San Mateo, suggesting that autos, aside from those owned locally, be prohibited from parking within a mile of the track.

Soule agreed to post warning signs. He failed to specify how the edict would be enforced. Capt. R. S. Cassell said the regulation had no legal status on the state highways.

Jerry Rides Trolley.

Giesler himself visited the track today. He rode the street car from San Francisco, as the rest of the outside trade will be supposed to do, and walked the nearly two miles to the racing strip.

He immediately rescinded some of his previous restrictions by informing horsemen they would be permitted to bring their cars into the stable area for daily parking. The autos must be driven in before 8 a. m. and leave either before noon or remain until 5:30 p. m.

ROBINSON WINS DECISION OVER JACKIE WILSON

New York, Feb. 19 (AP).—Ray Robinson won a decision over California's Jackie Wilson in a 10 round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. It was the opening match in Robinson's comeback effort following a defeat by Jake La Motta in Detroit recently—the only setback Ray has suffered after winning 129 straight bouts. Robinson weighed 142½ pounds tonight; Wilson, 142¼.

Robinson floored the Californian in the fourth round and staggered him twice later, but couldn't knock him out.

He had Wilson in trouble on at least three occasions, but had to go all out to win the decision against the edge Wilson piled up on the in-fighting and with occasional long hard hooks. At the finish the Associated Press score card gave Robinson five rounds, Wilson four, and called one even.

Basketball Official Dies at St. Charles Game

Russell Giffin, 44 years old, of Aurora, a well known basketball official for more than 20 years, fell dead last night while working the Wheaton-St. Charles High school game in St. Charles. The game was called, with Wheaton being given the victory after leading, 30 to 14.

GOLDEN GLOVES TITLE SEEKERS OPEN MARCH ON CHICAGO TODAY

Cleveland Fighters to Lead Array of 24 Teams.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

The first of the invading teams will arrive today for the Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions, which will be held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday in the Stadium. Over the week-end, the fighters will continue to come in from all corners of the vast territory which contributes to this event, until by Monday the 24 out of town squads all will be on the scene of action. Together with Chicago's representatives, they will make up a field of 200 for the big show which presents faster action any other amateur sport spectacle. any other sport spectacle.

As usual, the Cleveland squad will be the first to arrive. It will be in this afternoon with a band of fighters which includes three particularly dangerous torpedoes—Leroy Jackson, Samson Powell, and Chuck Hunter. The Oklahoma City boys also will be in today, headed by their feather-weight champion—Proctor Heinold, who was a member of last year's intercity squad. The Memphis champions started for Chicago immediately after their finals last night and will arrive this evening. The bulk of the other contestants will arrive tomorrow, and a few of the near-in centers will wait until Monday before sending their representatives to town.

These Two Couldn't Wait.

Harry Sparrow and Tony Allicino of the Grand Rapids, Mich., team were the first contestants to report in Chicago. The boys are from the United States Coast Guard Training station at Grand Haven, Mich., and Lieut. Gordon Disbury, commanding officer, sent them to Chicago yesterday for final drills.

Lt. Ray Gallivan, athletic officer, former University of Illinois football star and coach at Whiting High school, entered a team in the Grand Rapids tournament. Sparrow, a former C. Y. O. champion, and Allicino worked out yesterday in the C. Y. O. gymnasium.

Nashville, which held its finals Thursday night, sent in particularly confident reports yesterday on the strength of its team. This center always has drawn from Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, and Alabama—but this year its resources were even greater, because it was able to attract talent from a number of army camps which drew soldiers from all over the nation.

Leo Is a Veteran Warrior.

The strength of the army fighters is indicated by the fact that seven of Nashville's eight champions are soldiers. Golden Glove officials in that city have served warning that they are sending the strongest team they've ever entered in the Tournament of Champions.

Leo Schafts of Peoria, Ill., a veteran of Golden Gloves competition, is rated one of Nashville's most dangerous contenders. He is now a private in the 4th ferrying command, stationed in Nashville. Other members of the Nashville squad come from such widely separated points as Stockton, Cal., and Jersey City.

Spider Shock of the Fort Wayne team is a constructor of concrete grave vaults whose ambition is to live to be 100 years old. Homer Napier of the Cleveland squad is a shipping clerk who hopes pretty soon to be able to operate his own business. Melvin Bergh of the Minneapolis outfit is a lad of Norwegian antecedents who works on a windswept prairie farm near Kindred, N. D.

Bomber and Baker Win Berths.

The Milwaukee squad has quite a range of occupations represented on its roster. Forrest Gee works in a bomb factory; James Mancuso is a bakery salesman; John Hubbard is a painter's helper, and Joe d'Amico is an arc welder.

With two rings in action, they'll put on a magnificent show. The big field will be reduced to the quarter-finals by Monday's and Tuesday's fighting. On Wednesday the quarter-finals will be run off, climaxing the Tournament of Champions. This will leave 32 boys—4 in each weight class—still in the running.

This Glover Carries Army Coach's Hope

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 19.—The United States army and the South Broadway Athletic club, incubator of St. Louis boxers for nearly half a century, will have a worthy candidate in the Tournament of Champions in the Chicago Stadium next week in the durable person of Edwin Harvey Hemenway. Just call this fighting blond Ed, give him a pair of boxing gloves and he'll be happy to take on all comers in the lightweight division.

This will be Ed's second trip to the big show, he having won the 126 pound title in St. Louis last year. In Wednesday night's Globe-Democrat finals in the Municipal auditorium, Master Hemenway took the lightweight crown, but only after a tough battle with Paul Calandro of the United States coast guard station at Grafton, Ill.

Foe's Busy Left Hand Causes Ed Some Trouble.

Calandro, coached and seconded by Chief Specialist Benny Kessler, old time St. Louis boxer, displayed a whipping left that had Hemenway baffled for a spell, but then and there Ed decided to win for his coach, Corp. Joe [Peanuts] Borick of Jefferson barracks, one of those fights expected of an old South Broadway A. C. boy. He waded into Calandro with both hands in the face of Calandro's stabbing left, and won the best fight of the night.

Young Hemenway, who won't be 18 until April, is not in the army yet, but attributes all of his skill to the genius of Corp. Borick. The latter, a former Western A. A. U. bantamweight title holder, first noticed Ed when the kid appeared around Buder center, one of the hotbeds of novice boxing here.

Borick soon found that the urge to fight at all times was in his pupil, and the main job was to instill sufficient ring knowledge. That he succeeded was proved by Hemenway's all-around work thruout the tournament. He did his preliminary training in the South Broadway A. C., where Joe Weber, the club's head man, sees to it that no youth has to wait long for a sparring partner at his own weight.

Corporal Will Be in Corner in Spirit Anyway.

Corp. Borick is uncertain whether he will be given leave to go to the Tournament of Champions to look after his protégé, but Ed will not lack for proper seconding. On hand will be his dad, a south side tavernkeeper and himself an alumnus of the South Broadway A. C. He fought as a 122 pounder in the old days.

60 TEAMS VIE IN BOWLIUM 5 MAN CLASSIC TONIGHT

Bowlium's second annual five man classic, a four games across eight alleys event, will be put on tonight at the north side recreation center. Thirty of the nation's best bowling teams will take over the approaches at 7 o'clock and 30 more will start shooting the assignment three hours later. The best among them on a total pin basis will win $750.

Another winner will be the Auditorium Theater Service Men's Bowling center, all of the proceeds of the event being earmarked for the center.

Such name teams as the Chapin & Gores of Chicago, Smalley Liquors and Heils of Milwaukee, Silver Seal Sodas and Budweisers of St. Louis, and Vogel Brothers of Forest Park are to shoot on the opening squad. The second squad will include virtually all the Classic league teams.

Entries will close at midnight tonight for the seventh annual Cook County American Legion bowling tournament, which is to be held Feb. 27-28 and March 6-7 at Cascade recreation center. It is a handicap event.

Two Rings—Double Action!

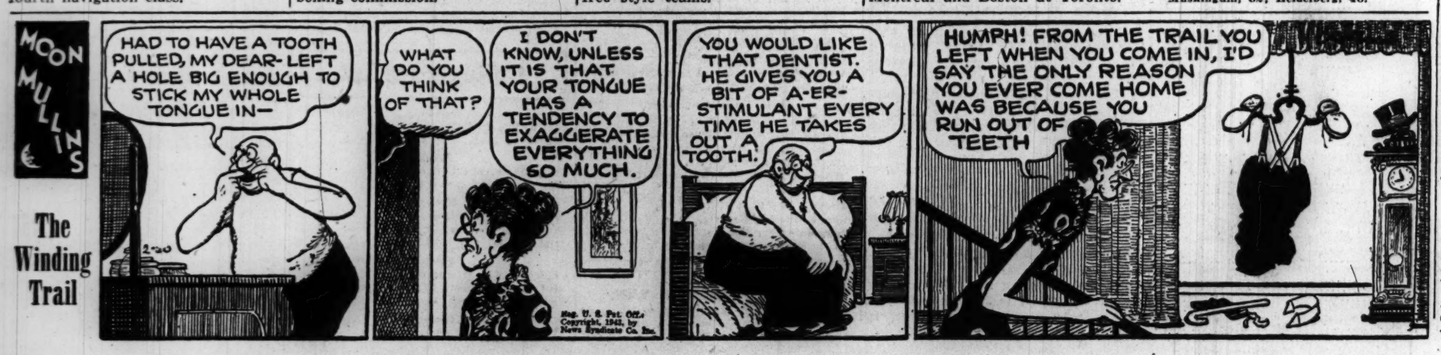
Two hundred of the best amateur boxers from the Alleghenies to the Rockies form the cast of the three night 16th Tournament of Champions starting Monday night in Chicago Stadium. Action will be in two rings the first two nights. From the farms, from the cities, from the army, from the navy come these sectional champions. On March 5 in the same arena 32 survivors will fight for Golden Gloves.

Tickets are on sale over the counter for both the Tournament of Champions and the Finals in the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m., and in Tribune Tower, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Prices are:

FEB. 22, 23, 24—TOURNAMENT OF CHAMPIONS. Prices, $1.10, 75 cents and 50 cents for first two nights; $1.65, $1.10 and 75 cents for third night.

MARCH 5—FINALS. Prices, $3.30, $2.20, $1.65 and $1.10.

Address mail orders for the March 5 show to Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago. Make checks payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.



MOON MULLINS
HAD TO HAVE A TOOTH PULLED, MY DEAR- LEFT A HOLE BIG ENOUGH TO STICK MY WHOLE TONGUE IN—WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THAT?
I DON'T KNOW, UNLESS IT IS THAT YOUR TONGUE HAS A TENDENCY TO EXAGGERATE EVERYTHING SO MUCH.
YOU WOULD LIKE THAT DENTIST. HE GIVES YOU A BIT OF A-ER- STIMULANT EVERY TIME HE TAKES OUT A TOOTH.
HUMPH! FROM THE TRAIL YOU LEFT WHEN YOU COME IN, I'D SAY THE ONLY REASON YOU EVER COME HOME WAS BECAUSE YOU RUN OUT OF TEETH

AMUNDSEN AND MARSHALL WIN SECTION TITLES

Waller Juniors Topple Sullivan, 45-36.

Two sectional championships were settled and a favorite, Sullivan in the north section junior race, was defeated by Waller yesterday in Chicago High school league basketball games.

Marshall romped over Austin, 61 to 21, on the Marshall floor for its eighth straight west section junior victory and 75th in a row. Marshall has one remaining game on its schedule but still will be the sectional champion even if it should lose because second place Wells was defeated by Marshall earlier. When two teams tie for any position in the standings, the team that has defeated the other team is given the preference.

Amundsen clinched the north section senior title by defeating Lake View, 36 to 29, on the latter's floor. It was the eighth straight victory for the winner, which has one more game to play.

Waller Takes Section Lead.

Waller took over first place in the north section junior race by defeating Sullivan, 45 to 36, on the victor's court. It was the eighth victory for Waller in nine games, compared to Sullivan's record of seven victories and one defeat. Waller has one more game to play and Sullivan two. Frank [Cowboy] Hokl scored 23 points for Waller, while Louis Turlo was restricting Marvin Beskin of Sullivan, the league's leading scorer, to 14.

Crane rallied in the closing minutes of play to beat McKinley, 31 to 30, yesterday on the latter's court and tie Marshall for second place in the west section senior race. Crane now has won seven and lost one.

Purple Sends 7 Teams Into Action Today

Northwestern's indoor athletic program reaches its peak today as five varsity and two freshmen teams go into action at home and away. The home program will be headlined by a double header swimming meet in which the varsity meets Minnesota and the freshmen take on the Navy Pier. The frosh meet will start at 1:30 and will be followed by the varsity meet.

The other home event will be a wrestling match with Wisconsin in which the Wildcats will seek their first conference victory in four starts. After their 18 to 16 loss to Michigan last week, the Wildcats entertain hopes of upsetting the Badgers. The match will start at 2:30.

The track team will participate in a triangular meet at Wisconsin. Minnesota will be the third team in the meet. The freshman squads of the three schools will also hold a meet.

4 MAROONS REPRIEVED.

Delays of a day or two in the calling of the army air force reservists at the University of Chicago will permit the four leading members of the Maroon track team to compete in this afternoon's meet with Western Michigan college at 4 o'clock. The four Maroons briefly reprieved after it was announced they would leave Feb. 18 are Capt. Ray Randall and Bill Mayer-Oakes, distance runners; Harrison Beardsley, middle distance runner, and Bob Kincheloe, vaulter and hurdler. The four made three-fourths of Chicago's points in the "Little Big Ten" meet last week.

U. of Chicago Swimmers Beat Wisconsin, 47 to 37

Altho Bob Stumpner, Badger captain, competed in three winning events, Wisconsin's swimming team was outpointed, 47 to 37, last night by Chicago in Ida Noyes pool. Stumpner won the 200 yard breast stroke and swam on two winning relay teams, the 300 yard medley and 400 yard free style.

LYONS SUSPENDS PUPIL REFUSING TO SALUTE FLAG

Father Accuses Police in Religious Issue.

Kenneth E. Markwell, 35 years old, who lives in a trailer in a camp at 4000 South Harlem avenue, Lyons township, said yesterday he has been warned to leave the neighborhood by the end of this month or risk persecution as a member of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect. His son, James, 9 years old, has been suspended from public school in Lyons for refusing to salute the flag.

"The Lyons police chief [Capt. Frank C. Wroga] told me I had to get out," Markwell declared. Capt. Wroga denied this. "I told him one day he would have to keep his dog from running around the town," said Wroga. "I do feel sorry for his youngster, however, because the other children probably will make it hard on him."

Refused Salute Because of Religion.

Markwell, an inspector in a manufacturing plant, said the Jehovah's Witnesses believed the Bible forbids taking part in "any political or national demonstration," and for that reason his son did not join his classmates in the fourth grade in their morning salute to the flag.

The boy has transferred to the Kingdom school, conducted by the sect in Maywood.

E. D. Aurand, superintendent of school district 103, said the boy was suspended for not obeying school rules, and the question of his permanent expulsion would be considered at the next meeting of the district school board. "Until then, he can come back whenever he is ready to salute the flag," Aurand said. Leo P. Meyer, president of the board, said, "Aurand is not at fault. It is one of those things that have to be done."

Upheld by County Superintendent.

Aurand said he has received written opinions from Noble J. Puffer, Cook county superintendent of schools, and the office of Vernon L. Nickell, Illinois state superintendent of public instruction, upholding his action. Puffer said last night that school boards had a legal right to suspend children who did not obey reasonable regulations.

"Courts have almost unanimously ruled in favor of schools in cases involving Witnesses," he said. Nickell said in Springfield that his office "has not issued any opinion in the Lyons case to my knowledge." He said he would want to look into the legal aspects of it before expressing an opinion.

NINE CONSULS ARE GUESTS AT U. OF C. FESTIVAL

Consuls from nine foreign nations were special guests last night at the opening of "International Night" at International House on the University of Chicago campus. The festival will continue thru tonight and is the tenth in the history of International House, founded in 1932 for the promotion of international understanding among foreign students.

The consuls present were Lewis Bernays of Great Britain, Tzechin Lu of China, Karol Ripa of Poland, José Fallon of Colombia, Martin Lliraldi of Cuba, Ricardo G. Hill of Mexico, Costa Oldenburg of Sweden, Alejandro Del Carril of Argentina, and J. I. Noest of the Netherlands.

Features of the entertainment were a Chinese fashion show in which costumes of the great Chinese dynasties were displayed; a native Hawaiian group presenting hula dances to the music of steel guitars, and a near eastern romantic comedy, "Drafted in a Harem."

Child Has Bruised Head After Fall of Two Stories

Bruises on the head were the only injuries suffered by Garrett Stencel, 3 years old, when he fell from a second story window of his home at 1431 Clybourn avenue yesterday. He was taken to Children's Memorial hospital for observation.

HUNT FOUR THUGS AFTER ATTACK ON VICE CRUSADER

Contractor and Son, 16, Are Slugger Victims.

County police from the Homewood station were coöperating with city police of Chicago Heights last night in an investigation of the mysterious slugging Wednesday of Richard Blackhall, 64 years old, militant anti-vice crusader, and his son, Jack, 16, in the garage of their home at 1328 Sunnyside avenue, Chicago Heights.

Two squads of county police assigned to the case were said to be tracking down clews left by the tire treads of the automobile used by the four men who waylaid Blackhall and his son in their garage, and slugged them into unconsciousness. One of the assailants dropped a blackjack as he fled.

Thought the Roof Fell.

The elder Blackhall, an active foe of vice and gambling in Chicago Heights, was treated at St. James hospital for severe head and face wounds. He said neither he nor his son would be able to identify their assailants.

The pair had driven into the garage in a truck used by Blackhall in his electrical contracting business. As they stepped out, the four men set upon them with blackjacks.

"I thought the roof fell on me," commented Blackhall. Both said they were assaulted from behind, and did not see the sluggers.

Children See Getaway.

School children told police they saw four men run out of the Blackhall driveway, get into a car and drive away.

Blackhall said he knew of no motive for the attack except his campaign against gangsterism or his interest in politics in the town.

He said he had acted as a poll watcher at the recent primary election and had opposed the renomination of Mayor Joseph Gannon of Chicago Heights.

CAP BETRAYS AUTOIST FLEEING AFTER ACCIDENT

A motorist who abandoned an automobile and fled on foot after striking Charles Flosback, 65 years old, near the latter's home at 643 Belmont avenue, was traced thru a cap left in the car and arrested by Sheffield avenue police last night.

Detective Peter Harlib of the Town Hall police, who was off duty, saw the driver, Louis Eliops of 2573 North Clark street, get out of the car and disappear into the crowd.

Thru the cap bearing the name of a restaurant at which Eliops is employed, the driver was traced to 538 Wrightwood avenue and arrested. Lt. John O'Malley said Eliops admitted having struck Flosback.

The injured man was taken to Illinois Masonic hospital, where physicians said he was in a serious condition.

Edward J. Newman, 55, 7057 West 72d street, died in Berwyn hospital of injuries suffered Thursday when he was struck by an automobile at Harlem avenue and 70th street. The driver was Walter Lenson of 16730 Sayre avenue, Tinley Park.

Robert Blackstone, 25, a Negro, of 2838 Dearborn street, was killed instantly when he was struck by a truck at Grand and Albany avenues. The driver of the truck was Louis George, 35, of 2453 Chicago avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 72 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 61 were killed in Chicago where 1,813 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

OBITUARIES

Frederick Kinsey.

Funeral services for Frederick Kinsey, 72 years old, former superintendent of the Chicago division of the New York Central railroad system, will be held at McLean tomorrow. Mr. Kinsey died Thursday at his home in Oak Park. After his retirement from railroad work a few years ago Mr. Kinsey became personnel director of the Union Asbestos company of Berwyn, where he was employed at the time of his death. He is survived by two daughters, Esther Kinsey and Mrs. W. C. Michael, both of Oak Park.

Miss Minnie L. Pennoyer.

Miss Minnie L. Pennoyer, whose parents settled in Norwood Park in 1834, died yesterday in her home at 918 Duncan avenue, Elgin. She was 78 years old. Miss Pennoyer was a graduate of the Baptist Missionary Training school in Chicago, and was active for many years in missionary work for that denomination. Services will be held at 3:30 o'clock Monday in the chapel at 6754 Northwest highway.

Mrs. Lillie S. Place.

Mrs. Lillie S. Place, 65 years old, widow of a former vice president of the Buda company, was found dead, apparently from natural causes, in the bathroom of her home at 181 Lake Shore drive yesterday. Her husband, Frederick E. Place, died in July, 1941. She is survived by a nephew, Honore W. Place, an executive of the Buda company.

Mrs. Delia B. O'Brien.

Services will be held at 9:30 a. m. today in St. Angela's church for Mrs. Delia Bridget O'Brien, 77 years old, 1622 North Mason avenue, a lifelong resident of Chicago. She died last Wednesday. Mrs. O'Brien leaves her husband, James; a daughter, Mrs. Edna Jackson, and a sister, Mrs. Nellie Stanley.

Lynne Overman.

Santa Monica, Cal., Feb. 19 (AP).—Lynne Overman, 55 years old, veteran stage actor and movie comedian, died today. Overman, who was born in Maryville, Mo., made his first stage appearance in Milwaukee, Wis., in 1907.

Dr. Robert R. Marett.

OXFORD, England., Feb. 18 (AP).—Dr. Robert R. Marett, 76 years old, anthropologist and rector of Exeter college, Oxford, since 1928, died here today. The author of numerous publications in his field, he lectured in Boston in 1930.

MURPHY'S $1,860 RESCUED FROM NATURE'S PRANK

It almost cost Clare Murphy, 76 years old, Berrien Springs, Mich., $1,860 to find out that money has a right side and a wrong side.

Distrustful of banks since he once lost money in a bank failure, Murphy last fall buried bills amounting to $1,860 in a tin can under his back porch. When he dug the money up some chemical action had bleached out one side of each bill.

He sent the bills to the Niles, Mich., bank, which forwarded them to the federal reserve bank in Chicago.

Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, agent in charge of the secret service here and an expert on counterfeit bills, yesterday pronounced the currency genuine and recommended that Murphy be given full credit.

Had both sides been bleached, however, the monetary value would have been lost, Capt. Callaghan said, because the treasury pays off only on the face value of currency.

RAPIST, 46, DIES IN GAS CHAMBER FOR SLAYING GIRL

Florence, Ariz., Feb. 19 (AP).—Jim Rawlins, 46 years old, was put to death today in Arizona's gas chamber for the rape slaying of Marylin Atkins, 11.

Rawlins was strapped in a chair in the death room at 6:05 a. m. and was dead 8 minutes later. He walked up the stairs calmly and said nothing while straps were adjusted to his arms and legs. After he entered the death room two ministers went in and patted him on the back and then stepped outside. He smiled as the gas fumes began circling about him.

Rawlins, the father of two girls, strangled Marylin Aug. 29 in Morenci, Ariz.

Landlora Freed on Charges of Entering Tenant's Flat

Peter Weck, 50 years old, was acquitted by a jury in the Municipal court of Judge Frank E. Donoghue yesterday on a charge of malicious mischief. He was accused of breaking into the flat of a tenant at 7428 Eberhart avenue to turn off the heat. Weck testified he forced his way into the flat to repair the radiator. The complaint against him was brought by the tenant, Charles Leonard.

DISCOUNTS AGE AS SOLE FACTOR IN ANNULMENTS

Judge Refuses to Void Marriage of Girl, 16.

The state of Illinois presumes "all marriages to be good," and annulments are not always to be granted merely because one or the other of the parties to a marriage is under age.

This opinion was given yesterday by Judge Thomas J. Lynch in Circuit court, when he refused to annul the marriage of Mrs. Esther Kutz Niemanski, 16 years old, 3931 North Richmond street, to John Niemanski, 26, now a convict in the state penitentiary at Joliet.

Met in Candy Store.

Her suit asked an annulment on two grounds: first, that she was under age, and second, that she married under duress. Her lawyers, Norman and Joseph H. Becker, explained the situation.

"Last May 4," the lawyers said, "Miss Kutz met Niemanski in a candy store near Gage Park High school, where she was a student. He invited her to go on an automobile ride. She skipped school. Instead of taking her for an ordinary ride, he drove her to Knox, Ind., threatening that unless she married him she'd have to walk back. He also threatened he'd harm her later. She went thru a marriage ceremony because of those threats, but the marriage was never consummated."

At the time, the lawyers said, Niemanski was out on parole from prison where he had served nearly six years on a robbery charge. He is now back in prison because his trip to Knox and his alleged marriage violated his parole.

Wants More Proof.

Judge Lynch said he would need more proof of the duress charges, which the attorneys promised to produce. Then the judge expressed his views generally on annulments.

"I definitely will allow no annulments on the mere statement that one party or the other was 16," he said. "The law presumes all marriages to be good, and presumes that people of that age know their own minds."

2 BANDIT PAIRS GET $10,300 IN FINANCE OFFICES

Police were searching last night for two pairs of bandits who held up two currency exchanges yesterday and made away with a total of $10,300. One group robbed the Washington-Desplaines currency exchange, 629 Washington boulevard, of $6,600, after terrorizing a clerk, and the other pair invaded the Terry Realty company and currency exchange at 1942 Montrose avenue and took $3,700.

Police said they did not believe that there was any connection between the two robberies because the descriptions given of the four men were different. In the Washington boulevard robbery, Miss Margaret Lapel, 28, of 2059 Washington boulevard, a cashier, said neither man showed a gun. They gained entrance to her cage, she said, when she opened the door to hand one of them an automobile license plate. He then grabbed her by the throat and his partner took the money.

In the Montrose avenue robbery, one man held the manager of the exchange, Jack Shapp, 6242 North Washtenaw avenue, at the point of a gun, while the other vaulted over the counter and scooped the money out of the safe.

TOLL REACHES 29 AFTER CRASH OF BLAZING BOMBER

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 19 (AP).—Firemen fought smoke and flames today at a packing plant which was fired yesterday by a bomber which crashed into the plant, leaving 16 dead and 13 missing.

Fire Chief William Fitzgerald said it might be several days before the fire could be extinguished and all bodies recovered. Added to the list of victims was Luther D. Bonner, a city fireman, who was asphyxiated when the flames flared up again today.

The four motor plane crashed into the building after fire developed in an engine while the ship was on a test flight.

Rainbow Veterans Observe 25th Anniversary of Battle

Meeting for their 25th anniversary dinner, 250 members of the Rainbow [42d] division of the first World war, recalled last night that it was just 25 years ago to the day that the division saw its first action at the battle of Luneville, where 26 of its men were killed. The dinner was held in the Swedish club at 1258 North La Salle street. Circut Court Judge Cornelius J. Harrington, president of the Illinois chapter of the Rainbow Division association, presided at the meeting.

Baby Girl Is Abandoned in Rail Waiting Room

A baby girl, about 2 weeks old, was abandoned yesterday in the women's waiting room on the second floor of the Chicago and North Western station. The child, apparently a Negro, was found by Mrs. Louise Carey, a matron. Police described the baby as well clothed. They took her to St. Vincent's orphanage.

CASIMER DARLAK GETS 1 TO 20 YEAR TERM FOR AID IN PRISON BREAK

Casimer Darlak was sentenced to 1 to 20 years imprisonment by Circuit Court Judge James V. Bartley at Joliet yesterday in a speedy arraignment after a Will county grand jury had indicted him for aiding and abetting the escape of Roger Touhy and six other members of his gang last Oct. 9.

Darlak, a brother of Edward Darlak, one of the men who fled Stateville prison, only to be recaptured in Chicago in January, was charged with smuggling into the prison the guns used by the men in the escape.

At the same time, State's Atty. Burke of Will county requested indictments against the gang, returned two weeks ago, be nolle prossed because of a technical fault. New indictments were returned by the grand jury and the men will be arraigned before Judge Bartley at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday.

A claim to $4,307.95 of the $13,605 found by federal bureau of investigation agents when they rounded up the Touhy gang was filed yesterday in federal court by Hugh Basil [the Owl] Banghart, now imprisoned on Alcatraz. Banghart set forth that he had made $5,000 lawfully in the late 1920s which he had deposited with a friend. After his escape last fall, the petition states, Banghart demanded the money and it was turned over to him.

ARRESTS OF GIRLS INCREASE 55 PCT.; HOMES BLAMED

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 (AP).—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, today reported that 55.7 per cent more girls under 21 were arrested last year than in 1941 and said it "indicated a deplorable lack of parental guidance and discipline in many homes."

He reported that arrests of girls under 21 for prostitution and commercialized vice increased 64.8 per cent last year, arrests for other sex offenses were up 104.7 per cent, drunkenness arrests increased 39.9 per cent, and disorderly arrests rose 69.6 per cent.

Hoover said the number of boys under 21 arrested last year increased 17.1 per cent over 1941 despite the removal of large numbers from civilian to military life. He said that among boys under 21, arrests for assault increased 17.1 per cent, for rape, 10.6 per cent; disorderly conduct, 26.2 per cent, and drunkenness, 30.3 per cent.

HARVESTER FIRM GIVES $200,000 TO RED CROSS FUND

International Harvester company yesterday contributed $200,000 to the Red Cross war fund campaign, scheduled for a formal opening on March 1. The gift was double the amount contributed in 1942 by the company.

Martin H. Kennelly, general chairman of the drive, said that the Chicago chapter area, including Cook, Du Page and the southern half of Lake counties, will receive $100,000 towards its $8,750,000 goal. The balance, Kennelly pointed out, will be credited to the war fund drives in communities where the Harvester company has operations. All will apply to the $125,000,000 being raised nationally by the Red Cross to finance its needs for 1943.

The contribution was turned over to Kennelly by Fowler McCormick, president of the Harvester company. It was the second largest contribution received in two days.

13 Year Old Mother Gives Birth to a 7 Pound Girl

Murphy, N. C., Feb. 19 (AP).—A child bride three months before Pearl Harbor, Mrs. R. G. Foster, now in her 13th year, is a mother. She gave birth to a seven pound daughter in a hospital here Wednesday morning. Hospital records showed Mrs. Foster was born Violet Louise Bryson in Canton, Ga., in March, 1930. She was married on Sept. 2, 1941, at McCaysville, Ga. Her 21-year old husband was inducted into the army last fall. Her father, Henry Lawton Bryson, also is in the army.

ILLEGAL TRADE HELD THREAT TO SHOE SUPPLIES

High Grade Packer Hides Scarcer.

Authorities in the leather trade said yesterday that widespread illegal operations in meat thruout the country threaten the adequacy of supplies of high grade leather for army and navy shoes and other military purposes.

Chicago shoe manufacturers holding government contracts said they still were able to operate without interference to their military production, by "scraping the bottom of the barrel" for supplies, but expressed belief the government would soon feel the pinch unless more high grade leather were made available.

The potential shortage was attributed to diminishing supplies of "packer" hides—those produced at the big packing plants and yielding the best grades of sole and other leather—and substantially increasing quantities of "country" hides—those produced in the country and yielding less satisfactory grades of leather.

Output Lags in January.

Last month's production of packer hides fell to 927,000 from 1,057,000 in January, 1942. December production of country hides jumped 75 per cent to 830,000 from 472,000 in the 1941 month.

This was one of the results of the big increase in the slaughter of meat animals in the country to circumvent office of price administration price ceilings and restrictions on meat production. The big city packers have produced relatively less of the nation's meat supply because of the expanding operations of the illegal markets.

Experienced operators in the big packing plants turn out hides that yield top grade sole leather in large quantities and with a minimum of waste, trade authorities said. Country hides yield much smaller proportions of suitable sole leather, and processing by inexperienced workmen results in much waste, it was said.

Price Spread Narrows.

Packer hides usually sell at a 3½ cent premium above country hides, but the scramble for leather has resulted in narrowing this spread to ½ cent. Heavy packer hides sold in the Chicago market yesterday at 15½ cents a pound, the OPA ceiling, and country hides at 15 cents.

After the sole leather has been cut out, parts of both types of hides are suitable for other parts of shoes, and the country hides serve as well for many purposes.

"There's going to be a squeeze on shoes," an official of one big Chicago manufacturing company said. "All manufacturers are running short of leather supplies and we are scraping the bottom. The industry produced 40 million pairs for the army and navy last year, compared with 15 million in 1941. Civilians already have felt the pinch thru shoe rationing."

Shipping Becomes Problem.

The shortage resulting from the diversion of hides from the big packers has been made more acute by a lack of shipping resulting from the war. The shoe industry consumed 30 million hides last year, 5 million more than normal, but lacked a large proportion of the 8,600,000 hides imported from South America in 1941.

Bonuses to salesmen, tips to peddlers, and other subterfuges employed in the operation of the illegal meat markets also were reported common in the scramble for hides. An example: The country owner of a big pile of hides was reluctant to sell to a city purchaser until the salesman produced a box of nylon hose and offered them to the owner's wife. This was sufficient inducement, the hides changed hands and the gift was not recorded on any document that OPA investigators might uncover.

WHEAT FUTURES PRICES ADVANCE ON MILL BUYING

Mill buying of wheat futures pushed prices about ¾ cent a bushel higher yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade to within a fraction of the seasonal high. Closing prices were ½ to ⅝ cent higher.

Trading in corn futures was largely at ceiling prices with the finish at the top. May sold at 99⅞ cents early, but offerings were small. The close was unchanged to ¼ cent higher. Oats finished unchanged to ¼ cent higher and rye was ⅛ to ⅜ cent higher.

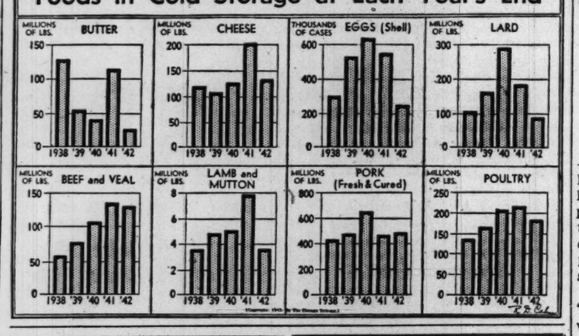
Foods in Cold Storage at Each Year's End



Jolly Clubman —and His Club— Get War Blues

War has brought its changes to Chicago's exclusive clubs. Many clubmen are in army, naval, or government service, reducing member rolls and income. Not only club revenues are slimmer, their cuts of roast beef are thinner, steaks are less luscious and helpings are smaller.

A jolly clubman.

What with soaring income taxes, salary limitations, and the problem of running an expensive home on a reduced income, the jolly clubman isn't as jolly as he used to be. He is spending less at his club. But the club's expenses go on and must be met if its fancy doors are to be kept open.

One Has a Press Agent!

To offset the war caused losses in revenues, club managements are trying various expedients to bring more money into their treasuries. Regulations have been liberalized. Several clubs now permit the use of their facilities for semi-public meeting places. They get some help here from the tight hotel situation. Overcrowded hotels are glad to have some of their lunch and dinner meetings transferred elsewhere. One club has a full time press agent to pep things up. Others let outsiders use their facilities.

The change is noticeable at club entrances where austere doormen for years gave a cold once over to any unknown entering. Now they aren't so fussy, having become accustomed to strangers in their lobbies.

Dignified members of the Chicago club, who a few years ago would have been shocked to discover one unaccompanied stranger in their midst, now accept them without becoming disturbed. Not so long ago the Chicago club's doors were barred to working newspaper reporters. Now the day seldom passes during which newsmen don't have a meal there while reporting a meeting.

Yes, Times Have Changed.

Yes, times have changed at the Chicago club. There are a lot more youthful executives who enjoy a little excitement. And there are fewer of the dignified high collared type who for years occupied the overstuffed chairs in the Michigan avenue windows.

The Union League club has an ever increasing number of business meetings and conferences which bring outside customers to dining rooms and bars. Special events, with top flight speakers, frequently cause the lobby to be filled with coat racks to the Jackson boulevard door to take care of overflow crowds.

At the University club, noted for its Gothic architecture, regulations have been liberalized to permit a man with only one year residence at college to join. At a recent meeting to discuss ways to get more members a wag commented that it "appears as if the bars will have to be lowered again to let in any one who has walked thru a university on an inspection tour."

ILLINOIS MINERS ASK WAGE HIKE OF $2 PER DAY

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 19 (AP).—The Illinois district of the United Mine Workers of America joined formally today in a demand for a $2 per day wage increase for UMWA members thruout the nation's bituminous coal fields.

The pay boost, which if granted would raise the base wage of Illinois UMWA members to $9 a day, was requested in a resolution adopted by 150 delegates attending the union's

'FROZEN OUT' BY NEW CEILINGS ON BUTTER, DEALERS ASK CHANGE

Independent butter wholesalers in Chicago, who assert they have been frozen out of their established place in the butter distribution system by the new price ceiling structure which went into effect last Tuesday, are organizing in an attempt to obtain a change in the price order. They plan to file their objections to the order and present a series of amendments and adjustments at a meeting of industry and government representatives in the La Salle hotel Wednesday.

Nick Fennema, chairman of a committee representing independent Chicago wholesalers, announced yesterday he has called a meeting for Tuesday to discuss these proposed changes. The industry meeting was called by the American Butter Institute, the Dairy Products Marketing association, and the National Association of Local Creameries.

Blame Design Shifts in Lag at Willow Run

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 19 (AP).—A senate subcommittee investigating war production learned first hand today how man power shortages and changes in design have retarded production of B-24 bomber planes at the Ford operated Willow Run factory.

"There is no question that production has been handicapped by constant changes in the model," said Sen. Mon C. Wallgren [D., Wash.] after a tour of the plant. "At the same time, there has been a vast improvement at Willow Run over what we saw here a year ago. Willow Run compares very favorably with any plant in the country on actual work being done."

The subcommittee consists of Senators Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.], Harley M. Kilgore [D., W. Va.], Homer Ferguson [R., Mich.], Joseph H. Ball [R., Minn.], and Harold H. Burton [R., O.] in addition to Sen. Wallgren.

Edsel Ford Gives Figures.

Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor company, who accompanied the senators on a tour of the Ford River Rouge plant and the Willow Run factory, gave them figures on the turnover of workers at the bomber plant. The committee was told the company would like to hire 400 workers a day but there have been days when more workers quit than were hired.

Figures presented by Ford and other company officials showed that while employment at Willow Run is in excess of 30,000 men and women, the turnover has been so great that more than 10,000 have resigned since summer, half of them to enter military service.

The figures also confirmed that the plant's goal is a peak production of approximately 20 of the big bombers daily later this year.

Housing and Transit Blamed.

Sen. Ferguson said the labor turnover resulted from inadequate transportation and housing accommodations. He said efforts would be made to remedy these problems thru the war production board and the office of defense transportation.

He announced he and Hugh Fulton, committee counsel, would remain in Detroit a few days to study the transportation problem further. He indicated the committee believed bus and motorcar transportation could be supplemented by establishing commuter train service between Detroit and the bomber plant, 25 miles away.

Earlier in the day, at the committee's invitation, the CIO United Automobile workers presented its views of conditions at Willow Run and announced a brief would be filed describing working conditions and employé morale.

Steel Union Reports Finances

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 19 (AP).—The CIO United Steel Workers of America, in a 56 page report termed "the most comprehensive union financial statement ever made," today listed its membership at 725,625 and its assets at $1,774,900, including $1,415,000 cash.

Net income for the seven months ended Nov. 30, 1942, was $301,000, said the statement prepared by Main & Co., New York accountants.

Philip Murray is president of both the CIO and USWA, which on May 22, 1942, succeeded the original Steel Workers Organizing committee formed in June, 1936.

CIO Cancels $960,000 Note.

Details disclosed included a statement that the union's assets increased $960,000 by cancellation of promisory notes held by the parent CIO for advances, most of them during the "little steel" strike of 1937. The CIO obtained the money from the United Mine Workers, Ladies' Garment Workers, United Auto Workers, and other member unions. John L. Lewis withdrew the miners from the CIO during a dispute about some of this money, which he said had been "loaned" and should be repaid.

Initiation fees for the seven months, fixed at $3 each but often waived during membership campaigns, yielded $394,000, of which $142,280 was returned to locals. Dues amounted to $3,150,000, of which $804,800 was returned to locals.

Calumet Area Pays Most.

The largest amount of dues collected from the 39 districts was $385,224 from district 31 embracing the Calumet, Ind., area. District 31 also paid the largest amount of initiation fees, $35,063.

Publication of "Steel Labor" cost $70,999, and travel expenses of the international officers amounted to $42,700. An office building in Washington, D. C., was purchased for $300,000.

Store Winner Over OPA in Ceiling Suit

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 [Special].—Asserting that the Hecht company, large Washington department store, had mad every effort to comply with price ceiling regulations, Federal District Judge F. Dickinson Letts today dismissed a suit filed by the office of price administration to enjoin the store from price violations.

The action, in which OPA charged "hundreds" of violations by the store, was regarded as a test of OPA enforcement powers. The judge in his opinion said that violations had occurred, but that he could not find the defendant was chargeable with bad faith.

The company, he said, did a "remarkable" job of complying with the multitudinous regulations and amendments issued by OPA. He said he saw no reason to "apprehend" future violations by the store.

RETAILERS HAIL DECISION.

The Illinois Federation of Retail Associations said yesterday that the decision in the Hecht company case bolstered merchants' complaints that price regulations were too complex. It said the decision may open the way to revisions.

"The ruling will give a boost to the morale of the harassed merchants," J. T. Meek, executive secretary of the association, said. "It means full agreement with the contention of the thoroly coöperative retailing industry that the price controls are too complex to understand.

Hope for Simplification.

"We believe this decision points the way to real simplification of price control, thru use of a percentage markup by the retailer on the basis of individual store experience, for which we have long contended."

Meek said that if controls were not simplified the courts will become cluttered with cases involving innocent violation of intricate pricing formulas.

He said that as a result of yesterday's decision. "Those who have shuddered at the legal power of OPA to enforce a most unworkable system can breathe easier, go about the business of complying to the best of their ability, and get ahead with the major job of helping to win the war."

LATE RAIL RALLY CUSHIONS LOSS IN STOCK PRICES

New York, Feb. 19 (AP).—A late rally in rails helped cushion a moderate decline in the stock market today.

The market opened by extending yesterday's reaction, attributed mainly to technical factors arising from the long advance and the Tunisian war news. Buying in the final hour cut or canceled losses of fractions to a point here and there, but declines predominated at the close.

Aiding sentiment was the sale of a stock exchange seat for $34,000, up $2,000 to a peak since August, 1941.

CHICAGO LIST DIPS AGAIN.

Chicago Stock exchange prices declined again yesterday on turnover of 32,000 shares. Volume leaders were Chicago corporation, Williams Oil-O-Matic, Commonwealth Edison, Midland United A preferred, and Yates-American Machine. In the final half hour American Telephone and Telegraph and United States Rubber were up ⅛ and General Foods was down ¼ from the New York close.

BOND PRICES LOWER.

New York, Feb. 19 (AP).—The bond market again moved slightly lower today, but resistance increased, especially among industrials and rails. Losses in most cases were held to fractions.

HOGS GENERALLY 10 CENTS HIGHER AS SUPPLY FALLS

The smallest arrivals of hogs on a Friday since early last November caused a general price rise of 10 cents a hundred pounds in the stock yards yesterday, with some sales 15 cents higher on lively late trading.

Weakness prevailed in most classes of beef animals, with some types 15 to 25 cents lower. A new 14 year February peak of $16.60 was established in the lamb market, 10 cents higher than Thursday. Most lambs were steady.

Fansteel Subsidiary Gets $60,000 Added U. S. Grant

Tantalum Defense corporation, subsidiary of the Fansteel Metallurgical corporation, has received an authorization from the Defense Plant corporation for additional plant facilities costing $60,000, bringing the company's total authorization to approximately $4,225,000, the DPC announced yesterday.

RETAILERS USE THEIR WITS IN SURVIVAL FIGHT

Some Change Lines of Merchandise.

Many midwestern retailers whose regular lines are affected by war time scarcities are "holding on" tenaciously in the face of difficulties that threaten to put them out of business, Walter A. Foy, consultant to the Chicago regional office of the department of commerce, reported yesterday. He said they are showing much ingenuity in adjusting operations to avoid complete abandonment of their stores.

In numerous cases, Foy said, dealers in goods available only in small quantities, if at all, have staved off financial disaster by spreading into other lines of merchandising, and in some instances these new lines have entirely or mostly replaced the old.

From Appliances to Furniture.

One large electric appliance store "saw what was coming" and added a small line of furniture long before the full impact of war reached the appliance industry. As supplies of appliances became scarcer, Foy said, the company added to its furniture lines, until now it is entirely a furniture store, with sales as large as its appliance business formerly was. Recently the company added home insulation to its line, and has found a good demand for it, according to Foy.

Following are some of the other examples given in the regional study to indicate how business owners have switched to new lines or have otherwise shown tenacity in keeping their business going:

A candy shop began displaying dolls, children's books, and other novelties. This type of business has increased so that no candy at all is on display, with the exception of a few packed boxes. Sales are as large as a year ago, even with less candy to sell.

Saves Brother's Business.

One young woman whose husband and brother are both in the war, gave up her war plant job to carry on her brother's grocery store in a Chicago neighborhood. She is doing this to preserve the business for her brother's return to civilian life.

Some hardware dealers are turning to repair work as a new source of income.

Some electric appliance dealers are attempting to stay in business by buying up the stock of other dealers who are going out of business, not only in the Chicago area, but elsewhere. Others are searching out used electric appliances in the basements and attics of householders. This plan, which may seem to have considerable merit, has not worked out so well in some localities. It is very difficult and costly to find and collect such second hand electric appliances.

In a Chicago suburb an automobile dealer has converted to the manufacture of war tools and is risking his own and borrowed capital in the venture. Similar conversions by other auto dealers have been reported.

4,000 BUTCHERS THREATEN STRIKE OVER OPA CURBS

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP). — Four thousand Cincinnati butchers will lay down their knives and cleavers and hunt for jobs in war plants, a meat cutter's union spokesman said today, unless something is done about the illegal market in meat.

"Call it a strike if you will, we call it a holiday against the office of price administration, not against the packers, for whom we work," Frank Kracik of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen [AFL] told the house small business committee.

He complained that because of OPA rulings and orders, the packers cannot get enough meat to work the butchers more than 28 to 30 hours a week.

75,000 Ton Rubber Output by Brazil in 1944 'Possible'

RIO DE JANEIRO, Feb. 19 (AP).—A government news agency dispatch from Fort Alesa today quoted Economic Coördinator Joao Alberto Lins de Barros as forecasting production of possibly 75,000 tons of Brazilian crude rubber in 1944. This was the highest estimate made since Brazil, with the aid of the United States, began to stimulate production last year. Lins de Barros said production in 1942 was 20,000 tons and this year would reach 45,000 tons, a new record.

First Oil Shipped East by Rail from Texas-Illinois Pipe Line

Norris City, Ill., Feb. 19 (AP).—A train of tank cars pulled out tonight for the Atlantic seaboard with the first oil brought to Illinois from Texas thru "big inch," the world's largest oil pipe line.

Ceremonies were held to commemorate the record breaking job—a 24 inch line snaking more than 500 miles from the southwest to the midwest in less than six months, crossing eight major rivers and numerous small streams. Construction was authorized because the war caused critical oil shortages on the east coast.

Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum administrator for war, however, asserted the line would supply only "the most essential needs of civilian consumption."

Shipments to Increase.

Tonight's shipment totaled 20,000 barrels. Within a few days this amount will be doubled. Oil is flowing thru the line at the rate of 50,000 barrels a day, and is expected to reach a daily maximum of 300,000 barrels within six to eight weeks. In the line at all times will be 1,525,000 barrels of oil.

Laying of the pipe was done by seven contractors, who were given citations today from Petroleum Administrator Harold Ickes. A citation also was given to W. Alton Jones, president of War Emergency Pipelines, Inc., formed to handle the construction.

Ickes broadcast a message from Washington to the dedication ceremony.

Work was started Aug. 3 and might have been finished by the end of the year had it not been for flood waters of the Mississippi which in December tore out 600 feet of pipe during the crossing and delayed completion until Jan. 21.

Oil first was pumped into the line New Year's eve in Texas and reached Norris City storage tanks Feb. 13. An 857 mile extension to the east coast now is under construction with completion scheduled for June 1.

In addition to tank car shipments from this temporary terminus, some oil will flow thru a new 14 inch line from Norris City to Enfield—five miles away—to connect with the Ohio Oil company pipe line system to Pennsylvania.

Boost Oil Quota

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19 (AP).—Petroleum Administrator Harold L. Ickes today announced state petroleum production quotas for March totaling 4,193,800 barrels daily, an increase of 31,500 barrels a day over the February rate. The Illinois rate was cut to 262,300 barrels daily from 272,200 in February.

Curbs, Costs Cut Continental Can Earnings

"Numerous governmental restrictions" controling sales volume and prices directly affected earnings of Continental Can Company, Inc., New York, and combined with steadily rising costs to reduce both sales and net income in 1942, President Carle C. Conway said yesterday in his annual report.

Sales fell off 10 per cent to $123,119,130. Net income slumped to $5,052,955, after taxes, charges, and a reserve of $800,000 for contingencies, from $7,469,683 in 1941. Earnings per common share, after preferred dividend requirements, were $1.77 and $2.63, respectively. Earnings before income and excess profits taxes and contingency reserve were $11,852,955, against $12,194,296 in 1941.

Ordnance Making Begun.

Conway told stockholders that Concan Ordnance company, wholly owned subsidiary organized last March, recently started operation of a large ordnance plant for the government under a management contract.

Last year's net income of the Caterpillar Tractor company, Peoria, Ill., decreased to $7,002,449, or $3.72 a common share, from $7,784,483, or $4.13 a share, in 1941. The company provided $15,311,965 for federal income taxes, against $9,190,726 in 1941.

Coal Company Earns Less.

United Electric Coal companies, Chicago, reported lower profits in the quarter and six months ended Jan. 31. Net income for the quarter was $165,937, or 32 cents a common share, against $227,523, or 43 cents a share, a year ago. In the six months ended Jan. 31 profits declined to $324,025, or 62 cents a share, from $457,919, or 88 cents a share, a year ago.

Net income of Harris, Hall & Co., Chicago securities firm, fell to $13,455, or 19 cents a share, in the year ended Dec. 31, from $84,805, or $1.18 a share, the preceding year. President Edward B. Hall said that in 1942 all preferred stock was reacquired and is now held in the treasury, together with 2,060 shares of common purchased during the year.

PULLMAN SEEKS WRIT TO PROTECT INCREASED FARE

Suit for an injunction to restrain the Illinois commerce commission from interfering with a proposed 10 per cent increase in fares which is to become effective Tuesday was filed in Superior court yesterday in behalf of the Pullman company.

Despite approval of the increase by the interstate commerce commission, the suit said, the state body has ordered it canceled as an "arbitrary, unreasonable, and unlawful" action. Pullman said the state order has the effect of denying establishment of reasonable rates and would require application of rates which are confiscatory.

The company also said the increase is sought owing to wage increases given employés.

LITCHFIELD UNIT OF AM. RADIATOR SHUT BY STRIKE

Litchfield, Ill., Feb. 19 [Special].—Several hundred employés of the Litchfield plant of American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation were on strike today in protest against work assignment by the management which, according to AFL union officials said is a violation of certain seniority provisions of their work contract.

The walkout, which was orderly, was the second strike since Feb. 1.

'LITTLE STEEL' WAGE FORMULA URGED FOR ALL

Morse of WLB Asks Labor 'Sacrifice.'

The so-called "Little Steel" formula restricting wage increases to 15 per cent above Jan. 1, 1941, levels should stand in effect for all industry, Wayne L. Morse, a public representative on the war labor board, said yesterday at the first official meeting of the Chicago area regional board in Hotel Sherman.

Wayne L. Morse.

Morse asserted the 15 per cent increase restriction should hold, despite the fact that living costs since Jan. 1, 1941, have risen 22 per cent. He said labor should be called upon to accept the sacrifice of assuming the 7 per cent difference.

Adjustment May Be Necessary.

"However," he added, "if those government agencies responsible for maintaining ceilings over prices should fail, then the wage formula would have to be adjusted."

Morse's statement was considered particularly significant because he is a leading public spokesman of WLB and in recent board rulings the public and employer members have been voting together.

Morse's views were challenged immediately by Richard Frankensteen, vice president of the United Automobile Workers [CIO] and a labor member of the national board. Frankensteen said that, tho labor is in favor of wage stabilization, he was opposed to the "Little Steel" formula of wage increase restriction.

"Labor is afraid of the consequences of inflation more than any other group," he said. "The war labor board has done an excellent job in holding wages under control, but the discrepancy between wages and prices is widening. The 'Little Steel' formula does not reflect actual conditions. We must have over-all price control, including control of farm products."

Explain Local Jurisdiction.

Robert K. Burns, chairman of the regional board, explained that the local board would have jurisdiction of wage disputes and settlements in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota. He said that 13 cases had been certified to the group and that it would start work on them next week.

Burns said the board would be divided into panels, each group consisting of one public representative, a labor representative, and an employer representative. The regional board will pass on the panel findings and the WLB will act as an appeal agency.

Other members of the national board attending the meeting included Horace B. Horton, treasurer of the Chicago Bridge and Iron Works; George Batt, president of Dugan Brothers, Newark, N. J.; George W. Taylor, vice chairman of the national board, and Louis Lopez, international representative of the pressman's union [AFL].

DEATHLESS DEER
By Neysa McMein and Alicia Patterson
HERE IS MY RING. IF EVER YOU SHOULD NEED ME, SEND IT BACK BY MY FAITHFUL HORUS AND I WILL COME TO YOU, PARA
I LEAVE YOU HERE, HORUS, TO GUARD OUR FRIEND. FLY TO ME QUICKLY IF HE COMES TO GRIEF
*OYA!
*I GET IT
FAREWELL, MY PARA. MAY THE GODS GO WITH YOU
NOW PARA WILL BE SAFE AND ON HIS WAY TO SYRIA. AT LEAST, I WOUNDED ONLY HIS HEART
TY, THE HIGH PRIEST, HAS OTHER PLANS
SO LONG AS PARA LIVES, HE WILL BE A THREAT TO EGYPT, BUT THE PRINCESS MUST NEVER KNOW
YOU PRETEND TO GUIDE THE PRISONER, PARA, TO SAFETY, BUT ONCE OUTSIDE THE CITY WALLS--
--TAKE HIM TO THE TEMPLE OF THE SACRED CROCODILES AND AWAIT INSTRUCTIONS FROM ME
WHILE PRETENDING TO BEFRIEND PARA, TY'S HENCHMEN LEAD HIM TO THE TEMPLE OF THE CROCODILES
IT IS STRANGE. I THOUGHT THE WAY TO SYRIA LED THROUGH THE OTHER GATE
BUT THIS IS THE TEMPLE OF THE CROCODILES! WHY ARE WE HERE?
YOU WILL KNOW SOON ENOUGH, PARA
COME AND I WILL SHOW YOU THE PRETTY THINGS
PARA IS NOW A PRISONER IN THE TEMPLE OF THE CROCODILES
MY PLAYFUL PETS HAVE JUST DINED ON A PLUMP SERVING GIRL AND I DO NOT WISH TO FORCE THEIR APPETITES
LET DOWN THE PLANK. WE WILL LEAVE THIS DOG ON THE ISLAND. WHEN THE CROCODILES ARE HUNGRY, THEY WILL CLIMB UP AND GET HIM
WE WILL LEAVE. HE CAN NEVER ESCAPE NOW
"HERE IS MY RING. IF EVER YOU SHOULD NEED ME SEND IT BACK BY MY FAITHFUL HORUS AND I WILL COME TO YOU"
BUT HOW SHALL HE LET HER KNOW WHERE HE IS?
I HAVE IT! I WILL TRACE THE HEAD OF A CROCODILE ON THIS FLAT STONE WITH MY BLOOD AND YOU WILL TAKE IT TO HER
*AIYU
*I GO
HORUS FLIES TO WARN DEER OF PARA'S TERRIBLE PLIGHT
A GIANT EAGLE SWEEPS OUT OF THE SKY TO ATTACK HORUS
HORUS TRIES VAINLY TO DODGE THE VICIOUS TALONS OF THE EAGLE
AS THE DESPERATE FALCON TURNS TO FIGHT, HE IS FORCED TO DROP THE RING AND THE STONE WHICH CARRY PARA'S MESSAGE TO DEER

BUTTER-NUT BREAD ANSWERED THIS QUESTION

"Some Men are Different"...OR ARE THEY?

1. "The other day my neighbor came over in tears, telling how her husband, who works at the same plant as mine, complains about the sandwiches she makes for his lunch—and that she just couldn't please him."

2. "I invited her in, and gave her a slice of Butter-Nut Bread, and told her that was what I used for my husband's sandwiches. She thought it had a wonderful flavor, but said maybe men were different—that her husband must be more difficult than most."

3. "Two days later, this young neighbor brought me a lovely plant—she said it was for changing her husband's complaints to praises for the lunches she puts up for him. Men aren't so different after all—most of them like the flavor of Butter-Nut Bread."

4. "I told my husband about it and he said that men consider bread the mainstay to any meal, whether on the table or in a lunch box. He also made this statement, 'Bread has to be good like Butter-Nut to make the rest of the food taste right, believe me.'"

Everyone is happier when eating something that tastes good, and most all prefer the flavor of Butter-Nut Bread, once they try it. Of course, this fine bread is enriched with B-Vitamins and Iron, and you'll notice the texture is creamy smooth—the crust so tender and golden. Makes the best-ever toast, too. Taste it and know.

Tut, Tut! Nothing but Butter-Nut Bread
